INTRODUCTION

This volume combines genealogical, biographical, historical and documentary information relating to the Spragues and their associates. It is subdivided into the Spragues of Dorsetshire in Old England and of Malden in New England. It is issued, as the outgrowth of researches commenced in 1913 under the direction of Emeline Winship Sprague, to preserve these records for future generations and to make them accessible to those who may care when all who are now living shall have joined the silent majority.

"Down the Naumkeag footpath came the Spragues" in 1629, over the happy hunting ground of Nanepashemet (The New Moon) which was later named for "one of the two ancientest towns in the county of Essex," England (see Morant's History and Antiquities of the County of Essex, England, I: 327). Its Saxon form Maeldune meaning Cross-hill was most appropriately transferred by Joseph Hills and his associates to the Cross-hill town of Massachusetts Bay in New England in 1649.

Here on Mystic Side dwelt the Spragues from the earliest times, ever identified with the civil, military and religious interests of the ancient town and modern city, with the ancient colony and the grand old Commonwealth of Massachusetts.

Here may the name ever continue to stand for all that is best in church and state.

EXPLANATION

In this volume whenever a place is mentioned and no state is named, it is to be understood that the place is in Massachusetts. Other states are indicated by their abbreviations.

THE SPRAGUES IN DORSETSHIRE OLD ENGLAND

ORIGIN OF ENGLISH SURNAMES

English surnames have been derived mainly from seven sources, viz. (1) from animals, as Fox, Lyon and Lamb; (2) from offices, as Sargent, Bishop and Priest; (3) from occupations, as John, the smith, later becoming with more frequent use John Smith, and John, the cooper, finally becoming John Cooper; (4) from the Welsh forms, as John ap (child of) Rice giving us John Price and John ap Owen becoming John Bowen; (5) from the Norman-Saxon forms, as Roger fils (son of) Gilbert became, in course of time, Roger Fitz Gilbert and John the son of William becoming John Williamson: (6) from place names, as William de Warren became William Warren, Roger de Montgomerie was contracted into Roger Montgomery, while William at-the-wood became William Atwood or William Wood and John at-thehill gave us John Hill; and (7) from personal characteristics, as Long, Short, and Green.

The last mentioned source has furnished a great variety of these names, many of which are still found in New England after the lapse of two centuries. Among these may be listed a dozen of the common surnames, as Best, Bigg, Gross, Tallman, Lowe, Little, Small, White, Gray, Brown, Black, Clement, Savage, Gay, Grave, Sweet, Rich, Goode, Meane, Poor, Hardy, Strong, Swift and Wilde.

The Norman Conquest brought many persons into England with foreign names and with the coming of the Normans in 1066 commenced the use of English surnames. These names were derived from the same sources in their native tongue. By constant use from time immemorial these surnames became Anglicized. In some cases the changes were slight, in others radical, hiding the origin completely.

Whether we go back to the Normans, the Danes or the Saxons, we find that they blended their original racial characteristics into the English and that each had a common origin, viz. Gothic. From the shores of the Baltic they migrated to Scandinavia, to Jutland, to Sweden and Norway, to Denmark, to Normandy and to Britain.

These peoples variously called Scandinavians, Hollanders, Schleswig-Holsteiners, Dutch and Hanoverians cannot be styled Germans. In origin they were all Gothic. Thirty millions of the descendants of Saxon, Dane and Norman are now living within the dominions of Great Britain. (The Norman People, 1874, pp. 114 to 123.) They are the people who have won British achievement in later centuries.

The Teutonic race was undoubtedly of the same origin as the Gothic and Scandinavian. (Ibid., 117.) It consisted of a confederation of tribes under the ancient name of "Teutones"—a term which occurs in the fourth century B. C. Later the confederation was designated as Franks and in later times as Teutones or Dutch. Their language is a harsh, guttural dialect of the original Gothic.

They moved westward from Poland, Brandenburgh, Mecklenburgh, Holstein, Schleswig, Hanover, Westphalia, Brunswick, Oldenburgh, Holland and Flanders. From these countries sprang the Goths that overthrew the Roman Empire and became the Anglo-Saxons of ancient Britain. With them they carried many Gothic names to Britain in the fifth century A. D.

ORIGIN OF THE SURNAME SPRAGUE

The surname Sprague is a foreign name Anglicized, its ancient form being Sprak or Sprake. In the Subsidy Roll for the county of Somerset appears the name William Sprak in the year 1327. (Kirby's Quest, 253.) The Subsidy for 1523, for the county of Dorset, mentions seven Sprakes and two Sprackes and the Subsidy for 1545 names five Sprakes. The Subsidy for 1558/9 first mentions The parish register of Fordthe form Sprague. ington in Dorsetshire shows that the parish clerk spelled the name Sprage in 1615 and 1623 and Sprague from 1624 to 1630 and Sprake in 1631 and 1633. Other variation found in the county of Dorset are Sprak in 1578, Sprage in 1511 and Sprak in the borough of Dorchester in 1421. This later gives the name of Philip Sprak, clerk (i. e. clergyman), of the borough of Dorchester, Dorsetshire in 1421. The parish registers of Sturminster Marshall, county of Dorset, show Sprage in 1582, Spage in 1585/6, Spragge in 1604 and Spradge in 1608. In the parish of Thorncombe, Dorsetshire, the surname invariably appears as Sprake from 1565 to 1642. In the Beaminster register in 1593 the name appears as Sprakes. In the Powerstock register the name appears as Spragge in 1600, and in the Netherbury register it appears as Spraige in 1617.

The variants of Sprague found in ancient documents are Spag, Spage, Sprack, Spracke, Spradge, Spragg, Spragge, Spragge, Spraige, Sprak, Sprake, Sprakes, Spraug, Sprauge and Spreage. The only one which is in use at the present time is Sprake. Sprague is the commonly accepted form in use in the twentieth century, especially in America.

These are all of the forms of the name that have been found in the literature of the subject.

The surname is restricted and rare in the parish registers of England between 1558 and 1650. Many parishes do not contain the name at all. The name is more numerous in the counties of Dorset and Somerset than elsewhere. Guppy in his Homes of Family Names published in 1890 estimates that in Dorsetshire of every 10,000 persons 31 are named Sprake or Sprague. There were so few in other counties that he did not attempt to estimate the number.

As to the origin and original meaning of the name five authors have written of it, viz. Arthur, Barber, Bardsley, Ferguson and Harrison. Arthur's work is known as The Entymological Dictionary of Family and Christian Names published in 1857.

Ferguson's Surnames as a Science was published in 1883. Bardsley's Dictionary of English and Welsh Surnames, 1901; Barber's British Family Names, 1903, and Harrison's Surnames of the United Kingdom, 1918. Mark Antony Lower in his Dictionary of Family Names of the United Kingdom, 1860, does not refer to this surname.

The five are in substantial agreement that Sprack, Spragg, Sprague, Sprak and Sprake are different forms of the same name and have a common origin.

Arthur says the surname is derived from the Dutch word Spraak; Barber derives the name from the Anglo-Saxon Sperauc (sparrow-hawk), or spraeca (speaker), or Norse sprakr (sprightly, active); Ferguson makes Sprack, Sprague, Spark and Sprigg come from the Old Norse spraekr, meaning smart or active; Bardsley inclines to the idea that these surnames are nick-names for "the spragg"—the quick, the nimble, the lively, the active. Harrison calls Spragg, Sprague and Sprake variants of Sprack, a Scandinavian word meaning lively, quick, brisk, alert. He asserts that Sprack was anciently derived from the Old Norse or Icelandic word spraek-r or spark-r, meaning sprightly.

Whichever interpretation we incline to accept the surname harks back to a pleasant personal characteristic, possessed by some person whose active personal trait bestowed upon his descendants a pleasing and prepossessing patronymic.

Whoever knows many Spragues today doubtless appreciates that liveliness, vivacity, spryness, are still most notable family traits in not a few members of the family.

THEIR ENGLISH HOME

Upway is a small village lying as its name implies in the uplands of the river Wey. It is situated at the foot of a steep hill called Ridgway Hill where the river rises. An ancient writer said, "The river Way riseth not four miles above Waymouth at Upway in the side of a great hill." This hill contains many barrows in sight of an ancient Roman road called Via Iceniana.

Rural communities in England change slowly, and Upway, with its church, its graveyard and its rambling street lined with picturesque stone cottages nestling among their flowering gardens below the wide bare downs that undulate beyond, doubtless remains in all essentials much the same as it was three centuries ago when the Spragues played in its street. Here stood until recent years Edward Sprague's fulling-mill towering picturesquely three stories high, near the adjacent low gambrel-roofed cottage where possibly his children were born. The mill was an ancient landmark in the village.

The parish is the source of the river Wey with which is connected a beautiful fountain from one of the largest springs to be found in England. The fountain is at the foot of Windbatch Hill and was anciently known as Sprague's Wishing

SPRAGUE'S WISHING WELL

Upway, England
(Kindness of Walter Kendall Watkins of Malden)

Well and more recently as the Wishing Well of Upway.

At the east end of the parish, stands the parish church, a little east of the manor house. It consists of an embattled, ivy-mantled square tower, crowned with pinnacles, containing four bells and a clock. It is of ancient Gothic architecture consisting of chancel, nave, and aisles, separated by piers and pointed arches. In the chancel is a stained window, the gift of the late George Gould of Fleet House. The church is dedicated to Saint Lawrence and the church-yard holds the remains of the progenitor of all of the name who ever lived in Charlestown and Malden in New England.

The parish sometimes appears to have been included in Uggscombe Hundred and at other times in Culliford Tree Hundred. The Subsidy Rolls for the years 1545, 1558/9, 1592/3, 1599, 1609/10 and 1628, contain no return of those then taxed in that parish. There are no Bishop's Transcripts of the early parish registers extant and the registers themselves do not commence until the year 1654—many years too late to assist in tracing the ancestry of Edward Sprague.

It is apparent that Edward Sprague of Upway was born as early as 1576. His parents must have been born near 1550. The Subsidy Rolls show that in 1545 there were living in the Tithing of Phillyholme in Uggscombe Hundred five men of this surname. They were Nicholas Sprak, William Sprake, Sr., William Sprake, Jr., Robert Sprake and John Sprake, Jr.

Phillyholme, a tything in the parish of Hawk-church, Uggscombe Hundred, is in the Bridport Division of Dorsetshire. The parish registers of Hawkchurch do not commence till 1663. The marriages are published in the Marriages of Dorsetshire Parish Registers, Vol. 2: 73. There is the marriage of one John Sprake in 1676, of Richard Sprake in 1682, and of one Mary Sprake in 1687. These facts indicate that a branch of this family were residing in Hawkchurch parish from 1545 to 1687.

The Subsidy Rolls make it apparent that one Nicholas Sprague was taxed in the same parish in 1558/9 and that Thomas Spacke was likewise assessed in that parish in 1592/3.

The list of wills proved in the Prerogative Court of Canterbury indicates that John Sprake died in this parish in 1561, that Nicholas Sprake died there in 1567 and that Richard Sprake died there in 1639. Were these related in any degree to Edward Sprague of Upway?

A COAT OF ARMS

In the Ralph Sprague Genealogy published in 1913 there appears on page 12, what purports to be the Sprague Coat of Arms. It is there claimed that the arms reproduced in colors were granted to Sir Hugh Sprague, Esq., of Gloucestershire, England, in the year 1580, by Sir William C. Clarencieux.

The Herald's College has no record of the abovesaid arms. The reproduction in the Genealogy is from the work of one John Coles, "Heraldic Artist" of Boston (1775 to 1813) who is known in the present day as a famous faker.

Burke's General Armory, however, gives a coat of arms to the name Spragg. It is described as "Or, three rose leaves in pale vert between two palets azure a chief gules. Crest: A sword in pale proper on the point thereof, suspended, a crown of olive or."

The grant of arms to Sir Edward Spragge, Knt., by Sir E. Walker, garter, was made 30 Apr., 1668. His arms were: "Gules a fess chequy or and azure between three fleurs-de-lis of the second. Crest:—From a naval coronet or, a demi-lion double queued gules, crowned of the first." (The Genealogist, vol. 26, p. 248.) These are undoubtedly authentic but the persons to whom they were granted were not the ancestors of the three sons of Edward Sprague who came to New England.

For this period there are five Subsidies. These assessments were the 1st, 2nd, 3d, 4th and 5th Subsidies granted in the reign of Charles I. The first was granted in 3d of Charles I (1627), the second was granted the same year, and likewise the third; the fourth Subsidy was taken 15 Dec., 1628, and the fifth Subsidy was granted between 27 Mar., 1629, and 26 Mar., 1630. In each case the roll for the parish of Upway is not to be found in the Subsidy. The Subsidy for Fordington is given but it does not contain the name of Sprague.

We know from the parish register that Ralph Sprague lived in Fordington in 1623, 1624 and 1625. We do not know where he lived from 1626 to 1629.

The Subsidies do not contain the names of all males over 21 years as does a general tax list in the United States.

power and estate the Reformed Protestant Religion of the Church of England.

The Protestation Returns for the county of Dorset have been printed. Excepting the boroughs of Dorchester, Bridport and Lyme it is considered to be a fairly complete list of all males over eighteen years of those who took the oath.

The following are all of the surname Sprague living in the Dorchester Division of the county in 1641 or 1642, with the parish in which they resided:

William Spraker took the oath in the parish of Chilfrome.

William Sprage took the oath in the parish of Fordington and resided in Mille Strete.

George Sprake, John Sprake and Nicholas Sprake each took the oath in the parish of Hawkehurch.

Willy[am] Sprage took the oath in the parish of Osmington. Edward Spragge took the oath in the parish of Upway.

Administration on Estate of Geoffrey Sprake of Lyme Regis.

24 July, 1590, commission was issued to Joan Sprake, relict of Geoffrey Sprake, late of Lyme Regis, county of Dorset, intestate deceased, to administer the goods, etc., of the deceased. (Peculiar Court of the Dean of Sarum, Reg. 5: f. 84.)

The Baptisms in the parish of Lyme Regis begin 1542, the Marriages in 1653 and the Burials in 1653. The parish register of Baptisms has not been searched for Spragues.

Administration of the Estate of Robert Sprake of Chardstock.

31 July, 1597, commission was issued to Dorothy Sprake, relict of Robert Sprake, late of Chardstock, deceased, to administer the goods, &c. of the said deceased. Inventory £3: 0: 2. (Peculiar Court of the Dean of Sarum, Reg. 6: f. 161.)

The Registers of the parish of Chardstock, Dorset, begin 1597. They have not been searched for this volume.

WILL OF THOMAS SPRAKE OF BEAMINSTER, 1622.

Thomas Sprake of Beaminster, county of Dorset, shoemaker, made his will, 12 Dec., 1622, and it was proved by his executrix, 28 May, 1623. To his unborn child he gave £20 and the residue to his wife (not named) and she to be executrix. Witnesses: William Tucker, Frances Tucker, and Richard Newman his mark. (Peculiar Court of the Dean of Sarum, Reg. 10: f. 157.)

The Bishop's Transcripts of the parish of Beaminster, county of Dorset, begin in 1585. The marriages have been published in Dorset Parish Register Marriages, 3: 1 to 12. From that record the following has been obtained:

Thomas Sprake and Alice Hallet, m. 25 May, 1606. Thomas Sprake and Alice Champe, m. 20 June, 1621.

The executrix of the above will was evidently Alice (Champe) Sprake.

Administration on the estate of Thomas Edmonds of Lyme Regis, county of Dorset, was granted to Thomas Sprake and Joane Sprake alias Edmonds, his wife, sister of the deceased, 12 June, 1646. (Somerset and Dorset Notes and Queries, 3: 319.)

Administration on the estate of Giles Sprake of Whitchurch, county of Dorset, was granted to his brother John Sprake, 25 Mar., 1647. (Ibid., 4: 59.)

FORDINGTON IN THE BOROUGH OF DORCHESTER

Fordington, deriving its name from the ford over the river Frome, is a parish in the Union of Dorchester, Dorchester Division within the borough of Dorchester. The ancient parish church is a cruciform structure, partly of Norman and partly of English architecture. (Lewis's Topographical Dictionary of England, 2: 222.)

The parish church of Fordington was dedicated to St. George in 1405 (Dean Chandler's Register) and was anciently called the church of St. George in Dorchester. It is large and well built, and standing on rising ground, shows itself to much advantage at a great distance. It consists of a chancel, tiled (rebuilt 1750, by Mrs. Pitt, the impropriator), a body, transept or cross aisle and a north aisle to the chancel, all covered with lead and compass-roofed. The tower is 80 feet high, adorned with battlements and pinnacles and contains five bells and a clock.

Little remains of antiquity except the vestiges of a rude loft, near the chancel; and over the porch of the south door, rudely carved in stone the effigies of Saint George on horseback, armed with a lance, in combat; behind him are two figures kneeling, with hands uplifted. On the pulpit is this date 1592.

The Bishop's Transcripts of the ancient parish registers partially exist from 1577, but the parish register dates only from 1704. The living is a vicarage. (Kelly's Directory of Dorsetshire, 1880, p. 873.)

GENEALOGICAL

SPRAGUE

Tristram Sprague. Rev. Richard Grosvenor Bartelot, M. A., vicar of Fordington St. George, Dorchester, and editor of Notes and Queries for Somerset and Dorset, has furnished a pedigree of the Spragues of Fordington St. George.* According to this pedigree, Edward Sprague of Upway was the son of Tristram Sprague, a fuller, of Fordington St. George who married in the parish of Puddletown (adjoining Fordington St. George) 26 June, 1575, Elizabeth Colt. The pedigree shows that of this union there were two sons, Edward who removed to Upway and William.

WILLIAM¹ SPRAGUE (Tristram) married at Ower-moigne, Dorsetshire, 15 June, 1607, MARGARET JAGGARD. To them was born, 1614, Tristram² Sprague. This last named Tristram was also a fuller and called himself 74 on 12 Apr., 1688. (Chancery record.) He resided in the parish of Osmington, Dorsetshire, and was buried 15 Apr., 1694.

1 Edward Sprague of Upway, county of Dorset, England, was undoubtedly born near 1576 and died at Upway, near 6 June, 1614. He married Christian ——, who married (2) John Corbin of Upway. Probably she and certainly John Corbin were living at Upway, 25 Mar., 1651, apparently aged. John Corbin was an overseer of the parish church in Upway in 1641 and 1642. (Dorset Protestation Returns, 150.) Edward Sprague was by occupation a fuller and his fulling mill was a landmark in Upway for more than two and one half centuries.

Possibly Christian, the wife of Edward Sprague and of John Corbin, both of Upway, was a sister to John Holland of Tincleton, county of Dorset, or to his wife.

Children, born probably at Upway:

- i. Alice,² eldest daughter, b. near 1597; m. at Fordington, one mile east of Dorchester, 5 June, 1615, Richard Eames. Administration on the estate of Richard Eames, late of Frampton, was granted to his widow Alice, 3 May, 1634. (P. P. C.) She was living at Pomberry Mills, near Dorchester, 8 Nov., 1638. (Dorsetshire Marriages, 4: 133, and Lechford's Note-Book, 36, 38.) See Eames page 35.
- 2 ii. Ralph, eldest son, b. near 1599 (æ. 29, 20 June, 1628.)*
- 2a iii. Edward, second son, b. near 1601 (æ. 32, 15 Dec., 1633).*

and perfect in mind, thanks be given unto Almighty God, do ordain and appoint this my last will and testament to be made in manner and form following, That is to say first of all I do bequeath my soul to Almighty God my saviour and redeemer, and my body to be buried within the churchyard.

As for such temporal goods as God hath blessed me withall, I give and bequeath as hereafter follows: viz. I give unto the parish Church of Upway ten shillings. Item — I give unto the poor of the said parish of Upway ten shillings. Item - I give unto Ralph Sprague my eldest son one of the oldest pair of sheares in my shop and one lesser pair called the quarrell. Item - I give and bequeath unto my oldest daughter Alice Sprague fifty pounds, to be paid within one year after my decease. Item - I give and bequeath unto Edward Sprague my second son, two pair of shears and twenty pounds to be paid likewise within one year after my decease. Item - I give and bequeath unto Richard Sprague my third son twenty pounds to be paid when he shall be one and twenty years of age. Item - I give and bequeath unto Christopher Sprague my fourth son twenty pounds to be paid when he shall be of the age of one and twenty yeares. Item - I give and bequeath unto William Sprague my youngest son twenty pounds to be paid when he shall be of the age of one and twenty yeares. All the rest of my goods moveable and unmoveable I give and bequeath unto Christian Sprague my wife whom I do make my whole executrix of this my last will and testament.

Memorandũ, that if Richard Sprague, Christopher Sprague or William Sprague shall happen to die either of them before they shall be of the age of one and twenty years, that his legacy to be divided between the other two, or if two of them shall happen to die before they shall be of the age of one and twenty yeares, that then their legacies to remain to the other then living.

Finally, I do appoint Henry Samweys and Willa Bryar overseers of this my Will and Testament, in the presence of those whose names are underwritten.

John Bishoppe John Taylor his mark.

Memorandu: that whereas the living of the aforesaid Edward Sprague doth fall unto his son Ralph Sprague after his decease, the said Ralph doth upon his father's request promise that his mother Christian Sprague shall quietly enjoy the said living until he shall be one and twenty years of age.

Across the back of the will is written, "Made in Dorset county, England, and proved before the Arch Bishop of England, 13 Oct. 1614." (P. P. C. Lawe, 104. Printed in the Somerset and Dorset Notes and Queries, 3: 110, and in Water's Gleanings in England, 1016.)

This inventory taken 6 June, 1614 — over three hundred years ago, illustrates the possessions of an English home at that time. We may reflect for a moment upon the things enumerated, viz.: "Russet cloth, table napkins, silver spoons, pewter vessels, candle sticks, coffers, sword and dagger, frying pans, spit, andrions, pot hooks, brass vessels, fuller's shears, shearbords, fulling mill, iron bar, beams, scales, weights, saddles, horse, kyne, sheep and lambs."

Such was Edward Sprague's property at Upway at his decease.

THE MANOR OF FORDINGTON.

WARREN

The manor of Fordington is one of the ancient manors of Dorsetshire. On 29th of Edward III (1354) Queen Isabel had a grant of a market on Tuesdays and a fair on the eve, day and morrow of St. George (23 April) in her manor of Fordington. On 6 John (1204), the King granted to Robert de novo Burgo eight librates—104 acres —of land in Fordington to be held by him and his heirs as the head of the barony and gave him ten solidates rent here. 14th Henry III (1228) the sheriff for Dorset rendered an account of £7 paid for Fordington and in the same year Henry III granted to Henry filius Nicholai the manor for life. On 28th Edward I (1300) Edmund, earl of Cornwall, held the manor, of the king in chief and the hamlet of Whitwell belonging thereto. After his death the manor and hamlet were allotted to Margaret, relict of John Chantmarle and sister to Gilbert de Clare, earl of Gloucester and On 10th Edward II (1316) Hugh Hereford. Audeleigh and Margaret his wife, sometime widow of Pierce Gaveston, had a grant of this The said Margaret died seized of the manor. premises 16th Edward III (1341). Generation by generation it passed to others. On 13th of Edward III (1338) the manor of Fordington and the hamlet of Whitwell were granted to Edward, another earl of Cornwall, and on 32d of Edward III (1357), Isabella, late Queen of England, the King's mother, held the manor for the term of her life.

On 9 Richard II (1385), it was held by Joan, late Princess of Wales, and her son and heir Thomas Holland, earl of Kent, succeeded.

After 1385 it was frequently granted by the crown to many persons. In the last mentioned year it was granted to John Trevet, Knight, and on 1st of Henry IV (1400) to Baldwyn de Bereford. Later it was possessed by Isabel wife of Hugh Mortimer for life, and 18th Henry VI (1439) was granted to William Stafford for life. On 2d of Edward IV (1461), one Thomas Gill, Jr., late escheator of Dorset, rendered an account of £26 for the rent of Fordington. On 19th of Edward IV (1478) Katharine Arundel died seized of this manor.

Who possessed it during the succeeding ninety-five years does not appear in Hutchins's account of it. On 16th Elizabeth (1573) it was demised to Thomas Warren, he paying £33: 2s.: 1d. and on 20th of Elizabeth (1577) the demesne lands of the manor of Fordington were granted to one Maurice Brown for 21 years. It thus appears that Thomas Warren was possessed of the manor for about four years (1573 to 1577).

The tantalizing thing is, was Thomas Warren who owned the manor in 1573 related to Richard Warren who lived within the limits of the parish of Fordington, 1592 to 1638?

On 8th of James I (1609) the manor and the hamlet of Whitwell were granted to Henry, Prince of Wales and in 1614 to Charles, Prince of Wales. Its title was vested in principality from 1609 to 1773 and perhaps for a longer period.

It is an extensive manor and at the death of Isabella wife of John Kendell in 1406 contained 40 acres. The reeve, an officer chosen by the steward of the manor, collects the lord's rent. Many remarkable Roman antiquities are found hereabouts. Many barrows exist and Roman coins have frequently been ploughed up. hundred skeletons were discovered near the pound in 1747. By the side of one lay a sword blade, two feet and a half long. It was conjectured that they were the remains of persons who fell in the Danish wars or perhaps their resting place had anciently been a part of the churchyard, near which the remains were found. The spirit of commercialism always encroaches upon the burial places of those long since departed.

The borough of Dorchester includes the parish of Fordington St. George where Richard Warren resided. The Borough Records of Dorchester contain releases to one Robert Warren, as follows:

"Owen Baylie, son and heir of William Baylie, late of Dorchester, baker, releases to Robert Warren of Dorchester, innholder, all rights in a messuage in the east-part of a street or lane leading from High East Street to a lane commonly called Durnegate lane, between burgages [tenures in socage] of Peter Goodfellowe on the south and Benet Grey on the north. Warranty dated 21 Feb. 19th of Elizabeth [1577], per Ma: Chubbe. Witnesses on the back: Raffe Pallmer, Robar[t] Hode, dam alj's bussusl (?), alias Sr Dagonet Knight. Signum Robert Earlie.

Testeque me Mattheo Chubbe scriptore." Seal gone. (Municipal Records of the Borough of Dorchester, 378.)

Payments by Matthew Chubbe, one of the towne Stewards, from midsomer 1583 to 1585:

"Michaelmas quarter, 1585, Rec' of Mr. Corbyn and Robt. Warren their haulfe yeeres rent for the mixon [laystall] in the north est part of the west walls, xij d." (Ibid. 480.)

Feoffment by William Baylie to Robert Warren of Dorchester and his heirs, of a burgage in the eastern part of Alhallow Church lane, on the north of a burgage of Peter Goodfellowe and on the south of burgage now of William Guy, late of Roger White, to hold of the chief lords of the fee. Warranty, William Collyns alias Hearne and John Pillerde to be attorneys to deliver seizin [possession], 1 June 17th of Elizabeth [1575]. Witnesses: Lawrence Stratford, John Skotte, Leonard Stones, John Chubbe, Matthew Chubb, scriptor. (Ibid. 705.)

William Myller of Dorchester, yeoman, releases to Robert Warren of Dorchester and his heirs, all rights in a messuage on the east side of a lane leading out of High Est Street towards Durnelane in the parish of All Saints, between the lande of Robert Goodfellow on the south and the lande of William Graye on the north, 20 June, 28th of Elizabeth [1596]. Witnesses: Richarde Rutter, clarck, Lawr[ence] Stratford, Matthew Chubbe, scriptore. (Ibid. 379.)

These documents make it clear that Robert Warren, an innholder, resided in All Saints parish of Dorchester from 1577 to 1596 and that he was an older man than Richard Warren of the adjoining parish of Fordington, 1592 to 1638. Were they kinsmen?

There were five Subsidies assessed between 19 James I (1621) and the 6th of Charles I (1630). The 1st and 2d Subsidies were granted 26 Sept., 1628. In Fordington appears the name Richard Warren by copy[hold] 20 shillings, subsidy 4 shillings. The assessment of the 3d Subsidy of Fordington granted in the same year also contains the name of Richard Warren with the same tax in the parish of Fordington. The 4th Subsidy taken 15 Dec., 1628, contains the assessment for Fordington but the names on the roll are illegible.

The Subsidy of Fordington taken 11 Oct., 1641, does not contain the name of Warren.

Thus it is apparent that Richard Warren resided in Fordington St. George from 1599 to 1628. We know from his will that he was living there 6 Dec., 1636, and from the Bishop's Transcripts that his daughter Mary was baptized in the parish 16 Aug., 1592. We are therefore justified in assuming that he must have been born as early as 1575.

WARREN

RICHARD¹ WARREN of the parish of Fordington St. George, county of Dorset, resided there from 1592 to 1638. He was probably the son of William and Alice Warren of Fordington. Alice Warren, a widow, was buried at Fordington, 29 Jan., 1586. He married Eve ——, before 16 Aug., 1592, and she was living as his wife, 6 Dec., 1636. It is conjectured that his father was that William Warren who was listed in the tithing of Fordington on 10 Feb., 1558/9, and that William died there before 29 Jan., 1586, leaving a widow Alice.

Richard Warren was living in the parish of Fordington on 16 Aug., 1592, but he is not mentioned in the subsidy of 1592-3. He was taxed on an annuity four shillings in 1599 and again two shillings eight pence between 9 Mar., 1603/4, and 9 Feb., 1609/10. He was also in the subsidy on 26 Sept., 1628, taxed four shillings. By occupation he was a husbandman. He must have been born as early as 1575 and died at Fordington shortly before 3 May, 1638.

Children, baptized at Fordington St. George:

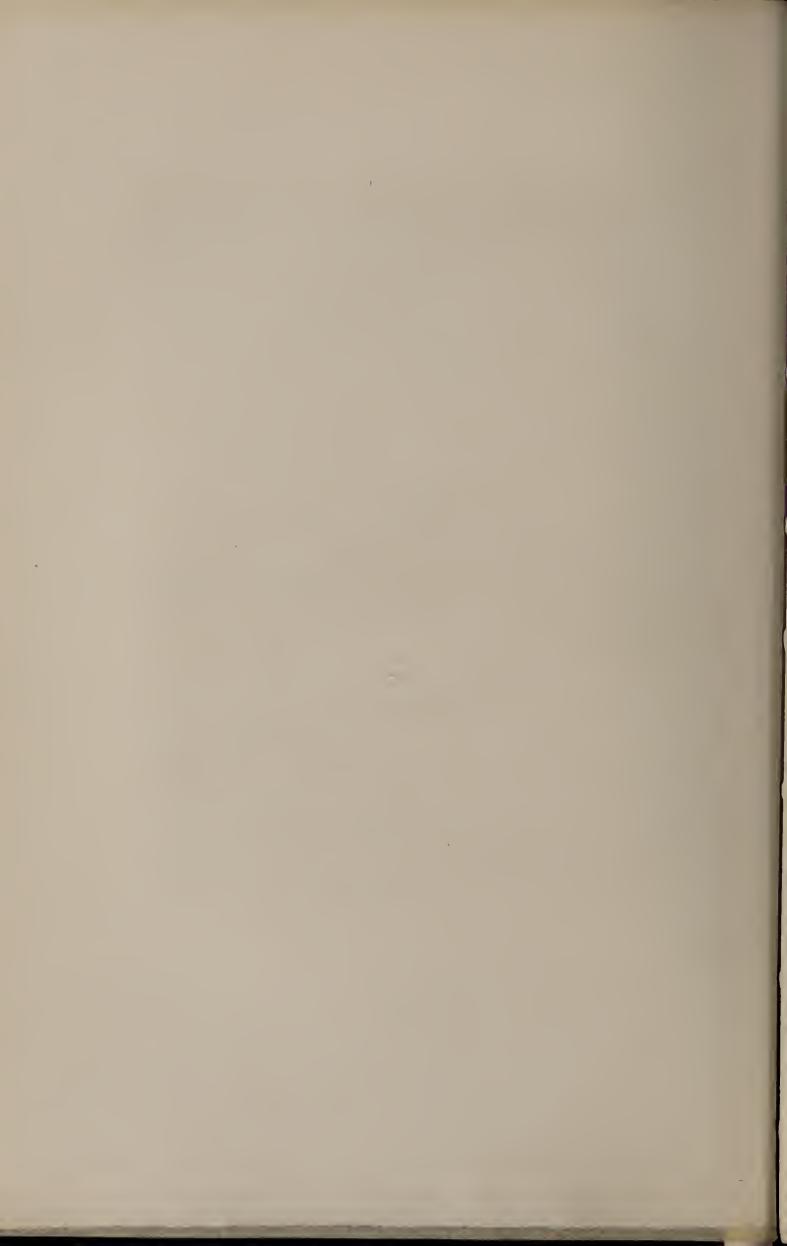

- i. Mary,² bp. 16 Aug., 1592; m. at Fordington, 25 Jan., 1634, John Bartlett of Fordington. She was living there, 6 Dec., 1636.
- ii. Elizabeth, m. John Cox of Bockhampton and became the mother of their two sons before 6 Dec., 1636. She and her husband were living at Bowlington [Burleston?], county of Dorset, in Aug., 1640.

WILL OF RICHARD WARREN OF FORDINGTON.

Richard Warren of Fordington, county of Dorset, husbandman, made his will 6 Dec., 1636, and it was proved 3 May, 1638.

To the reparations of the church at Fordington he gave six shillings eight pence and to the poor of the same parish a like sum. To his daughter Mary Bartlett wife of John Bartlett six shillings eight pence and no more "in respect I have bought my copy hold tenement in Fordington for her life and she hath married without my consent." To John Cox, son of John Cox of Bockhampton and of Elizabeth his wife, "one other of my daughters," twenty pounds. To William Cox, another of their sons, twenty pounds. Unto my daughter Johan wife of Edward [Ralph] Sprage six shillings eight pence and to the children of the said Edward [Ralph] Sprage and of Johan his wife which shall be living at the time of my decease twenty shillings To his godchildren William Swann, Richard Cosens, Christopher Sampson and unto Margaret Wills daughter of Richard Wills of Fordington twelve pence apiece. Upon condition that the said John Bartlett and Mary his wife, my daughter, do permit and suffer mine executors peaceably to hold and enjoy the copyhold tenement wherein I now dwell and to take the whole profits thereof for the space of six months next after my decease, I give unto my said daughter Mary ten pounds, to be paid within one year next after my decease. The residue I give to Eve my now wife and to Elizabeth Cox my daughter whom I make sole executrixes. Friends Mr. William Jolliffe of Dorchester, woollen-draper, and Thomas Sarvant, the younger, of Charminster to be overseers. (Water's Gleanings in England, 1246.)

Ralfe Sprague, sometime of Fordington, county of Dorset, fuller, and now of Charlestown in New England, planter, and Joane his wife, one of the daughters of Richard Warren, late of Fordington aforesaid, yeoman, deceased, gave a power of attorney to William Derby of Dorchester, county of Dorset, gentleman, to receive their portions from the estate of the late Richard Warren, 8 Nov., 1638. Children, born at Fordington:

- 2 i. Richard, probably a son; b. probably as early as 1590.
- 3 ii. Anthony, probably a son; b. probably before 1600.
 - iii. Alice, bp. —, 1577.
 - iv. John, bp. 12 Jan., 1586.
 - v. Anne, m. 14 Jan., 1618/9, Thomas Rose of Fordington.
- RICHARD² EAMES, probably a brother to Capt. Anthony Eames who came to New England about 1634, resided in the parish of Fordington 1615 to He was probably son of Thomas and Millicent Eames who lived in that parish from 1577 to 1618. No evidence has been found showing that he came to New England. He married at Fordington St. George, Dorset, 5 June, 1615, ALICE SPRAGUE, daughter of Edward and Christian Sprague of Upway, county of Dorset. She was called on 6 June, 1614, eldest daughter of Edward Sprague. On 8 Nov., 1638, she was living at Pomberry Mills (Poundbury Hill) near Dorchester in Old England. Administration on his estate was granted to his widow Alice, 5 May, 1634.

Child, baptized at Fordington St. George:

- i. Edward,³ bp. 24 Jan., 1618; m. there 31 Jan., 1638, Elizabeth Tapp, who was bur. there 20 Oct., 1675. Their daughter Elizabeth Eames, bp. there 27 Nov., 1639. Edward Eames was churchwarden of Fordington St. George in 1675.
- 3 Capt. Anthony² Eames, as appears from the foregoing items, married prior to 1618 and lived in the parish of Fordington St. George, Dorset, from 1618 to 1631. He was a churchwarden of that parish in 1622, 1627 and 1631. He was probably son of Thomas and Millicent Eames of Fordington.

He came to Charlestown between 1631 and 1634 and was an inhabitant of Charlestown in 1634. He removed to Hingham in 1636, and later to Marshfield where he resided 1653 to 1661. He was a Deputy to Massachusetts Bay Colony 1637, 1638 and 1643, and to Plymouth Colony 1653-58 and 1661. He was also a Lieutenant and Captain in 1644 and 1645, and a member of the Council of War, 1657. He died 1686. Probably his wife was Margery who was admitted to the Charlestown Church, 13 Sept., 1635.

Children, baptized in Fordington St. George:

- i. John, ⁸ bp. 24 Jan., 1618; d. at Hingham, 3 Nov., 1641.

She was baptized at Fordington, 16 Aug., 1592, and married "without the consent of her father" as he stated in his will, 6 Dec., 1636. Her father gave her a copy hold tenement in Fordington for her life, however. John Bartlett was buried at Fordington St. George, 6 Jan., 1670. No children recorded in the baptisms of Fordington St. George.

THE SPRAGUES IN MALDEN IN NEW ENGLAND

SECOND GENERATION

2 Lt. Ralph² Sprague (Edward¹) was born probably in Upway, county of Dorset, England, near 1599; died at Malden, Mass., — Nov., 1650. He married in the parish of Fordington St. George, Dorsetshire, 15 Aug., 1623, Joanna Warren, daughter of Richard Warren of Fordington St. George. She married (2) at Malden, 9 Sept., 1662, Dea. Edward Converse of Woburn. He died at Woburn, 10 Aug., 1663. She died at Charlestown, 24 Feb., 1679/80.

Children, first three born in England, others at Charlestown:

- 5 i. John, bp. 23 May, 1624, at Fordington St. George.
 - ii. Jonathan, bp. 27 Nov., 1625, at Fordington; d. at Malden, Dec., 1650, unm.
- 6 iii. Richard, b. near 1628, probably in England.
- 7 iv. Samuel, bp. in the First Church of Boston, 3 June, 1631 or 1632.
 - v. Mary, bp. in the First Church of Charlestown, 14 Sept., 1634; m. near 1662, Daniel Edmands of Charlestown. Five children. She d. at Charlestown, 26 Nov., 1717.
- 8 vi. Phineas, bp. at Charlestown, 31 July, 1637.

 No evidence has been found that there was a son Jabez.

Lt. Ralph Sprague (c. 1599-1650) was called by his father on 6 June, 1614, "my eldest son," then being under 21. It was understood in the will that Edward Sprague's "living," his homestead in Upway, should fall to his eldest son, and the son promised that his mother Christian should enjoy the same until he became "one and twenty."

Apparently, Ralph Sprague did not occupy his father's home later. His elder sister Alice went to Fordington and there married, 5 June, 1615, one Richard Eames. Ralph seems to have followed her to Fordington, for in the Charters, Minutes and other Documents of Weymouth, he is referred to as "of Fordington," 13 Dec., 1617. On that day he stated to the Mayor of Weymouth that he borrowed "a booke of the Warres in the Lowe Countryes "rom one James Bounde. Perhaps this book was "A tragical historie of the troubles and civil warres of the lowe countries" (London, John Kingston, 1583, 4to), and fired him with zeal to emigrate to New England to see (Somerset and Dorset Notes more of the world. and Queries, 3: 111.)

According to the Bishop's Transcripts he remained in Fordington St. George for at least two years. John son of Raphe Sprague was baptized 23 May, 1624, and Jonathan son of Rafe Sprague was baptized 27 Nov., 1625. Where he resided from 1626 to 1629 is uncertain, but he undoubtedly entered into an agreement with Rev. John White, the Patriarch of Dorchester in Dorset, to come to New England at his own cost and charge. He wished to be remembered to Mr. White in his letter to William Derby, 8 Nov., 1638, and he owned a house in Upway at the time of his death according to the letter of his step-father John Corbin.

HIS VOYAGE TO NEW ENGLAND.

Ralph Sprague, his wife Joanna, his children John and Jonathan and his brothers Richard and William Sprague, undoubtedly came to New England in the Lion's Whelp.

The facts upon which this statement rests are as follows:

Francis Higginson, who came in the companion ship the Talbot, kept a daily Journal of the voyage from Saturday, 25 Apr., to 24 July, 1629. The Talbot and the Lion's Whelp arrived at Naumkeag (Salem) on Monday, 29 June, 1629—after a voyage of forty-five days.

Commencing his Journal Mr. Higginson said:

The Company of New-England, consisting of many worthy gentlemen in the city of London, Dorchester, and other places, aiming at the glory of God, the propagation of the Gospel of Christ, the conversion of the Indians, and the enlargement of the King's Majesty's dominions in America, and being authorized by his royal letters patents for that end, at their very great costs and charge furnished five ships to go to New-England, for the further settling of the English Plantation that they had begun there [in 1628].

The names of the five ships were as followeth: the Talbot, the George, the Lion's Whelp, the Four Sisters, and the May-flower.

Mr. Higginson gave an exact description of each ship, one of which runs as follows:

The third is called the Lion's Whelp, a neat and nimble ship, of a hundred and twenty tons, eight pieces of ordnance, carrying in her many mariners and above forty planters, specially from Dorchester and other places thereabouts, with provision, and four goats.

Continuing Mr. Higginson said:

But we that were in the Talbot and the Lion's Whelp, being ready for our voyage, by the good hand of God's providence, hoisted up sail from Gravesend on Saturday the 25th of April, about seven o'clock in the morning but at night we anchored against Leigh, which is twelve miles from Gravesend, and there we rested that night, and kept Sabbath next day.

The purpose that actuated those who embarked under the leadership of Francis Higginson in 1629 rests upon the authority of Cotton Mather who said:

When they came to the Land's End, Mr. Higginson, calling upon his children and other passengers unto the stern of the ship to take their last sight of England, said "We will not say, as the Separatists were wont to say at their leaving England, 'Farewell, Babylon! farewell, Rome!' but we will say 'Farewell, dear England! farewell, the church of God in England, and all the Christian friends there! We do not go to New England as Separatists from the Church of England, though we cannot but separate from the corruptions in it; but we go to practice the positive part of church reformation and propagate the gospel in America.'" (Bacon's History of American Christianity, 90.)

They spent the Sabbath of 10 May, 1629, in the port of Yarmouth, a seaport on the Isle of Wight. Mr. Higginson continues his Journal as follows:

Monday morning [11 May], blew a fair wind from east southeast; and the Lion's Whelp having taken in all her provision for passengers, about three of the clock in the afternoon we hoisted sail from the Needles [sharp rocks in the channel at the western extremity of the Isle of Wight shoot up like needles] and by God's guidance safely passed that narrow passage a little after four o'clock in the afternoon and entered into the sea.

On 11 June they reached the Grand Banks of Newfoundland. Here they saw a mountain of ice.

Toward night (Higginson continues), came a fog, that the Lion's Whelp was lost till morning.

Again, 15 June, he says:

We lost the sight of the Lion's Whelp. It being foggy, we drummed for them, and they shot off a great piece of ordnance; but we heard not one another.

On Tuesday, 16 June, Higginson writes:

While we were at prayers, it cleared up about an hour, and then we saw the Lion's Whelp distant about two leagues southward. We presently tacked about to meet her and she did the same to meet us; but before we could get together, a thick fog came, that we were long in finding each other.

On Wednesday, 24 June, he records:

About nine o'clock in the morning, we espied a ship about four leagues behind us, which proved to be the Lion's Whelp, which had been a week separated from us; we stayed for her company.

On Monday, 29 June, he writes:

This day, by God's blessing and the directions [of two men to pilot us], we passed the curious and difficult entrance into the large, spacious harbour of Naimkecke.

From the foregoing records it is apparent that the Lion's Whelp brought more than forty planters from "Dorchester and other places thereabouts" and that she sailed from Gravesend, 25 Apr., and arrived at Naumkeag (Salem) on 29 June in the year 1629, also that many worthy gentlemen of the Company of New-England furnished five ships "at their very great costs and charge."

John Endicott, with his wife and a company of some forty or fifty planters, sailed from Weymouth in Dorset for Massachusetts in the ship Abigail, Henry Godden, master, on 28 June, 1628, and arrived at Naumkeag (Salem) on 6 Sept., 1628. He was not then Governor but was chosen Governor of the Plantation in the Massachusetts Bay for the year following "from the time he shall take his oath," by the London Company, 30 Apr., 1629. The place was called London's Plantation in America. He was the earliest patentee who came over under the indenture from the Plymouth Company.

The company who came with Endicott were not independent adventurers who came at their own cost, but were hired planters and servants. With Endicott "came Mr. [Charles] Gotte, Mr. [William] Brakenbury, Mr. [Richard] Davenport and others, who, being added to Capt. [William] Trask and John Woodbury went on comfortably together to make preparations for the new Colony that were coming over." (Hubbard's Narrative in Young's Chronicle, 30.) Nothing is said in this year of 1628 about the Spragues. They did not come as servants to Endicott.

The London Company sent a letter to Gov. Endicott, dated 28 May, 1629, in which they desire that Thomas Beard who came to Salem in the Mayflower that year, may have fifty acres of land allotted to him, as one that transports himself at his own charge, as well for him as all others that shall have land allotted to them in that kind . . . we hold it fit, that these kind of men . . . should become liable to the performance of some service certain days in the year, and by that service they, and their posterity after them, hold and inherit these lands. (Frothingham's History of Charlestown, 13.)

According to this letter and the statement of Higginson at the beginning of his Journal, it was in the year 1629 that some of the planters transported themselves to New England at their own cost.

"Amongst others that arrived at Salem at their own cost, were Ralph Sprague, with his brethren Richard and William, who with three or four more, by joint consent and approbation of Mr. John Endicott, Governor, undertook a journey, and travel the wood above twelve miles westward, light on a neck of land called Mishawam, between the Mystic and Charles rivers, full of Indians, named Aberginians. Their old sachem being dead, his eldest son called by the English John Sagamore is chief; a man of a gentle and good disposition: by whose free consent they settle here; where they find but one English house, thatched and pallisadoed, possessed by Thomas Walford a smith (Genealogy of the Spragues, 1828, p. 5), situate on the south end of the westermost hill of the east field, a little way up from Charles river side, and upon survey, they found it was a neck of land generally full of stately timber."

The only original document written in 1629 containing a statement similar to the statement which John Green wrote into the Charlestown Town records in 1664, was written by Rev. Francis Higginson on or near 24 July, 1629. He says

"The Company of New-England at their very great costs and charge furnished five ships to go to New-England, for the further settling of the English Plantation that they had already begun there [under Endicott in 1628]." (Higginson's Journal in Young's Chronicles of Massachusetts, 215.)

The Charlestown Town records read as follows:

It was jointly agreed and concluded that this place on the north side of the Charles River, by the natives called Mishawum, shall henceforth, from the name of the River, be called Charlestown, which was also confirmed by Mr. John Endicott, Governor.

It is jointly agreed and concluded by the inhabitants of this town, that Mr. Graves do moddle and lay out the form of the Town, with streets about the hill, which was accordingly done, and approved by the Governor.

It is jointly agreed and concluded, that each inhabitant have a two acre lot to plant upon, and all to fence in common, which was accordingly, by Mr. Graves, measured out to them.

Upon which, Ralph Sprague and others, began to build their houses, and to prepare fencing for their lots, which was afterwards set up almost in a semi-circular form, on the south and southeast side of that field laid out to them, which lies situate on the northwest side of the town hill. (Budington's History of Charlestown, 173.)

The Charlestown Town records then state that "Mr. Graves this year built the Great House" and that Mr. Bright was "minister."

Mr. Bright was Rev. Francis Bright who came in the Lion's Whelp, arriving 29 June, 1629, and Mr. Graves was Thomas Graves, a mining engineer, who signed a contract at Gravesend to come to New England and lay out the plantations into towns, 10 Mar., 1628/9.

Therefore, the Spragues undoubtedly came in the year 1629 in the Lion's Whelp, arriving at Salem, 29 June, 1629, and were commissioned by Gov. Endicott to settle at Mishawam that year.

Here in Charlestown on the side of the Town Hill, Ralph Sprague and his associates undoubtedly occupied log-houses during the winter of 1629-30, suffering from its severity, great hardships. On the southeastern slope of the hill, the pioneers erected a large building which was called the "Great House," to which they welcomed Governor John Winthrop and his associates in the summer of 1630. On Thursday, 8 July, 1630, Gov. Winthrop here observed a day of Thanksgiving—the first which was observed in the Massachusetts Bay Colony by the old planters. From 1630 to 1636 the "Great House" on Town Hill, near the present City Square in Charlestown, was used as the Meeting House of the plantation.

In the spring of 1630, there was a conspiracy among the Indians to cut off the English and "the people of Charlestown agree to make a small fort, with pallisadoes and flankers, on the top of the Town Hill: which is performed at the direction of Master Thomas Graves by all hands, viz. men, women, and children, who labour in digging and building, till the work is done."

Here we get a picture of the hardships of Mr. Sprague and his family in the pioneer days in founding Charlestown. No wonder the General Court granted him lands in consideration of his great "difficulties borne at the beginning."

The Indians had up to this time occupied all of the territory between the Charles and the Piscataqua rivers. Wonamaquaham, called by the English John Sagamore, or Sagamore John, was the son of the celebrated Nanepashemet (the New Moon), the powerful sachem of the great Pawtucket tribe. Nanepashemet passed into history nine years before Endicott came to Salem. lived where Lynn now is until the Tarratines, to the eastward, made war on him. He was killed in 1619. His three sons occupied his haunts, Montawampate, or Sagamore James having his headquarters at Saugus, Wenepoykin, or Sagamore George at Naumkeag, and Wonamaquaham, or Sagamore John was at Mystic. The latter is described by Governor Dudley as "a handsome young man conversant with us, affecting English apparel and houses and speaking well of our God." The Charlestown records call him "a man naturally of a gentle and good disposition," and expressly state that he gave "free consent" for the English "to settle about the hill" at Mishawam.

Undoubtedly Ralph Sprague and his brothers were first to enter into negotiations at Mishawam and Mystic with Wonamaquaham.

Lt. Ralph Sprague's Public Services.

The first Court of Assistants of the Massachusetts Bay Colony, was held at Charlestown in New England, 23 Aug., 1630. For more than ten years thereafter this Court, the General Court and the Quarter Courts transacted all the public business of the Colony. The earliest Counties in Massachusetts, Suffolk, Middlesex, Essex and Old Norfolk, were not established until 10 May, 1643. Therefore, the General Court in its early days assumed functions not only legislative but also executive and judicial. They tried persons for misdemeanors and crimes, appointed local officers to enforce the laws, settled estates and attended to many minor matters.

At the third Court of Assistants held at Charlestown, in the Great House, 28 Sept., 1630, Ralph Sprague appears as one of fifteen jurymen "impanneld to inquire concerning the Death of Asten Bratcher dyeing lately att Mr. Cradocks plantacon." The jury reported "the strookes given by Walter Palmer were accationally the means of the death of Austen Bratcher." Palmer was bound over in £40 and Ralph Sprague was one of his sureties in £20 for his appearance at the next Court of Assistants to be held at Boston, 19 Oct., 1630.

At a General Court held at Boston, 19 Oct., 1630, Ralph Sprague appears among the one hundred and eight men who desired to be made freemen. He with the others was admitted a freeman 18 May, 1631. On the same day the General Court chose Ralph Sprague constable of Charlestown. So far as is known his name is in the earliest list of the men of the Massachusetts Bay Colony who desired to take the freeman's oath, as well as among the first three constables chosen by the General Court. Walter Palmer was acquitted of the crime of manslaughter at a Court of Assistants held in Boston, 9 Nov., 1630.

At the Court of Assistants held in Boston, 7 Nov., 1632, Ralph Sprague was chosen umpire to decide upon the bounds set down betwixt Dorchester and Roxbury by Capt. William Traske, Roger Conant, William Cheeseborough and John Perkins who were appointed to set down the bounds.

At the General Court held in Boston, 14 May, 1634, "It was ordered, that there shalbe a ward of two kept every day att the fort att Boston, dureing the tyme of any shipps rydeing there, to be borne by the publique, and to be ordered by Capt. [John] Underhill," and Ralph Sprague is chosen one of the three sergeants "to Captaine Underhill." (Massachusetts Bay Colony Records, 1: 120.)

On 3 Sept., 1634, the General Court held its session at Newe Towne (Cambridge), "It was ordered that a General Committee shall have power to sett out the bounds of all townes not yet sett out, or in difference betwixte any towne and the committees are appoyncted to returne into the nexte Court, in Novemb^r, what they have done herein." Ralph Sprague was one of the nine members of this committee.

The General Court in its early years consisted of a single chamber, or body of men, and included the Governor, Deputy Governor, Secretary, Treasurer, Assistants and Deputies. At their sessions the Governor presided until 29 May, 1644.

John Haynes was governor in 1635 and Richard Bellingham was deputy governor. Among the twenty-six Deputies who were present at the session held at Newe Towne, 6 May, 1635, was Ralph Sprague. His services were so valuable that he was continued as a deputy to the General Court, 3 Mar., 1635/6; and again 8 Sept., 1636, at which Court he was styled "Sergent" Sprague.

At the General Court held at Newe Towne, 17 May, 1637, Lieut. Ralph Sprague, Mr. Richard Browne and Mr. Joseph Cooke were chosen to assist as Associates at "the Particular Courts at Newe Towne." In an age when there were few judges and lawyers his judgment was sought in the courts.

Lt. Sprague served as deputy at the General Court held at Newe Towne, 2 Nov., 1637. This Court adjourned to 15 Nov., 1637, when "It was ordered, that £1000 should bee levyed to pay the countryes debts, and Mr. [Joseph] Cooke, Left. [Ralph] Sprague, Mr. [Richard] Browne, Willi: Parks, Mr. [Nathaniel] Duncan, Mr. William Colburn, Mr. [John] Woodbridge, Samuel Ward, Thomas White [because of their influence in the Colony] were appointed to order the proportion to each towne." (Ibid., 1: pp. 205, 209.)

On 12 Mar., 1637/8, the General Court held its session again at Newe Towne. There were present the Governor John Winthrop, the Deputy Governor Thomas Dudley, and nine Assistants, viz. "John Endecott, Richard Bellingham, John Humphrey, Roger Harlakenden, Israel Stoughton, John Winthrop Jr. Richard Saltonstall, Symon Bradstreete and Increase Nowell. Thirty Deputies were present including Lt. Ralph Sprague." (Ibid., 220.) The next session was held at Newe Towne, 2 May, 1638, and Lt. Ralph Sprague was again among the Deputies. (Ibid., 227.) The next General Court held its regular session in Boston, 6 Sept., 1638, and Ralph Sprague sat there with the Deputies. Likewise he was a Deputy at the next session of the General Court held in Boston, 13 Mar., 1638/9.

In those days the General Court met for a day at irregular intervals. Mr. Sprague again appears as a Deputy at the General Court holden at Boston, 22 May, 1639. This Court adjourned to 6 June, 1639, when "Mr. Thomas Mayhew, Left. Ralph Sprague and John Johnson are desired to viewe the difference between Dorchester and Boston, by Mr. [Hugh] Rossiter's farme, wch is marsh ground belonging to Dorchester, and to give their advise, wen, if it satisfy not, may bee returned to the Court, and if either party bee greeved to prosecute his suite and have it tryed by a jeurye, this committee to give evidence."

At the same session Lt. Sprague was appointed on a committee to levy £1000—£250 of which was to be used to build a house and repair the batteries at Castle Island. (Ibid., 1: 260.)

On the same day the General Court granted to "Leift. Ral: Sprague 100 acres [he] haveing borne difficulties in the begining." At the next session of the General Court held in Boston, 4 Sept., 1639, Lt. Ralph Sprague was present as a Deputy. (Ibid., 1: 270.)

He reported to the General Court with Mayhew and Johnson, 6 Nov., 1639, "that by joynt agreement they had set out to the towne of Dorchester what they did judge to bee marsh ground: where there was any difficulty they have set stakes, and where no stakes are, they conclude it all marsh-17 June 1639."

At the General Court held in Boston, 13 May, 1640, Lt. Ralph Sprague was again present as a Deputy. At the same session "Mr. Treasurer [William Tyng], Mr. Samuel Shepard and Lt. [Ralph] Sprague have power to let the ferry between Boston and Charlestowne to whom they see cause, when the time of Edward Converse is expired, at their discretion." (Ibid., 290.)

Lt. Ralph Sprague served as a Deputy to the General Court held in Boston, 7 Oct., 1641. At the adjourned session held 10 Oct., 1641, "It is ordered that Lt. [Ralph] Sprague and Edward Converse should repair the bridg at Medford, over the Mistick River, and the same to bee paid for out of the treasury." (Ibid., 343.) He also served as Deputy, 7 Mar., 1643/4.

At a General Court of Election held in Boston, 29 May, 1644, Lt. Ralph Sprague was present as a Deputy. He was also present as a Deputy, 14 May, 1645. The General Court ordered, 6 May, 1646, that "Ralph Sprague and Edward Converse are appointed to view y^e bridge at Mistick, and what charge they conceive meete, to be presently expended for y^e making it sufficient and prevent y^e ruine thereof, or by further delay to endanger it, by agreeing with workmen for y^e compleate repairing thereof, and to make their returne to Mr. Willoughby and Mr. Russell, and what they shall do herein to be satisfied out of y^e treasury." (Ibid., 2: 149.)

At a General Court of Elections, 26 May, 1647, "The Court hath appointed Lt. [Ralph] Sprague and Francis Smith to lay out ye way from Winnesemet to Reading and also appoint Lt. Sprague, et al. as a committee to view ye ryver, and make returne to ye Courte of ye necessity and charge of a bridge, and make returne to ye next session of this Courte." (Ibid., 2: 192.)

He was a member of the committee chosen by the General Court, 14 May, 1645, "to consider of ye best wayes and meanes to destroy ye wolves wch are such ravenous cruell creatures, and daily vexatious to all ye inhabitants of this collony, and to present their thoughts and conclucions thereabouts to this howse." (Ibid., 3: 10.)

At another session of the General Court held in Boston, 4 Nov., 1646, "Mr. Francis Norton is accepted of and confirmed in the place of lieutenant to ye company of Charles Towne, in ye roome of Lt. Sprague, who is discharged, on his request, therefrom, and Sargt. Sprague is accepted and confirmed as ensigne of ye said company." (Ibid., 3: 84.) Ralph Sprague had served as Lieutenant of the Charlestown Company from 1637 to 1646 inclusive—a period of ten years.

At the General Court held in Boston by adjournment, 4 May, 1649, "in answer to a petition of the inhabitants of Charlestown concerning the grant to Mr. Mayhew as agent to Mrs. Cradocke, the Court being satisfied with the evidence of Lt. Sprague and Thomas Lynde, then deputies of the Courte, that the comon granted then to Misticke Farme, by order of Courte, was meerely for prevention of their trespassing on Charles Towne bounds, think meete to allow the said farme comon for fifteene head of cattle on the backside of Misticke Farme, so long as the said land of Charles Towne, lying on the backside of Misticke Farme, lye in comon, and no longer." (Ibid., 3: 155.)

At the General Court held, 9 May, 1649, "Lt. Sprague, et al. reported as a committee for a highway laid out from Reading to Winnesemett ... which concernes posterity as well as ourselves." (Ibid., 3: 159.)

From the foregoing it appears that Ralph Sprague served as a Deputy to the General Court from Charlestown, then including Everett, Malden, Melrose, Stoneham and Somerville, etc., at least in sixteen sessions and served on important committees many times.

The fact that Mr. Sprague served with the most distinguished men of the Massachusetts Bay Colony so long indicates that he was a man of sound judgment and remarkable ability. His influence in the Colony was great.

His service as a Deputy is summarized as follows: 6 May, 1635, 3 Mar., 1635/6, 8 Sept., 1636, 2 Nov., 1637, 12 Mar., 1637/8, 2 May, 1638, 6 Sept., 1638, 13 Mar., 1638/9, 22 May, 1639, 4 Sept., 1639, 13 May, 1640, 7 Oct., 1641, 7 Mar., 1643/4, 20 May, 1644, 29 May, 1644, 14 May, 1645.

MILITARY.

Capt. Robert Keayne, et al. were authorized by the Governor and Council to organize the Military Company of Massachusetts, later called The Ancient and Honorable Artillery Company of Massachusetts, 13 Mar., 1638. As early as 26 July, 1631, the Court of Assistants ordered that Capt. John Underhill's Company at Boston and Roxbury and those "who inhabit at Charlestown, Misticke (Malden) and the New Towne (Cambridge) shall train every first Friday in every month."

Ralph Sprague became a member of the Honorable Artillery Company of Massachusetts soon after its organization in the year 1638. (Roberts's History of the Ancient and Honorable Artillery Company, 1: 78.)

HIS CHURCH MEMBERSHIP.

The First Church of Boston was organized in the Great House at Charlestown, 27 Aug., 1630. Among those who that day joined at Charlestown were Ralph Sprague and Joanna his wife and Richard Sprague (Records, First Church of Boston.) A majority of the members soon removed to Shawmut (Boston) and carried the church organization with them. The First Church of Charlestown was organized 2 Nov., 1632, when thirty-five persons entered in covenant. On that date Ralph Sprague and his wife Joanna and Richard Sprague and his wife Mary were dismissed from the First Church of Boston to join the First Church of Charlestown.

RALPH SPRAGUE'S HOMESTEAD.

Ralph Sprague commenced to build his house in Charlestown as soon as Thomas Graves laid out the lots, not earlier than July or August, 1629. Frothingham in his History of Charlestown says that his house stood in "Crooked Lane," later called Bow street, near the Great House which stood in what is now City Square.

His homestead in 1638 was located on the east end of the common and bounded on the south and west upon the highway — Crooked Lane — on the southeast by Philip Drinker, and on the northeast by Mystic River. (Charlestown Land Grants, 45.)

In 1638 the Town of Charlestown made a record of twelve lots of land which were granted to him. Five of these lots were on Mystic Side, out of which the town of Malden was formed in 1649. Richard Sprague was granted lot No. 35, containing 20 acres on Mystic Side, "55 acres above yeronds and 5 acres had in possession aforetime." This grant was made, 23 Apr., 1638.

On 18 Dec., 1638, Richard Sprague and Thomas Lynde having received "nothing but Rockes"—evidently land in what is now Middlesex Fells—in their allotments were to leave "the aforesaid Rocks to lye Common" and to have allowance elsewhere. (Charlestown Possessions, 69.)

About 1648, Richard Sprague took a deed of his brother Ralph Sprague's Charlestown property in exchange for his Mystic Side property. The deed from Ralph Sprague to Richard Sprague was acknowledged, 23 Mar., 1649/50 (Middlesex Deeds, 3: 341), while the deed from Richard to Ralph was never recorded.

This homestead was located in the vicinity of Clifton street between Washington and Summer streets in Malden. The farm extended across Pleasant street to Malden river, south of the Congregational Church. Summer street and perhaps a portion of Pleasant street was a lane leading from the Sprague house to a landing called Sprague's Bank, on Three Mile Brook, at the lower extremity of the lot. (Corey's History of Malden, 72.)

The homestead lot contained about thirty acres. In 1650 Ralph Sprague's estate was settled. The widow had for her thirds, "the House sometime [formerly] Richard Spragues, one half of the Barnes and Appurtenances thereto fixed, All the upland belonging to the sayd house and Adjoyning to it (Except the Little feild containing About five acres) containing Thirtie Acres more or Less, half the Meadow ground below the Countrie high way [Pleasant street], half the hay ground called Mount Prospect Meadows," etc. The settlement further recites that the "Little Feild one half assigned to John Sprague was sometime his Uncle Richards." The settlement must be accepted as evidence that Ralph Sprague held his homestead in Malden by a deed from his brother Richard. As no such deed is recorded in the registry, we are justified to say it was an unrecorded deed.

The ancient homestead passed into the possession of his youngest son Phinehas Sprague who lived there till 1691. In 1704 his heirs sold the entire farm to Jacob Wilson of Malden for £290.

(Middlesex Deeds, 13: 545.)

On 1 Jan., 1648/9, Lt. Ralph Sprague and nine other freemen "of Mistike Syde" petitioned to the General Court of Massachusetts Bay Colony, for a separation from Charlestown, and "Misticke side" became a distinct town of the name "Maulden," 11 May, 1649. (Corey's History of Malden, p. 111.) From that time to his death Mr. Sprague worshiped in the First Church of Malden which then included the present cities of Malden, Everett, Melrose and the Greenwood section of Wakefield.

HIS ENGLISH CONNECTIONS.

Ralphe Sprague of Charlestowne in New England and Joane his wife make their letter of attorney unto John Holland of Tinckleton [Tincleton] in the County of Dorset ffuller to receive of John Cox of Bowlington and Elizabeth his wife

At the time this letter was written Ralph Sprague had been deceased four months. The report which Richard Sprague made to John Holland was doubtless true. Further, it must be borne in mind that John Corbin used "son" for step-son and "father-in-law" for step-father.

In his Sprague Genealogy published in 1828, Hosea Sprague states that he went to Charlestown in the summer of 1828 on purpose to see the tombstone of Lt. Ralph Sprague and of Capt. Richard Sprague, the first settlers in Charlestown. He adds that the inscriptions remain to this day, however, almost obliterated by the "dropping of water." (p. 13.) A visit to the ancient Charlestown cemetery in 1922 revealed no trace of those tombstones.

In a letter dated, 28 Oct., 1829, Joseph E. Sprague then of Salem expresses doubt to Hosea Sprague as to what the author saw. Joseph E. Sprague states that Capt. Richard Sprague, son of Lt. Ralph Sprague, and Richard's wife Eunice were buried in Rev. Charles Morton's tomb in the Charlestown cemetery, and he asks Hosea Sprague if it were not these whose inscriptions he saw in 1828.

Proved 16 June 1680.

At Charlestown Nov. 11, 1679, Richard Sprague made "an invoice of perticulars given by mother Converse to sister Mary Edmonds as followeth: Imprimis — A hood and safegard of serge — her best black gowne — her best red cloath petticoate — her red turky Mohaire petticoate — her best hatt & best greene apron — her little Chest — Two pewter dishes — her red serge petticote — severall parcels of linnen which shee put into Sister

^{*} It has been assumed that age caused her to sign with a mark instead of her full name. But more than 14 years before her signature to Ralph Sprague's inventory was also by means of a mark. Illiteracy was common with women in those days and there was nothing in the circumstance to be regarded as discreditable.

^{*} The value of a pound in 1680 was large in comparison with values today, representing probably many books.

In 1830 Hon. Edward Everett in his bi-centennial address at Charlestown said: "The Spragues were founders of the settlement of ancient Charlestown (including Malden, Melrose, Everett, Stoneham, Somerville and parts of Medford, Cambridge and Arlington) and were persons of character, substance and enterprise: excellent citizens: generous public benefactors; and heads of a very large and respectable family of descendants."

The distinguished speaker was a grandson of Joan Stevens, 1711-1791, whose mother was Sarah⁴ Sprague (Phineas, *3 Lt. Ralph, 2 Edward) who was born at Malden, 23 Apr., 1686. Her great grandson was Rev. Edward Everett Hale also a distinguished Bostonian.

2a EDWARD² SPRAGUE (*Edward*¹) second son was born near 1602. He lived in the parish of Fordington St. George from 1627 to 1633. He removed to Upway and was there residing in 1641 and 1642. His wife's name is not known. The parish registers of Upway which commence in 1654 may disclose later information concerning this family. He was a fuller by trade and called himself 32 on 15 Dec., 1633. (Chancery.)

Children, born and baptized in Fordington St.

George:

ii. Edward, bp. 1 Aug., 1630.

i. Elizabeth, bp. 1 May, 1627; bur. 24 Sept., 1631.

iii. William, b. 28 July, 1633; lived in Mill street in 1641; bur. in Fordington St. George, 29 Dec., 1692. He had a son John who lived there.

3 Capt. Richard Sprague (Edward) was born in Dorsetshire, England, near 1605, and died at Charlestown, 25 Nov., 1668, aged 63. He married between 27 Aug., 1630, and 11 Oct., 1632, Mary —, probably Mary Morton. She died at Charlestown shortly before 16 June, 1674. On 27 Aug., 1630, Richard Sprague was admitted to the First Church of Boston apparently as a single man. Among others who were that day admitted was Mary Morton also apparently a singlewoman.

Assuming that the records of the First Church of Boston are complete from the day of its organization to 14 Oct., 1632, then no other single-woman of the name Mary was admitted during that period.

On 14 Oct., 1632, the church clerk wrote as follows: "Ye names of those members of our Church whoe desirenige dismission from the congregation to enter into a new Church body at Charles Towne did solemnly seek unto God with ye rest of ye Church for direction herein upon ye 11th of Oct. 1632, and were accordingly dismissed on ye 14th day of the same being the Lords day." (Records, First Church of Boston.)

Then follow the names of thirty-five persons, including Ralph Sprague and his wife Joanna and Richard Sprague and Mary his wife.

Alice Rand, widow of Robert Rand of Charlestown was either his sister or a sister to his wife Mary.

Capt. Richard Sprague (c. 1605-68) of Charlestown, and others, acknowledged to the General Court their sin in subscribing to a seditious writing and were allowed to have their hands crossed out, 15 Nov., 1637. (Mass. Bay Colony Records, 1: 209.)

He was early appointed Sergeant of the Charlestown Military Company whereof his brother Ralph was Lieutenant. Sergt. Sprague was confirmed as Ensign of the Company, 4 Nov., 1646. (Ibid., 2: 66 and 3: 184.)

In 1638 he was admitted to the Military Company of Boston, predecessor of the Ancient and Honorable Artillery Company. He was first sergeant of the company in 1652, ensign in 1659 and lieutenant in 1665. (History of Ancient and Honorable Artillery Company, 1: 79.)

At a General Court of Election, held in Boston, 11 May, 1659, Lt. Richard Sprague served as a Deputy from Charles Towne. (Mass. Bay Colony Records, 3: 364.)

At an adjourned session of the Court, 28 May, 1659, "Lt. Richard Sprague, et al. are appointed a comittee to drawe up an order, which may prevent deceipt in making and dressing of cloth, and to present the same to the next sessions of this Court." (Ibid., 3: 380.)

Lt. Richard Sprague served as a Deputy from Charles Towne to the General Court in Boston, 30 May, 1660, at the General Court held in Boston, 19 Dec., 1660, at the General Court of Elections held in Boston, 22 May, 1661, and again at a Special Court assembled, 7 Aug., 1661. (Ibid., 3:416, 449; 4:1,30.)

THIRD GENERATION

5 Capt. John³ Sprague (Lt. Ralph,² Edward¹) was born and baptized in Fordington St. George, Dorset, 23 May, 1624; and died at Malden, 25 June, 1692, aged 68. He married at Malden, 2 May, 1651, Lydia Goffe, daughter of Edward and Joyce Goffe of Cambridge. She was born in England near 1628 and died, a widow, at Malden, 11 Dec., 1715. Her father, Edward Goffe of Cambridge, came to New England in 1635, and made his will, 2 Apr., 1657, in which he mentions his daughter Lydia and his grandchildren John Sprague, Lydia Sprague and Jonathan Sprague. His estate was divided, 26 Dec., 1658, when mention was made of Ensign John Sprague and Lydia Sprague and others.

Children, born at Malden:

9 i. John, b. 9 Mar., 1651/2.

- ii. Lydia, b. "about Sept., 1653"; m. 5 July, 1670, Dea. John Greenland of Malden. She d. there, 20 Jan., 1704/5, aged 51 y. 4 m.; buried in Bell Rock Cemetery.
- 10 iii. Jonathan, b. Oct., 1656.

11 iv. Samuel, b. 21 Feb., 1658/9.

- v. Mary, b. 13 Apr., 1661; not mentioned in her father's will, 31 May, 1692.
- 12 vi. Edward, b. near 1663.

13 vii. Phineas, b. — Feb., 1665/6.

viii. Hannah, b. near 1668; m. near 1690, Samuel Stowers of Malden. She was alive, 26 Dec., 1721.

ix. Deborah, b. 21 Sept., 1670; m. (1) after 31 May, 1692, William Mellens. She administered upon his estate

5 Aug., 1697. She m. (2) at Malden, 22 Sept., 1697, Samuel Bucknam of Malden. She d. at Malden, 17 Aug., 1751, aged 81. Two children, viz. Deborah Mellens and Deborah Bucknam.

x. Sarah, b. — Feb., 1672/3; m. before 31 May, 1692, Jonathan Fosdick of Charlestown. She was admitted to the First Church of Charlestown, 3 Feb., 1716/7. Five children.

Capt. John Sprague (1624-1692) was about five years of age when his father settled in the Charlestown wilderness. Of his early life on the New England frontier no record has been found. He was evidently an energetic and active settler.

He was made a freeman of the Massachusetts

Bay Colony, 18 May, 1653.

On 10 Sept., 1653, John Sprague was chosen by the General Court of the Massachusetts Bay Colony, one of a committee of three "to lay out the country high-way between Redding [now Wakefield] and Winnesemett [now Chelsea and Revere] through Maldon bounds." (Mass. Bay Colony Records, 3: 330.)

He served as selectman of Malden, in 1657-59, 1678-82, 1684-92 — seventeen years.

He was Ensign of the Malden militia from 1654 to 1658, and perhaps for a longer period. He served as Lieutenant of the Malden militia from 1664 to 1685.

Lt. John Sprague was commissioned Captain of the Foot Company of Malden, by the General Court, 4 June, 1685, and served in 1686 and 1689.

Capt. Sprague also served as Deacon of the

First Church of Malden, 1680 to 1692. (Corey's History of Malden.)

The General Court Records, 11 July, 1689, read as follows: "The Lieutenant of the Military Foot Company in Malden under the Conduct of Capt. John Sprague Standing in Commission in 1686 having Laid Down His place Joseph Wilson Senrominated for Lieutenant of said Company and Phineas Sprague nominated for Ensigne of said Company are Accordingly Allowed and Confirmed in their Respective offices." (Mass. Bay Colony Records, 6:61.)

Capt. John Sprague also served as the representative from Malden to the General Court, 5 Nov., 1689, and 12 Feb., 1689/90; 8 Oct., 1690; 3 Feb., 1690/1 and 14 Apr., 1691—five sessions.

He was a commissioner to hear small causes in Malden, 1680-82, and was chosen moderator, selectman and clerk of the writs, — Mar., 1684/5.

John Sprague was chosen ensign of the Malden Military Company, 4 Apr., 1654. (Middlesex Court Record, 1:53.)

HIS HOMESTEAD.

Capt. John Sprague's Ell Pond Farm, in what is now Melrose, was bounded as follows: Beginning at Spot Pond Brook, below Wyoming Station, and running northeasterly on a straight line on the east side of Cottage street crossing West Foster street and extending both sides of the Boston & Maine Railroad, through land lately owned by William Bogle, thence crossing Essex and West Emerson streets and Lake avenue in a straight line to Ell Pond, just east of the residence of the late John Skelton, thence northerly, following the brook that runs from Charles street through Otis street, into Ell Pond. From about twenty rods beyond Charles street the line ran straight to Spot Pond Brook and then by the brook to the point of beginning. (Goss's History of Melrose, 81-2.)

The original homestead in 1652 contained 67 acres to which he added by purchase two other lots. His house stood near Barrett's Mount, on the southerly side of Maple street, about twenty rods west of Vinton street. The old cellar was visible within the memory of some who were living in 1900. (Goss's History of Melrose, 82.)

The General Court, 4 June, 1685, entered upon its records its answer to Malden's foot company's petition, as follows:

"In answ to the foot company of Maulden's peticon, the Court doe hereby appoint Leift Jn Sprague to be captaine and grants liberty to Sargt Samuel Sprague to officiate as leiften and Joseph Wilson to officiate as leiften under him, said capt. in order to their establishment and being commissioned." (Mass. Bay Colony Records, 5: 483.)

In the ancient Bell Rock Cemetery stands a gravestone (removed to Forestdale Cemetery) on which the inscription reads as follows:

HERE LYES YE BODY OF CAPT. JOHN SPRAGUE
AGED 68 YEARS
WHO DEPARTED THIS LIFE THE 25 DAY
OF JUNE 1692
THE MEMORY OF YE JUST IS BLESSED.

Pond Field, 1652-1805.

Richard Sprague of Charlestowne in New England "for good and valluable consideraccions" sells unto John Sprague of Maulden in New England "one farme contayneing sixty seaven acre of plowing land and meadow situate and lying at a place comonly called L Pond... with the buildings thereunto belonging, both plowing land, meadowing, feeding ground, timber and all,"... in witness whereof I have hereunto put my hand and seale 4th Octob 1652 in the presence of Thomas Squire and Samuel Sprague. Acknowledged 21 Jan. 1661. (Middlesex Deeds, 3: 207.)

Thomas Brattle of Boston, marcht, and Thomas Shepard of Charlestowne, gent^m for £74 sell John Sprague of Maulden, yeom land in Maulden by estimation ten acres of upland and foure acres of meadow... "with all the houseing errected there upon," bounded "south the land of Mrs. Coggan now in the occupaccion of Thomas Greene Jr., on the north the Country way and River, on the south the land of Jno Bunker on the east the Country way," 18 Aug. 1658. Elizabeth Brattle wife of Thomas Brattle and Anna Shepard wife of Thomas Shepard resigned their rights of dower, 17 May 1660. (Ibid. 3: 204.)

Thomas Brattle of Boston, march^t, and Thomas Shepard of Charlestowne gent\overline{m} for £10 sell John Sprague of Maulden yeo\overline{m} land in Maulden twelve acres bounded on the north the co\overline{m} on and the land of the said John Sprague, on the south the land of Mr. Coggan now in the occupation of Thomas Greene Jr. from a maple tree on the west side of the brooke that runs to the mill to the east end of the said John Spragues stone wall, on the south the land of the said John Sprague, on the east the land of Abra\overline{m} Hill, and part of the brooke that runs to the mill, 13 May 1658. Witnesses: Ric: Sprague and Samuel Sprague. Elizabeth Brat-tle wife of Thomas Brattle and Anna Shepard wife of Thomas Shepard resigned their rights of dower, 17 May 1660. (Ibid. 3: 206.)

Pond Field and Capt. John Sprague's homestead included the land bounded on the south by West Foster street, Melrose, on the west by Spot Pond brook and on the north by Ell Pond. It passed to Capt. John Sprague's two sons John Sprague, Jr., and Phineas Sprague. The new house stood where now stands the Liberty Bigelow Mansion and the old Sprague house stood west of the new house. The old Sprague house, which was deeded by Phineas Sprague, 3d, (1725-1805), to his son Jonathan Sprague, was at the junction of Maple, Vinton and West Foster streets. In this old house Jonathan Sprague was living as late as 21 Nov., 1805. A short distance west of 123 West Foster street there was then a lane leading to Jonathan Sprague's house in which his ancestors had lived for generations.

6 Capt. RICHARD³ SPRAGUE (Lt. Ralph, Edward1) was born probably in England near 1628; died at Charlestown, 7 Oct., 1703. He married (1) at Charlestown, 25 Feb., 1672/3, EUNICE CHESTER, daughter of Leonard and Mary Chester of Watertown and Wethersfield, Conn. mother married (2) Hon. Richard Russell of Charlestown.) She was born at Wethersfield, Conn., 15 June, 1645, and died at Charlestown, 27 May, 1676. He married (2) at Charlestown, 7 May, 1679, KATHARINE (RICHARDSON) ANDERSON, widow of Capt. David Anderson of Charlestown. She was a daughter of Amos and Mary Richardson, born in Boston, 6 Jan., 1654/5. She died at Charlestown, 22 July, 1701, aged 45. No children.

He was a sea-captain commanding the pink Consent for Nevis and St. Christophers in 1664 and owner of the ship Nevis Merchant in 1687 whereof Timothy Clark, his brother-in-law, was master.

Capt. Richard Sprague (c. 1628-1703) of Charlestown served as a Deputy therefrom to the General Court, 24 May, 1682 (Mass. Bay Colony Records, 5:351). At the same time he served on the committee to examine the Treasurer's Accounts. At an adjourned session, 27 May, 1682, he was appointed a member of a committee "to examine the colledge account to consider what is meet to be allowed and given to the stewards that have had the management thereof making return of what they doe at October session." (Ibid. 5:360.)

The aforesaid committee reported to the General Court, 18 Oct., 1682, "that the accounts of the stewards of the stocke contributed for the building of the colledge" was approved as "faire and honest, only the value of tenn pounds... in nayles omitted to be valued and recomended it to the General Court to consider them for their paynes." (Ibid. 5:380.)

This committee made another report on the Treasurer's account, 30 Mar., 1683. (Ibid. 5: 393.)

Capt. Richard Sprague was again appointed on a committee to examine the Treasurer's Account by the General Court, 10 Oct., 1683. (Ibid. 5: 416.) He also reported on the audit of the accounts of the "late John Hull, sometime Treasurer, dec'd," 5 Dec., 1683. (Ibid. 5: 427.)

He was appointed by the General Court, 6 May, 1685, on a committee to "revise the lawes." (Ibid. 5: 473.) The committee made its return that they had, "transferred the lawes lately made to their propper heads in the former transcript," 27 May, 1685. (Ibid. 5: 476.)

He was again appointed on a committee by the General Court to take the Treasurer's accounts for the year 1684 and give the Treasurer a full discharge thereupon, 4 June, 1685, (Ibid. 5: 484, 487); and on another committee to consider the affairs of the proprietors of Watertown and reported to General Court, 8 July, 1685. (Ibid. 5: 491.)

He served as a Deputy to the General Court from Charlestown, 11 May, 1681. (Ibid. 5: 308). At this session he was appointed on a committee to inquire concerning the present state of the Province of Maine and the settlement of Fort Loyall. (Ibid. 309.)

Again he served as Deputy from Charlestown, 16 May, 1683, 7 Nov., 1683, 27 May, 1685, and 13 May, 1686. (Ibid. 5: 407, 420, 475, 514.)

The General Court ordered, 16 Mar., 1680/1, that Capt. Richard Sprague "be captaine of the second company in Charlestown, John Cutler, Sr., to be his lieutenant and Joseph Lynde his ensigne." (Ibid. 5: 307.)

He was chosen selectman of Charlestown, 3 Mar., 1689/90.

He was a member of the Council of Safety, at its meetings in 1689 on Apr., 20, 24, 25, 29, 30,

May 1, 2, 3, 4, 6, 7, 8, 10, 11, 20, 21, 22 and 25. He was the representative from Charlestown, 3 June, 1689, and 5 July, 1689, served on a committee appointed to send fifty soldiers to Maine to reinforce the garrisons of several towns. He was Captain of the Charlestown Military Company, 11 July, 1689, but Capt. Richard Sprague et al of Charlestown, having "behaved themselves contemptuously against the Government of this Colony were dismissed from military office."

The administration of Edmund Andros ended 18 Apr., 1689, when the people of Boston seized him and his subordinates and imprisoned them.

Capt. Richard Sprague was again chosen representative from Charlestown and served 31 May, 1693, 8 Nov., 1693, 27 May, 1696, and 25 May, 1698.

On 12 Dec., 1693, he served on a committee to fit out a small vessel to cruise on this coast for the better securing of Trade and Navigation.

Richard Sprague aged forty years or thereabouts [b. near 1631] testifieth and saith that hee being Master of the ship Arabella did for the account and in the behalfe of Mr. Thomas Knight, owner of the said ship in London disburst in money three pounds seven shillings for cloths and other charges and disbursements upon Robert Collins who came to New England in the said ship, a servant to the said Mr. Knight; he also testifieth the said Collins was kept on board with meat, drink and lodgen in the ship upon account of Mr. Knight five weeks before the ship sayled from Gravesend.

Taken upon oath the 11th of Sept. 1671, before Richard Cooke, Commissioner. (Suffolk County Court Files, 1081, Vol. 11: 98.)

Richard Sprague of Charlestown, merchant, "for ye great love wch I beareth to my loving and well beloved Brother John Sprague of Malden" sells him "my Mansion house, outhousing and land lying in Charlestown near ye Meeting-house, bounded west with the Town highway, east wth Mrs. Mary Long, John Nowel and Joseph Kettle, north wth the Town highway and south wth Richard Foster." Also a farm "at ye Neck of Land now in the occupation of William Richardson," containing a dwelling house, barn, outhousing and homestead of four acres. Also four acres "near ye top of Bunker's hill," and other lots, 20 Feb. 1687—eighty-eight years before the battle of Bunker Hill. (Middlesex Deeds, 10: 87.)

It will be observed that Capt. Richard Sprague provided that four silver tankards be given for sacramental use to the First Church of Charlestown. One of them had the following inscription engraved upon it: "This tankard, with three large flagons, was given to the Church in Charlestown by Richard Sprague, Esq.—a liberal benefactor to the Church and poor of said town, A. D. 1703.'' The flagons were sold by vote of the church 17 June, 1800. (Budington's History of the First Church of Charlestown, 240.)

7 Lt. Samuel's Sprague (Lt. Ralph, 2 Edward) was baptized at the First Church of Boston, 3 June, 1631 or 1632; died at Malden, 3 Oct., 1696, aged 65. He married in Boston, 23 Aug., 1655, Rebecca Crawford, only daughter of John Crawford, who was drowned in the Charles River at Watertown, 12 Aug., 1634. Her mother Winifred —, married (2) John Wolcott of Watertown, and (3) Thomas Allyn of Barnstable. (Bond's Watertown 668, and Thomas Allyn's Will.) Rebecca was born near 1633 and married (2) at Malden, 24 June, 1697, Capt. John Brown of Reading (now Wakefield). She died at Reading, 8 July, 1710, in her 77th year and was buried in what is now Wakefield.

The division of the estate of Lt. Samuel Sprague of Malden who died intestate was made, 3 Oct., 1696. It mentions his widow Rebecca, eldest son Samuel Sprague, youngest son John Sprague, son-in-law John Dexter who married Winifred daughter of the deceased, his son-in-law Ebenezer Austin who married Rebecca, another daughter of the deceased. Witnesses: Phineas Sprague, Samuel Howard and James Converse. (Middlesex Probate, 9: 146-151.)

Children, born at Malden:

i. Rebecca, ⁴ d. 15 Aug., 1658.

ii. Samuel, b. 4 May, 1660; d. young.

14 iii. Samuel, b. — May, 1662.

iv. Rebecca, b. — Sept., 1666; d. young.

15 v. John, b. near 1670; alive 3 Oct., 1696.

vi. Winifred, b. 3 Dec., 1672; m. Dea. John Dexter of Malden. She d. at Malden, 5 Dec., 1752, a. 80. One of her sons was Rev. Samuel Dexter (1700-55), a graduate of Harvard College in 1720, and minister at Brimfield, Medford, Westborough, Yarmouth and Dedham.

vii. Rebecca, b. in 1675; m. 27 Jan., 1691/2, Ebenezer Austin of Charlestown; d. at her son's in Boston, 10 Nov., 1769, a. 94. (Boston Gazette of 13 Nov., 1769.)

Lt. Samuel Sprague (c. 1631-1696) with his sister Mary Sprague made choice of his uncle Richard Sprague of Charlestown for his guardian, 7 Oct., 1651.

He was fined twenty shillings and costs in 1672, for "enterteyneing persons in his family at unreasonable times." (Middlesex Court Records, 3:34.)

Mr. Corey tells an interesting story illustrative of Mr. Sprague's character. It appears that Thomas Shepherd called Samuel Sprague "a bays villaine" and said, "when ever I see you mye spirit Rises at you and Wherever I meet with you I shall Remember you." Thomas Mudge, a Malden boy, "did heare Thomas Shepherd: strike Samuel: Sprague two blows." Mr. Sprague struck not back but said: "what dost thou meane to playe the foole: I: am Resolved: I: will: not strike." (Corey's History of Malden, 122.)

His horse was impressed for military service in King Philip's War in Aug., 1675. (Mass. Archives 67: 265.)

He was chosen Sergeant of the Malden Foot Company in 1682, and was appointed on a committee to repair the meeting house, 28 Aug., 1682.

Sergeant Samuel Sprague was ordered by the Selectmen of Malden to be a tithingman* in the meeting house on the Lord's Day, alternating first in the gallery and then on the floor below, 27 Oct., 1684. (Corey's History of Malden, 344.)

Sergeant Samuel Sprague was appointed Lieutenant of the Malden Foot Company of which his brother John was commissioned Captain, 4 June, 1685. (Mass. Bay Colony Records, 5: 483.) He resigned this office in 1689.

He wrote a letter to Rev. Michael Wigglesworth dated 22 July, 1687, which letter was extant in 1849.

He was commissioned "to joyne with the Townes men to make the country rate, in Aug., 1687." (Corey's History, pp. 280, 350.)

He was appointed on a committee to defend

^{*}A Tithingman in early New England days was an officer elected each year to exercise a general moral police (derived from the constabulary functions of the English tithingman) in the town. His functions were confined to preserving order during divine service and enforcing attendance upon it. In Malden the tithingman was elected each year at the annual town meeting till 4 Mar., 1844, when it was voted "to dispense with the choice of a tythingman."

The tithingman in New England, 1630 to 1820, was a Sunday Constable whose special duty it was, in the old parish meeting houses, to quiet the restlessness of youth and to disturb the slumbers of the aged. (Century Dictionary 8: 6356.)

the town of Malden from further demands of Rev. Benjamin Blackman, 21 May, 1688. (Ibid. 255.) And was made a freeman of the Massachusetts Bay Colony, 22 Mar., 1689/90.

He was elected a selectman of Malden, 2 Mar., 1680/1, and again 8 Mar., 1686/7, and was chosen moderator of the town meeting, 28 Jan., 1694/5.

It is stated in the Ralph Sprague Genealogy that his "house in Malden stood on the south side of the present Pleasant street, east of the river and not far from the Coytmore mill."

He was appointed Clerk of the Writs to take account of all Births and Deaths in and to act in said office according to the order of the President and Council. Apparently he served from 1686 to 1693.

"Clark" Samuel Sprague had 8 acres 40 poles granted to him in the First Division, 8 acres 40 poles in the Second Division, 2 acres 119 poles in the Third Division, one acre 5 poles in the Fourth Division and 2 acres 119 poles in the Second Division, west side, of the commons of Malden, 30 May, 1695. He was chosen tithingman, 9 Mar., 1695/6.

In Bell Rock Cemetery his inscription reads:

HERE LYES YE BODY OF LIEUTENANT
SAMUEL SPRAGUE
AGED 65 YEARS
DIED OCTOBER 3

YE MEMORY OF YE JUST IS BLESSED.

8 Ensign Phineas' Sprague (Lt. Ralph, Edward) was baptized at Charlestown, 31 July, 1637; died at Malden, 23 Jan., 1690/1. He married (1) at Malden or Charlestown, 11 Dec., 1661, Mary Carrington, daughter of Edward and Elizabeth Carrington of Charlestown. She was born near 1642 and died at Malden, 7 Dec., 1667. Her father in his will proved 29 Sept., 1684, gave to his granddaughter Mary Sprague "the end of house that Elizabeth Stacy lives in." He married (2) at Malden, 5 Jan., 1669/70, Sarah Hasey, daughter of Lt. William and Sarah Hasey of Boston and Reading. She married (2) in 1691, Moses Tyler of Andover. She died at Andover, 3 May, 1718.

Child by first wife, born at Malden:

i. Mary, called eldest daughter, m. before 21 Oct., 1687, Fownell Everton of Charlestown. Edward Carrington, her grandfather, gave her a legacy in 1684. She was a widow living in Boston, 18 Feb., 1703/4.

Children by second wife, born at Malden:

- ii. Phineas, b. 27 Dec., 1670; eldest son; d. before 11 Apr., 1704.
- iii. William, b. 21 Nov., 1672; second son; d. before 11 Apr., 1704.
- iv. Ralph, b. Nov., 1674; third son; d. before 11 Apr., 1704.
- v. Martha, b. —, 1676; "bewitched" in the delusion of 1692; m. at Andover, 5 June, 1701, Richard Friend of Salem, a seaman.
- vi. Katherine, b. near 1682; m. at Andover, 3 May, 1705, Capt. Timothy Johnson of Andover. She d. there 22 Feb., 1758, in her 77th year.
- vii. Asa, fourth son, d. at Boxford, 3 Apr., 1693.

viii. Sarah, b. 23 Apr., 1686; m. at Andover, 13 Jan., 1702/3, Ebenezer Stevens of Andover, a weaver. (See p. 73, above.)

ix. Joanna, b. 17 Apr., 1688; m. at Andover, 25 May, 1708, James Frye, Jr., of Andover.

x. Abigail, b. 1 Mar., 1690/1; m. 28 Mar., 1710, at Andover, Daniel Lovett of Mendon. She d. at Mendon, 13 Apr., 1718.

Ensign Phineas Sprague (1637-1691) was three times a soldier in King Philip's War. His first service was in Major Simon Willard's Company being credited there, 24 Aug., 1675. He next served in Lt. William Hasey's Company and received six shillings, 5 Oct., 1675. His third service was in Capt. Thomas Wheeler's Company for which he received £1: 12: 4 on 24 June, 1676. (Bodge's Soldiers in King Philip's War, 114, 126.)

He was selected in Feb., 1678/9, to act with the selectmen of Malden in settling with Rev. Benjamin Blakeman, colleague of Rev. Michael Wigglesworth, and to purchase Mr. Blakeman's land which was to be and remain forever for the use of the ministry. On 4 Mar., 1678/9, they took the deed.

The town of Malden voted that he should be "joined to the Townes men in repairing the meeting house," 28 June, 1686. (Corey's History of Malden, 212).

He was appointed Ensign of the Malden Foot Company and confirmed by the General Court, 11 July, 1689. (Mass. Bay Colony Records, 6:61).

He was made a freeman, 22 Mar., 1689/90, and chosen representative from Malden to the General Court, 1 July, 1689, sharing the honors with his brother Capt. John Sprague also of Malden, but was not present at the sessions of the General Court.

The estate of Phineas Sprague, late of Malden, dec'd, was administered upon 13 Oct., 1691, mentioning his widow and ten children. Inventory amounted to £449:2:6. The committee to divide the property called Phineas ye eldest son, William ye 2d son, Ralph ye 3d son, Asa ye 4th son, Mary (now Everton) ye eldest daughter, Martha ye 2d daughter, Katherine ye 3d daughter, Sarah ye 4th daughter, Johannah ye 5th daughter, and

Abigail ye 6th daughter. (Middlesex Probate, 21082.)

Final settlement of the estate did not take place until 18 Feb., 1703/4. On that date his heirs sold their entire farm, partly in Malden and partly in Charlestown to Jacob Wilson of Malden for £290. The deed mentions the following as heirs: Mary Everton of Boston, widow, eldest daughter, Richard Friend of Salem, seaman and his wife Martha, Katherine Sprague of Andover, spinstress, Ebenezer Stevens of Andover, weaver and his wife Sarah, Joanna Sprague and Abigail Sprague, both of Andover, spinsters and Moses Tyler of Andover, husbandman and Sarah his wife, formerly relict of the said Phineas Sprague. (Middlesex Deeds, 13: 545.)

Mary Everton of Boston, widow, eldest daughter of Phineas Sprague, late of Malden, dec'd 21 Jan., 1690/1, have received of my honored father's estate and of the estate of three of my brethren viz. Phineas, William and Ralph the whole sum of £47 in money in full of my portion of said estates and I acquit my father-in-law Moses Tyler and my mother-in-law Sarah Tyler, administrators to my said father's estate of any further demands, 11 Apr., 1704. (Middlesex Probate, 13: 536.)

The sons of Ensign Phineas Sprague of Malden died before 11 Apr., 1704. These sons were not included among the heirs to his estate, 18 Feb., 1703/4.

His inscription in Bell Rock Cemetery reads as follows:

HERE LYES THE BODY OF PHINEHAS
SPRAGUE AGED 53 YEARS DIED YE 23 OF JANUARY 1690/1.

FOURTH GENERATION

9 John⁴ Sprague, Jr. (Capt. John,³ Lt. Ralph,² Edward¹) was born at Malden, 9 Mar., 1651/2; and was killed by a limb of a tree of his own felling at Malden, 16 Dec., 1703, aged 51 y. 9 m. 6 d. He married near 1676, Elizabeth Stower, daughter of Richard and Joanna Stower of Charlestown. She was born near 1652 and died at Malden, a widow, 28 Sept., 1736, in her 85th year.

Children, born at Malden:

- i. Elizabeth,⁵ b. near 1677; m. near 1697, Samuel Sweetser of Charlestown and Malden. He was b. at Charlestown, 1 Aug., 1673; d. at Malden, 18 July, 1757, a. 83. She d. at Malden, 12 Mar., 1751/2, a. 75. Ten children.
- 16 ii. Stower, b. near 1683.

iii. John, b. 28 July, 1685; d. before 16 Dec., 1703.

iv. Abiah, b. 21 Aug., 1687; m. at Charlestown, 17 May, 1708, William Boardman of Lynn (Saugus) and Chelsea. He d. 10 Oct., 1753, in his 68th year. Eight children.

v. Mary, b. 27 Nov., 1689; m. at Charlestown, 7 Apr., 1715, Nathaniel Tufts. She d. at Charlestown, 15

Dec., 1715, in her 27th year. No children.

vi. Hannah, b. near 1692; placed under guardianship of her mother, 8 May, 1704, aged 12 years and upwards. She was alive and unmarried, 20 July, 1732.

John Sprague (1652-1703) served in Major Simon Willard's Company in King Philip's War and was credited to Malden Towne, 24 Aug., 1676, with seven shillings for his services. (Bodge's Soldiers in King Philip's War, 126, 375.)

He was chosen a surveyor at the town meeting in Malden, 30 Dec., 1678, and was a constable of Malden, 25 Sept., 1686. (Corey's History of Malden, 278, 340.)

His wife's father early erected "a house of entertainment" which stood in that part of old Malden (now Everett) at the southerly junction of Broadway and Bow street. Richard Stower died 10 July, 1693, and the house came into possession of John Sprague and remained in possession of Mr. Sprague and his descendants after the beginning of the nineteenth century. It was standing until 1894, and was later known as the Flagg house. It stood in early times next to Penny Ferry on Mystic Side. Here Samuel Sewall visited 21 Feb., 1697/8.

As his home was a long distance from the meeting house, the town allowed him to set two stables near the meeting house in Jan., 1698/9. (Ibid. 290, 211.) He took a lease of "White Island and sedge bank by it"—the land now in the Mystic which is crossed by the Eastern division of the Boston & Maine R. R.—for a period of seven years from 6 July, 1697. (Ibid. 493.)

In the course of time it became necessary to make an addition to the Malden meeting house and 19 June, 1702, John Sprague and three others in behalf of "all ye Inhabitants of Mistickside: y^t are our Charlestown naightbours promised £30, provided this meting will pas a vote to Remove ye pulpitt to ye west side and that the Charlestown neighbors shall have a right to seats under the same rules as the inhabitants of Malden have."

14 June, 1703, John Sprague, Sr., and others gave up their seats in the meeting house to the town in order to enlarge the house, and 5 Nov., 1703, it was voted that John Sprague et al. have "liberty to finish up yt vacant place between Col. Pages pew and ye stayres: flush out with Col. Page's pew: and it shall be for them and there wifes conveneanc."

Mr. Sprague's premature death undoubtedly prevented this work, for in 1704, Samuel Stower of Mystic Side and his sister Widow Elizabeth Sprague had "liberty to buld a pew on ye east side of ye south dore provided yt when either of these parsons dye or remove from this meting: yt there pew shall return to ye town." (Corey's History, 209, 213.)

Mr. Sprague was made a freeman, 22 Mar., 1689/90. His widow made her will, 20 July, 1732, and it was probated 29 Nov., 1736. In it she mentions her son Stower Sprague and his son John, her daughters Elizabeth Sweetser, Abiah Boardman and Hannah Sprague, her sister Sarah Emerson of Charlestown to be executrix and her grandchildren, viz: John, Elizabeth and Mary Sprague, Joseph Sweetser, Elizabeth Tufts and John Boardman, Mary Boardman and Sarah Boardman and her great grandchild Elizabeth Sweetser. (Middlesex Probate, 20: 314.)

He was called John Sprague, Jr., on the town records of Malden, 1678 to 1692; chosen surveyor,

30 Dec., 1678; constable, 8 Mar., 1686; and a committee to run the line between Charlestown and Malden, 13 Mar., 1687. (Malden Town Records, 1678-1764.)

In the ancient Bell Rock Cemetery his inscription and his wife's read:

Jonathan Sprague (1656-1731) was a soldier in King Philip's War. He served in Capt. Thomas Wheeler's Co. and was stationed "at the garrison at Groton," 30 Nov., 1675, when he received for his services £3 (Bodge's Soldiers in King Philip's War, 360); and in Capt. Daniel Henchman's Co. 24 Aug., 1676, and was credited "to Malden Towne with £4: 2: 4" for his services on that day. (Ibid. 58, 375.)

His son John was a grantee of Narragansett Township No. 2 (Westminister), 17 Oct., 1733, in right of his father Jonathan Sprague. (Ibid. 418.)

According to his petition, dated 8 Oct., 1689, Jonathan Sprague of Malden belonged late to the Three County Troop. (Corey's History of Malden.) He was elected to various town offices in Malden, viz.: an assessor, 20 July, 1694; a member of a committee concerning the wood on the west side of mill brook, 23 Sept., 1695; tithingman in the meeting house, 8 Mar., 1696/7; member of a committee, 1 Sept., 1699; member of the committee to build the addition to the meeting house, 16 June, 1702; member of a committee of the north side of Malden to nominate a committee to locate the new meeting house in Malden, 17 Nov., 1727. (Corey's History, pp. 211, 213, 345, 394, 505.)

Again he was a member of the committee to agree with Nathaniel Waite "for his beeing a scoolmaster this yeer," in May, 1706.

The Town "voted yt ye schoolhous shall be set between ye pound and John Wilsons hous"— (between the site of the old Engine House on Main street and the boulder in front of the First Baptist Church)—20 Nov., 1711, and the next Town Meeting, 7 Mar., 1711/12, chose Jonathan Sprague a member of the committee "to set out ye spot of Ground whare ye schoolhous shall stand," in Malden Square. (Corey's History of Malden, 604, 614, 615.)

Jonathan Sprague was chosen constable of Malden, 3 Oct., 1692, and was licensed to keep a tavern from 1701 to 1706 — supposed to have stood in "Scandan," on the south side of Granite street in the Maplewood section of Malden. (Ibid.

He was chosen hogreeve, 8 Mar., 1686; surveyor, 21 May, 1688, 12 Mar., 1693/4, chainman in surveying, 28 Jan., 1694/5, and again surveyor, 1 Mar., 1707/8, 3 Mar., 1711/12; fence viewer, 8 Mar., 1696/7; tithingman, 7 Mar., 1697/8, and 5 Mar., 1704/5; selectman, 27 Mar., 1699, and 7 Feb., 1720/1; and served on committees 1 Sept., 1699, 13 May, 1701, 20 July, 1702, 11 May, 1708, 28 Nov., 1712, and 29 Mar., 1721. He had "liberty to build a stable against ye bell rock on the Town's land near the meeting house to shelter his horse on Sabbath days," 5 Mar., 1710/11. (Malden Town Records, 1678-1764.)

HIS ESTATE.

Whereas the Judge of Probate hath settled two thirds of the real estate of Jonathan Sprague, late of Malden dec'd, upon his eldest surviving son John Sprague of Charlestown, gunsmith, the estate being £429:8:9 and is divided as follows: to Hannah Sprague daughter of Jonathan Sprague dec'd who was eldest son of the deceased nothing, her father having received £330 in his lifetime; to Lydia now Goodwin, daughter of dec'd £78:4:3; to the children of Eunice, late daughter of the dec'd, viz. (Middlesex Probate, 36: 135.)

The heirs at law and guardians on 28 Aug., 1738, were: Jonathan Sargeant and Mary Sargeant, a daughter; David Sprague, a son; Samuel Sprague, guardian of Bunker Sprague's children; John Goodwin who married Lydia and Samuel Goodwin, a grandson; Joseph Ingraham and Hannah Ingraham, a daughter; Eleanor Sprague, a granddaughter of Joseph Sprague; Jonathan Sprague, a son of Joseph; Ebenezer Stedman; Joseph Cook, grandson; Eunice Cook, a granddaughter.

John Sprague, the third son, inherited the real estate and was ordered to pay his brothers Joseph, David and Bunker and to his sisters Lydia, Eunice and Mary, or their legal representatives, their shares, 28 May, 1738. (Ibid.)

Elizabeth Tuttle, now wife of Elisha Tuttle of Boston, was guardian to Hannah Sprague abovenamed.

John Goodwin of Charlestown, housewright, and his wife Lydia and Joseph Cook of Cambridge were guardians for his children

Joseph and Eunice Cook.

Joseph Sprague of Cambridge, sadler, Jonathan Sergeant of Malden and his wife Mary, David Sprague of Charlestown, founder, and Samuel Sprague of Malden, yeoman, were guardians to Samuel and Mary Sprague abovenamed, being heirs of Jonathan Sprague dec'd.

Ralph, Edward Nas born at Malden, 21 Feb., 1658/9, and died there 11 or 12 Nov., 1743, aged 84. He married in Boston, 5 June, 1695, Lois Burrill, daughter of John and Lois Burrill of Lynn. She was born at Lynn, 27 Jan., 1671/2; died at Malden, 6 Apr., 1696, aged 24. Their child died. He married (2) Elizabeth — who died at Malden, 30 June, 1748. No children survived.

He was chosen surveyor* of Malden, 1 July, 1689; committee to lay out land, 2 Nov., 1689; constable, 11 Mar., 1694/5; granted 11 acres, 86 poles in the sheep pasture on the west side of mill brook, 30 May, 1695; had liberty with seven others of a piece of land near "ye meeting hous" to set a stable on, 6 Jan., 1698/9; on a jury at Cambridge, 1 Sept., 1699; fence viewer, 2 Mar., 1701/2; surveyor, 1 Mar., 1702/3, and 6 Mar., 1709/10; selectman and assessor, 3 Mar., 1711/12; selectman, 2 Mar., 1713/14; fence-viewer same year and 6 Mar., 1712/13; selectman, 5 Mar., 1715/16; town clerk, selectman and assessor, 4 Mar., 1716/17; selectman, 7 Feb., 1720/1. (Malden Town Records, 1678-1764.)

He was chosen town clerk of Malden, 1 Mar., 1730/1, and moderator of town meetings, 6 Sept., and 13 Nov., 1734.

Samuel Sprague, Sr. (1659-1743), of Malden must be distinguished from Samuel Sprague, Jr., and Samuel Sprague, 3d, contemporaries there.

Samuel Sprague, Sr., in behalf of his mother Sprague (who was a widow from 1692 to 1715) gave up to the town his right to seats in the meeting house in order to enlarge it, 14 June, 1703. (Corey's History of Malden, 214.) He was one of the Malden assessors, 6 Mar., 1709/10. (Ibid. 351.) He was one of the committee to provide a "Scoolmastar" for Malden, 20 Nov., 1710, and procured Samuel Wigglesworth of Administration on the estate of Mrs. Dorothy Sprague, late of Malden granted to her son Timothy Sprague, miller, (William the eldest son being present and consenting), 11 Aug., 1727. (Ibid. 17: 515.)

THE COYTMORE MILL

Thomas Coytmore, one of the early inhabitants of ancient Charlestown, "in consideration of building a Corne Mill at Misticke side" was granted land by the aforesaid town, 21 Jan.,

1640/1. "The end of his Lott" was "betwixt ye Mount Prospect and the River... in case hee goe on with building the Mill... if hee doe not hee is then to leave four acres to the use of such as shall have liberty to build ye Mill."

It is apparent that Mr. Coytmore built the mill, for on 27 Aug., 1641, the town of Charlestown granted "yt Thos. Coitmore should have one daies worke throughout the whole Towne, to helpe to breadthen a Dam (at the Three-Mile Brook) to [make] A convenient highway for horse and cart."

According to the deposition of Nathaniel Ball made 1 Apr., 1701, Thomas Coytmore and his heirs employed Abraham Hill of Malden to take charge of this mill. He was the miller from 1642 to 1670.

The mill itself was located at first down on Three-Mile Brook half a mile or thereabouts below the mill pond and the water was carried to the mill in troughs and frames for a time.

Mr. Coytmore died 27 Dec., 1644, and the mill came into possession of his heirs. His widow married successively Gov. John Winthrop and after his death, John Cogan (Coggan). The last marriage occurred 10 Mar., 1651/2. Mr. Cogan died 27 Apr., 1658.

The Coytmore mill was removed from its original site to a new site near the mill pond during the period that John Cogan and his wife were the principal owners of it.

The Coytmore heirs disposed of their rights to John Cogan and at his death it was devised to his heirs. From 1658 to 1666 it was owned by the heirs of John Cogan.

The heirs of Mr. Cogan, viz. Jacob Green for himself and for his brother-in-law Thomas Robinson and for Joseph Robinson sell the "water corne millne in Malden and 40 acres of land to the same belonging" to Job Lane, 29 Feb., 1666.

They confirmed his title 5 Aug., 1695.

On 23 Sept., 1706, Benjamin Whittemore deposed that "he hath known the Malden Corn Mill on Mistick side for the space of fifty years [since 1656] and he the doponent did hire the aforesaid mill of Mr. Job Lane, late of Malden, dec'd, about thirty years ago [1676] for ye space of seven or eight years . . . and that Edward Sprague is now in ye possession of ye sd mill, with Dams," etc.

Job Lane of Malden made his will, 28 Sept., 1696, in which he gave unto his "daughter Dorothy Sprague the east end of my dwelling house I now live in with my mill and land adjoining and my salt marsh and land adjoining and likewise the west end of my dwelling house after my wife leaveth it."

The ancient Coytmore Mill site and the land adjoining came into possession of Capt. Edward Sprague and his wife in 1697 and remained in possession of the family for nearly one hundred years. A grandson, Matthew Whipple Sprague, finally disposed of his interest in the water privilege, 10 Aug., 1825,—one hundred twenty-eight years after his grandparents inherited it from his great grandparents.

The inventory of Job Lane mentions, "the homstedd, viz. one dwelling hous, barne, corn mill, stream, dams and ponds, with 22 acres of land adjoining."

This land was between Main and Washington streets on the north of Pleasant street in Malden.

After the death of the widow of Capt. Edward Sprague, commissioners set off to their son Timothy Sprague the "Corne Mill in Malden upon the homestead lands, with the mill pond and all the flatts of the said pond thereto adjoining."

This property included the site of the Cochrane Works, the Armory and Coytmore Lea.

JOB LANE'S TITLE TO THE COYTMORE MILL.

Jacob Green of Charlestown, merchant, for myself and as attorney to my brother-in-law Thomas Robinson of Boston, cordwinder, and Sarah Robinson attorney to my husband Joseph Robinson of Boston, cooper, for £10 release and quitclaim unto Job Lane of Malden, carpenter, all the estate which said Jacob Green, Thomas Robinson and Joseph Robinson now have or may have in that Water Corn Milne in Malden with forty acres to the same appertaining being in two severall parcells one whereof containing twenty-five acres, part meadow and part upland adjoining to said Milne, bounded with Capt. Jno Waite north, by Charlestown Common northwest and the highway west and south, part of the sd twenty-five acres lying in a certain Neck and bounded northeast with the highway and the Creek yt comes up to the Bridgewards south, elsewhere by Lt. Spragues land.

The other part of sd forty acres being swampy land containing about fifteen acres, bounded by Abraham Hills land northwest, Nathaniel Rands southwest, William Luddingtons land south east, Mr. Bunkers east as specified in a deed to said Lane bearing date 29 Feb., 1666, under the hand and seal of Mr. Joseph Rock provided neverless that in case that any of Mr. Coitmore's heirs shall at any time hereafter legally eject and disposses the said Job Lane from the said premises then Jacob Green for himself and as attorney aforesaid promises to repay the sum of £10. Signed 5 Aug., 1695. (Middlesex Deeds, 10: 407.)

28 viii. Samuel, b. 27 Sept., 1712.

Phineas Sprague (1666-1736) settled on a portion of his father's farm south of Ell Pond in what is now Melrose. After his father's death he and his brothers lived in a house which stood where now (1900) stands the residence of Frank L. Hinckley, 123 West Foster street, near the junction of Florence, Vinton and Maple streets. The house which he built was standing in 1795 and appears on the map of Malden of that year. It was an old house in 1805.

The old well belonging to his homestead with its ancient well-sweep was on the opposite side of the street near where now stands (1900) the beautiful and symmetrical elm tree. The spot is now covered by Florence street which was then only a pathway. The old house was occupied from 1693 to as late as 1850. (Goss's History of Melrose, 82.)

He was made a freeman 22 Mar., 1689/90.

On 3 Apr., 1728, he was among "ye inhabitants in Malden on ye north side of ye River being warned to meet at ye meeting house ye third day of April" to act "concerning placeing of ye new meeting hous in Malden." (Corey's History of Malden, 510.)

He was granted 17 acres 53 poles in the First Division, 17 acres and 53 poles in the Second Division, 5 acres and 133 poles in the Third Division, 2 acres and 26 poles in the Fourth Division and 5 acres 133 poles in the Second Division on the west side of the commons of Malden, 30 May, 1695. He was chosen surveyor of highways, 9 Mar., 1695/6, 7 Mar., 1719/20; constable, 8 Mar., 1696/7; committee, 24 May, 1710, 29 Mar., 1721; selectman of Malden, 7 Feb., 1720/1; tithingman in the meeting house, 4 Mar., 1728, and "had liberty to build a stable on the Town's land near the meeting house against ye bell rock to shelter his horse on Sabbath days," 5 Mar., 1710/11. (Malden Town Records, 1678-1764.)

He and his wife joined in a deed selling the property which came to them by the will of Capt. Richard Sprague of Charlestown, 7 June, 1704.

(Middlesex Deeds, 13:588.)

The inscription from his gravestone in ancient Bell Rock Cemetery (removed to Forestdale) of Malden reads as follows:

Proved 5 Feb., 1738; presented 8 Jan., 1738, by John Sprague. John Sprague of Malden, bricklayer, gave bond with Daniel Green of Stoneham, yeoman, surety in £2000, 5 Feb., 1738. (Middlesex Probate 21094.)

15 John⁴ Sprague (Lt. Samuel,³ Lt. Ralph,² Edward¹) was born at Malden, near 1670, and died apparently after 8 May, 1734. He was a worsted comber and a schoolmaster. Among the early schoolmasters of Malden, John Sprague served at various times from 1693 to 1734. The only John Sprague who was of the right age to render this service was the worsted comber. He must be distinguished from John Sprague, 2d (1652-1703), who resided in the old Flagg house next to Penny Ferry at the junction of Broadway and Bow street in what is now the western part of Everett. The schoolmaster served the town many years after the last named man's death.

From 1693 to 1703 the last named man was called John Sprague, Sr., and the schoolmaster John Sprague, Jr. — terms signifying simply older and younger.

Schoolmaster John Sprague first appears in the town records of Malden in the record of the annual town meeting, 13 Mar., 1692/3. The town clerk recorded the vote as follows: "John Sprague jun" Schoolmaster." (Corey's History of Malden, 602.)

The schoolmaster was elected town clerk of Malden, 27 Mar., 1699. The following vote in his handwriting as town clerk stands on the town records:

[14 Aug., 1699] "John Sprague chose scool-maistar for this present yeer: or for one yeer. It is left to ye selectmen to agree with him what he shall have for his incurigment to keep scool for one yeer." (Malden Town Records.)

On 26 Dec., 1701, the selectmen of Malden appeared at a Court of General Sessions of the Peace at Charlestown and stated "yt they have agreed with John Sprague till next March [1701/2] to be the Schoolmaster."

At the annual town meeting held in Malden, 4 Mar., 1701/2, the town voted:

"John Sprague [is] chose scoolmarster for ye yeer insuing to learn children and youth to reed and wright and to refmetick according to his best skill. And he is to have ten pounds paid him by ye Town for his pains. The scool is to be free for all ye Inhabitants of this town and to be kept at four severall places at four severall times—one quarter of a yeer in a place. In such places whar those five men shall apoint namely Leut. Henry Green, Leut. John Line, Lemuel Jenkins, Tho. Okes and Nathaniel Upham: who are chose by ye town for yt purpose." (Malden Town Records.)

A week later the voters of Malden changed both the teacher and the place for the school. The early schools were kept in private houses but at the annual town meeting, 1 Mar., 1702/3, the town voted: "That ye scool shall be kept in ye watch-hous for this yeer."

On 11 May, 1708, the town again "voted John Sprague Scoolmaster." Ten days later the town again voted "whether the Town will alow John Sprague aight pound for this present year to Be the Towns Scolmaster and the vote pased in the negitife." (Malden Town Records.)

On 8 Sept., 1710, the town entered the following vote:

"This may sartifie whome it may consern y^t we y^e subscribers have agreed with John Sprague to be y^e Town's scoolmastar untill y^e first of March next ensuing this date. Malden Sept. y^e 9: 1710. Henry Green, Jose[ph] Line, Natt Upham."

Where the school was kept does not appear. The first school-house was built in 1712 and on 15 May, 1713, the town voted "That ye school-house shall be improved for a wach-hous when ther is an ocasion And nott to disoblige ye school in sd house at aney time." Mr. Sprague did not accept in 1710.

Twenty-two years passed and the selectmen, still acting as school committee, entered upon the town records in May, 1732, the following:

"Whareas it was Left with the Select men to provide the Town a School mastter for some time not exceeding one year They have agreed with John Sprague to keep School in this Town the term of half a year for the sum of thirty pounds his time beginning the sixth of June, 1732." (Ibid. 623.) This agreement was renewed until 29 July, 1733, and perhaps for six months longer.

The Selectmen of Malden agreed with John Sprague on 24 Jan., 1732/3, to keep school in this town the term of half a year for the sum of £30; his time beginning the 29 Jan., 1732/3. This is the latest reference to the schoolmaster on Malden town records.

Schoolmaster John Sprague was apparently employed to keep a school in Malden at various times from 1692 to 1733. From all that can be learned from the town records and the county records he possessed neither wife nor children. There is no record of his death in the Malden records nor of the settlement of his estate in Middlesex County. He was in active life in Malden from 1692 to 1733 and must be identical with John Sprague of Malden, the worsted comber.

Jonathan Sprague, innholder, Samuel Sprague, yeoman, Samuel Sprague, Jr., blacksmith, Edward Sprague, weaver, Phineas Sprague, yeoman, John Sprague, worsted comber, all of Malden, and Stowers Sprague of Charlestown, for £350 sell John Cutler of Charlestown, anchorsmith, their farm in Charlestown, now in ye occupation of Charles Hunnewell, which was given unto them by the last will of Capt. Richard Sprague, late of Charlestown, decd.

This deed was signed by Jonathan Sprague, Samuel Sprague, Samuel Sprague, Jr., Edward Sprague, Phineas Sprague, John Sprague, Stowers Sprague, Sarah wife of Samuel Sprague, Dorothy wife of Edward Sprague, and Elizabeth wife of Phineas Sprague, 7 June, 1704. (Middlesex Deeds, 13: 588.)

John Sprague of Malden, worsted comber, for £5 sells Nathaniel Green of Malden, carpenter, three acres of land on the west side of Spot Pond brook in Malden, 10 Oct., 1714. Witnesses Samuel Sprague and Samuel Sprague, Jr. No mention of a wife. Acknowledged at Rumney Marsh, 28 Jan., 1714/15, by the grantor. (Ibid. 19: 82.)

John Sprague of Malden, worsted comber, for £12 sells John Dexter of Malden, farmer, a wood lot on the west side of Spot Pond brook of six acres, bounded on the east by Edward Sprague's land, 4 Oct., 1714. Witnesses: Samuel Sprague and Richard Dexter. No mention of a wife. Acknowledged at Rumney Marsh, 28 Jan., 1714/15. (Ibid. 21: 407.)

John Sprague, son of Lt. Samuel Sprague, late of Malden, decd, worsted comber, of Malden, for £200 sells Richard Dexter of Lynn, a tenement and [blank] acres in Malden, bounded easterly on Capt. William Greenland's land, southerly on Samuel Bucknam's land, westerly on the highway, northerly on Nathaniel Upham's land, 10 Feb., 1703/4. No mention of a wife. Acknowledged at Rumney Marsh, 14 June, 1704. (Ibid. 34: 506.)

John Sprague of Malden, worsted comber, for £12 sells John Dexter of Malden, farmer, six acres, a woodlot "in the westside of Spot Pond brook in the Rocks," 4 Nov., 1714. No mention of a wife. (Ibid. 21: 407.)

John Sprague, Sr., of Malden, for £45 sells Matthew Watson of Leicester, 40 acres in Leicester, first laid out to John Lynde of Malden, called an Island or Neck at the Pond meadow. Witnesses: Samuel Sprague and Sarah Sprague, 25 Dec., 1725. (Ibid. 27: 116.)

FIFTH GENERATION

16 Stower⁵ Sprague (John, Capt. John, Lt. Ralph, Edward) was born at Malden near 1683; died at Newburyport, 1768, aged 85 years. He married (1) at Charlestown, 25 Jan., 1709/10, Phebe Brintnall, daughter of Lt. John and Phebe Brintnall of Chelsea. She was born 22 Nov., 1691, and died at Malden, 15 Mar., 1741/2, aged 51 years, 3 months, 22 days. He married (2) at Boston, 6 Oct., 1747, Rebecca Deal of Boston. She died 18 Oct., 1747, aged 32 years, and was buried in King's Chapel Cemetery in Boston.

Stower Sprague lived near the junction of Broadway and Bow street in what is now Everett. In his father's lifetime the farm was on Mystic side in Charlestown. Later it was set off to Malden and in 1870 to Everett. He was chosen a committee "to agree with a schoolmaster for Mistick Side, Charlestown, in 1721." (Corey's History of Malden, 493.) His farm was included in Malden before 28 June, 1727. He was active in the organization of the South Parish of Malden and was one of the grantees of the Meeting House lot there, 6 Aug., 1731. (Ibid. 528.) He was a member of the South Precinct Committee, 23 Jan., 1737/8. (Ibid. 542.)

He was chosen a surveyor, 3 Mar., 1729, and a selectman of Malden, 23 Mar., 1731/2, and again 5 Mar., 1732/3.

William Sprague (1695-1747) lived near the centre of old Malden. He was chosen fence viewer, 2 Mar., 1718/19, 5 Mar., 1721/2; constable, 7 Mar., 1719/20; surveyor, 1 Mar., 1724/5; tythingman for the new Meeting house, 7 Mar., 1736/7, 5

Mar., 1743/4; selectman, 6 Mar., 1737/8, selectman and assessor, 2 Mar., 1740/1, 1 Mar., 1741/2; grand juryman, 7 Mar., 1742/3, and town treasurer from 4 Mar., 1744/5, to the day of his death. He gave the town the Meeting house lot on condition that the town erect the New Meeting House This lot was staked out thereon, 21 May, 1728. at an earlier date. On 28 June, 1727, the town "voted that the new meeting house shall be sett between Lewis bridge (Main street at the Saugus branch railroad crossing) and the Pound (the site of the old engine house demolished in 1922) on the west side of the contry Roade upon a piece of Land now steaked out." There two meeting houses stood from 1728 to 1911 - when the old brick church was demolished.

On 16 Mar., 1747/8, a committee of the town reckoned with Mrs. Dorothy Sprague, executrix of the estate of Mr. William Sprague, town treasurer, late of Malden, deceased. Their report on the town records shows that among others there remains due to Edward Sprague £4:4:7; to Joseph Sprague £8:19:10, and from John Sprague £4:10.

THE MEETING HOUSE LOT, 1728-1911, On corner of Main and Centre streets, Malden.

William Sprague of Malden, farmer, "being in perfect memory," sells "unto the Town of Malden a piece of land purely and entirely for the building and placing a new meeting house upon the said land lying in the Town of Malden between Luises Bridge and the Pound on the west side of ye Road staked out which the Honble Committee chose by the Town of Malden for the ordering the place for the New Meeting house to stand have unanimously agreed on the said ground given by the abovesaid William Sprague to the Town of Malden if they build a new meeting house on it, this sd land is 15 rods long and ten rods wide the length northerly and southerly," bounded easterly on the road, westerly on the land of William Sprague, northerly and southerly on William Sprague. William Sprague and Dorothy his wife in token of her free consent signed 21 May, 1728, in the first year of his Majesty's Reign King George the Second. Witnesses: John Lynde and Samuel Newhall. Acknowledged at Charlestown, 16 Aug., 1729, by William Sprague. (Middlesex Deeds, 28: 275.)

Administration on the estate of William Sprague, late of Malden, decd was granted to his widow Dorothy Sprague with James Hovey, sadler, and Ebenezer Harnden, retailer, all of Malden, 15 Feb., 1747/8.

His homestead consisted of a mansion house, barn and two and one quarter acres behind ye house, bounded eastwardly on the Town road, southwardly on a private way, westerly on Isaac Wheeler, northerly on Ebenezer Harnden, valued at £478: 15. One acre and a half bounded westerly on ye road leading to Stoneham (Washington street) northwardly on John Sprague's meadow, eastwardly on ye Mill Brook, southward on Ebenezer Harnden's meadow; five acres and a quarter called the old mill pasture bounded north and east on ye country road, south on ye Mill brook, west on John Sprague's land. Eighteen lots in Malden. One third to Dorothy Sprague the widow and two thirds to two of ye sons, viz. Edward and Nathan Sprague. The latter to have two-thirds of the homestead. On 14 Aug., 1749, the children were: Edward, Joseph, Nathan, Jonathan, Israel, Mary Waite and Elizabeth. Thomas Waite signed as an heir.

William Sprague of Malden, yeoman, gave a bond in £800 to his son Nathan Sprague, 14 Nov., 1747.

He advanced in his life time to Edward £300, to Mary Waite £200; to Joseph £200. Heirs were Edward eldest son, Nathan, Joseph, Mary Waite, Jonathan, Israel, and Elizabeth, on 14 Aug., 1749. (Middlesex Probate, 21,104.)

24 Timothy⁵ Sprague (Capt. Edward,⁴ Capt. John,³ Lt. Ralph,² Edward¹) was born at Malden, 23 May, 1700; died there, 10 Oct., 1765. He married (1) at Malden, 14 Apr., 1737, Mary Legg, daughter of John and Martha (Stoddard) Legg, born in Boston, 16 Oct., 1711. She died at Malden, 5 Jan., 1739. He married (2) at Malden, 18 Oct., 1759, Sarah Conery of Stoneham, daughter of John and Sarah (Fenson) Conery. She was baptized at Stoneham, 15 Oct., 1738.

Children, by second wife, born at Malden:

41 i. Matthew Whipple, 6 b. 24 Dec., 1760.

42 ii. Timothy, b. 2 Oct., 1762.

iii. Sarah, b. 21 Apr., 1765; m. 6 Dec., 1785, William Punchard of Salem.

Timothy Sprague (1700-1765), the miller, owned 22 acres of land between Main street and Washington street on the north of Pleasant street with a grist mill and fulling mills on Spot Pond brook. His mill was located at a place called "the water falls" at Black Rock—opposite the State Armory of 1922.

HIS MILL.

Timothy Sprague acquired possession through the assignment of a commission of the Probate Court, 12 Apr., 1728, and by purchase from the other heirs of his grandfather Job Lane, 5 Nov., 1730. His brothers and sisters to the number of eight sell to him their rights in the inheritance of their grandfather Job Lane, 25 Nov., 1730.

He was now in the prime of life and enterprising. He erected near the old Coytmore Corn Mill, two Fulling Mills. His ancestor Edward Sprague of Upway in old England was a fuller and owned a fulling mill in that parish nearly a century and a quarter before.

Timothy Sprague was chosen a representative to the General Court from Malden, 23 Mar., 1731/2, 21 May, 1733, and 15 Mar., 1733/4; constable, 1 Mar., 1735/6; surveyor, 1 Mar., 1741/2; committee, 16 May, 1745; fence viewer, 7 Mar., 1747/8.

It was customary in colonial days for the town officers to warn out all new comers to a town who came without purchasing real estate. Occasionally the inhabitants in anticipation of such warning gave notice that a stranger or family had been taken into their homes. So it was with Timothy Sprague as the following record shows:

"Malden July the 28th 1760. This is to notify the selectmen of Malden that I have taken Hannah Conere my wife's sister to live with me and she is aged about ten years old and she is an inhabitant of Stoneham.

Attest Timothy Sprague."

Mr. Sprague was appointed a committee on the Medford bridge controversy, 18 May, 1761.

His executor Joseph Sprague of Leicester took into Timothy Sprague's house, late of Malden, the family of one Joseph Paine on 28 Mar., 1766, and gave notice to the selectmen of Malden.

HIS WILL.

Timothy Sprague of Malden, miller, "being exercised with pain and bodily disorders" made his will 3 Oct., 1765, and it was proved 28 Oct., 1765. He mentions therein his wife Sarah. To his son Matthew Whipple Sprague he gave his grist mill and all the land on ye east side of ye middle wall that divides ye pasture viz. three divisions, with ye marsh and upland at Lewis's Creek, half his buildings at Stoneham, with half ye land on ye west side of ye road and all ye land on east and south side of sd road. Also two acres and a half lying on ye river up stream from ye "To son Timothy Sprague both my Fulling Mills and all ye land to ye west of ye middle wall yt divides ye pasture aforesaid with ye westerly half of ye Garden before ye house and ye orchard northerly of ye house with about half an Acre of land above ye Tainter Hooks* enclosed with a wall and ye Pond. My dwelling house and barn to be equally divided between my two sons and ye water course dams and sluces, also ye Pond and dam and waste at Stoneham to be used improved and maintained in common by my two sons as there shall be occasion." To his daughter Sarah Sprague £26:13:4 at 18. Joseph Sprague of Leicester, blacksmith, to be executor. Witnesses: Nathaniel Jenkins, Jr., Nathan Sprague, Samuel Townsend. The Inventory mentions the dwelling house and barn excluding the widow's part and Mr. Sprague's aged sister's right, £80; the mills and privileges £266:13:4.

Ebenezer Harnden, guardian to Matthew, Timothy and Sarah Sprague, returned his account, 3 Apr., 1782. (Middlesex Probate, 21,102.)

Matthew Whipple Sprague (1760-1837) sells one half of the dwelling house of the late Timothy Sprague and "all my Right to the Land that is near the House and Round the Mill with the Grist mill" to Samuel Tufts, 25 Dec., 1782, and removed to Stoneham.

^{*} Taintor hooks were used at his fulling mills to bring out the nap on the cloth.

Timothy Sprague, Jr. (1762-) sells his part of the same property "with all the mills excepting the grist mill" to Samuel Tufts, 3d, 6 May, 1784.

From Samuel Tufts the property passed to William Barrett, 19 Mar., 1803, and he erected thereon Barrett's Dye House.

25 EBENEZER⁵ SPRAGUE (Capt. Edward, Capt. John, Lt. Ralph, Edward) was born at Malden, 6 Nov., 1701; died at Groton in 1756. His widow died 10 Apr., 1774, aged 67. Her name was Eunice—.

Ebenezer Sprague and his wife were admitted to the First Church of Groton from the First Church of Dedham, 29 Oct., 1732. He resided in the Old Mill district of Harvard.

Ebenezer Sprague is supposed to have been the man of that name who enlisted in Col. Edmund Goffe's Troop of Horse, 19 Aug., and served till 4 Nov., 1724 — eleven weeks, one day. (Mass. Archives, 91: 128.) He was an innholder at Harvard 1737-1747. His daughter Jemima choked to death with dry beans, 5 Sept., 1744. (Nourse's Hist. of Harvard, 517.)

Children, born at Harvard, except first:

- i. Ebenezer, ⁶ b. 21 Jan., 1727/8.
- ii. Nathan, b. 21 Mar., 1732; d. 7 Oct., 1746, a. 14 years.
- iii. Eunice, b. 16 Nov., 1733; m. Capt. Ebenezer Marsh.
- iv. Anna, b. 21 Sept., 1735.
- v. Elizabeth, b. 4 Aug., 1737.
- vi. Mary, b. 28 Dec., 1739.
- vii. Jemima, b. 20 Oct., 1742; d. 5 Sept., 1744.
- viii. Jemima, b. 10 Oct., 1744.

John, Lt. Ralph, Edward was born at Malden, 16 May, 1707; died at Groton, 29 Apr., 1740. He married at Dedham, 30 Oct., 1729, ELIZABETH AVERY, daughter of William and Esther (Hunting) Avery of Dedham. She was born at Dedham, 29 May, 1709. He was received into the First Church of Dedham, 14 Jan., 1727/8, and Elizabeth Avery, 19 May, 1728. They were dismissed therefrom and recommended to the First Church of Groton, 28 Oct., 1733.

Administration on the estate of Hezekiah Sprague, late of Groton, decd, was granted to his widow Elizabeth Sprague with John Gilson, gentleman, and Jonathan Holden, husbandman, both of Groton, sureties, 28 July, 1740. Inventory mentions homestead in Groton, £450; fifty acres in Needham, £280; taken 1 Sept., 1740. (Middlesex Probate, 21,055.)

Children, born at Dedham and Groton:

- i. Elizabeth, b. 2 Sept., 1731.
- ii. John, b. 22 Aug., 1733.
- iii. Jonathan, b. 30 Oct., 1735.
- iv. William, b. 22 Mar., 1738.
- v. Hezekiah, b. 23 May, 1740.

27 Phineas⁵ Sprague (Phineas, * Capt. John, * Lt. Ralph, * Edward ) was born at Malden, 13 Jan., 1700/1; died there, 13 June, 1775, aged 75. He married at Medford, 9 Apr., 1723, Rebecca Lynde, daughter of Joseph and Elizabeth (Tufts) Lynde of Malden. She was born at Malden, 14 July, 1696; died there, 30 Apr., 1788, as widow of Phineas, in her "94th year."

^{*} Tombstone record.

Children, born at Malden:

43 i. Phineas, 6 b. 19 Sept., 1725.

ii. Rebecca, b. 8 Apr., 1730; m. at Malden, 27 Nov., 1751, Joseph Howard of Malden. He d. there, 8 Feb., 1776, a. 49. She d. there, a widow, 18 July, 1790. Seven children.

Phineas Sprague (1701-1775) lived in the Sprague homestead which stood near 123 West Foster street in that part of old Malden which is now Melrose. His grandfather Capt. John Sprague settled on that farm—called the Ell Pond farm—as early as 1652.

He was chosen a tythingman, 4 Mar., 1728, and a constable, 3 Mar., 1745/6.

The old road leading to his house was a private way and the town passed the following vote, 15 Apr., 1751:

"Voted that the town dos grant liberty to Phinehas Sprague, Nathaniel Howard, Samuel Sprague, Thomas Vinton, Benoni Vinton and Phinehas Sprague Jr. to work out their highway rates for the term of three years upon a private way that leads from Jonathan Howards hous to the said Phinehas Spragues."

In anticipation of a warning he gave the following notice:

"To the Selectmen of the town of Malden this is to inform you that on the 20 third of this instant March I took into my house a boy named Daniel Goold he came last from Stoneham. Malden the 27th day of March 1761. Phinehas Sprague."

Again a similar notice is recorded:

"To the Selectmen of Malden. Gentlemen this is to inform you that on the eighthteenth of March last I took into my house in this town the widow Joanna Burditt and her daughter Joanna Burditt, both from Stoneham, and they are in good health. Malden Apr. the 1st 1766 By me Phinehas Sprague"

Phinehas Sprague served as a sentinel in Capt. Caleb Brooks's Troop of Horse from 22 Sept., to 27 Sept., 1746,—a period of six days. His residence is given as Charlestown. (Mass. Archives, 92:37.)

Phineas Sprague of Malden and Phineas Sprague, Jr., of Malden, both served as privates in Capt. Benjamin Blaney's Co. of Militia which marched to Watertown on the alarm of 19 Apr., 1775, by order of Col. Gardner. This service was for one day. (Massachusetts Soldiers and Sailors in the Revolutionary War, 14: 760.)

The fact that both names are on the same military record establishes the fact that both father and son marched together on that ever-to-be-remembered, 19 April, 1775.

In the ancient Bell Rock Cemetery their memorials were placed, as follows:

THIS STONE IS SACRED TO THE MEMORY OF

MY DYING FLESH SHALL REST IN HOPE AND RISE AT THY COMMAND.

HIS WILL.

In the name of God amen, the twenty sixth day of December in the year of our Lord one thousand seven hundred and sixty nine and in the tenth year of his Majesties reign, I Phinehas Sprague of the town of Malden in the county of Middlesex in his Majesties province of the Massachusetts Bay, yeoman, being in a good measure of health in body and of perfect and sound mind and memory, thanks be given unto God: Therefore calling to mind the mortality of my body and knowing that it is appointed for all men once to die, do make and ordain this my last will and testament, that is to say, principally and first of all I give and recommend my soul into the hands of God that gave it, hoping through the merits, death and passion of my Saviour Jesus Christ to have full and free pardon and forgiveness of all my sins, and to inherit everlasting life: And my body I commit to the earth, to be decently buried at the discretion of my executor hereafter named nothing doubting but at the general resurrection I shall receive the same again by the mighty power of God, and as touching such worldly estate wherewith it hath pleased Almighty God to bestow upon me and bless me with, I give demise and dispose of the same in following manner and form that is to say -

First. I will that all my just debts, funeral and probate charges shall be paid and discharged in convenient time after my decease by my executor hereafter named, out of that part of my estate that I herein give to him.

Item. I give and bequeath to Rebecca Sprague my dearly beloved wife the use and improvement of the west end of the dwelling house I now dwell in, so long as she remains my widow (said west end of said house to extend easterly to the middle of the chimney of said house and so from the middle of said chimney due north and south) with only an equal liberty to pass and repass in the entries, and up and down stairs in said house with my son Phinehas Sprague and also I give to my said wife the use and improvement of a garden before said house and the use and improvement of one half of the yard behind said house and a liberty of using the well near said house and of passing and repassing in the path and yard that is before said house and of laying wood in said yard so long as she remains my widow.

Further, I give to my wife all my indoor moveables and houshold goods, to be by her freely possessed and enjoyed and to be at her own dispose for ever (except my gun, sword and hetchel and all my wearing apparell). And also I give to my wife the liberty of keeping a swine to run and feed near said house and also a liberty of keeping dung hill fowles that are to have liberty to go about said house and in my old barn so long as she remains my widow and also I give to my wife the liberty of taking and using so many apples as she may have occasion for, for her own use in summer season and four bushels of apples for the winter season out of my orchards yearly and every year, so long as she remains my widow and also I give to my wife all the use and benefit of one good milk cow to be found, provided and kept by my son Phinehas Sprague yearly and every year so long as my wife remains my widow; said cow to be kept with my said son's cows and as well as he keeps his own cows and also I give to my wife a liberty of riding a horse (suitable for her to ride on) to meeting as she may have occasion, so long as she remains my widow: said horse to be provided, found and kept convenient for her by my said Son.

And also I give to my wife five bushels of Indian meal and two bushels of rye meal and two barrels of cider and four cords of merchantable wood, cut suitably, delivered seasonably, and laid conventienly near the door of said house, annually by my said son. And my will is that my said son Phinehas Sprague shall yearly and every year deliver to my wife said five bushels of Indian meal and said two bushels of rye meal and said two barrels of cider and said four cords of wood a quarter part thereof in each quarter of the year, yearly and every year so long as she remains my widow. Also I give to my wife two lodes of good faggots to be delivered to her near the door of said house annually. And also I give to my wife four dollars annually to be paid to her by my said son Phinehas Sprague yearly and every year so long as she remains my widow and no longer. And also

I give to my wife a hundred pounds of good pork to be paid to her by my said son Phinehas Sprague yearly and every so long as she remains my widow and no longer, except as herein excepted.

Further, my will is (that if my wife should not be married again after my decease) that she shall be decently buried at the discretion of my executor, and at his cost and charge.

Item. I give to my well beloved son Phinehas Sprague his heirs and assigns forever all my whole estate both real and personal and moveable of every name, nature and kind whatsoever that I die seized and possessed of, that is mine either in possession or reversion (except my indoor moveables and household goods, that I have herein given to my wife and except the improvement of those parts of my real estate that I have herein given to my wife so long as she remains my widow as herein mentioned) to be by him my said son Phinehas Sprague freely possessed and enjoyed and to be at his own dispose forever, except as herein excepted, with this condition only that what I herein order him to pay or deliver as executor or otherwise be paid or delivered by him or his heirs executors or administrators as herein ordered but otherwise on default in the payment or delivery therof, that part of my estate I herein give to him shall be responsible for the payment and delivery thereof as herein mentioned. And further my will is and I do hereby constitute, make and ordain my said son Phinehas Sprague my only and sole executor of this my last will and testament.

Item. I give to my well beloved daughter Rebecca Howard her heirs and assigns forever the sum of twenty-six pounds thirteen shillings four pence of lawful money of the province aforesaid to be paid to her by my son Phinehas Sprague within three years next after my wife's decease, viz. one half thereof: and the other half thereof within six months next after my wife's decease, to be by her my said daughter Rebecca Howard freely possessed and enjoyed, and to be at her own dispose forever. And the reason that I herein give my said daughter Rebecca Howard no more is because I think I have given her to the value of Thirty Pounds lawful money already.

Furthermore, my will is that if my wife see reason rather to have the improvement of the third part of my real estate, than to have the yearly dowrie or dowries herein already mentioned, and doth have her thirds set out by order of the Judge of Probate for Wills; my will is that my wife shall have but one half of the indoor moveables and household goods, that I have herein already mentioned, that she should otherwise have had and also of my cows, that she shall choose so long as she remains my widow: And then my son Phinehas Sprague my executor shall be and hereby is acquitted and cleared from paying any part and every part of said yearly dowrie or dowries, that I have herein ordered him to pay to her by this my will.

Further, my will is that if I should leave any other estate, at the time of my decease, that I have not herein already disposed of, I give it to my said son Phinehas Sprague, his heirs and assigns forever.

Furthermore, if said last mentioned cow should grow old or die before my wife's decease: My will is and I hereby order that upon my wife's desire and her sesigning said cow to my said son Phinehas Sprague he shall deliver to my said wife another good milk cow to be used by my wife for her benefit so long as she remains my widow and I do hereby utterly disallow, revoke, and disannul all and every other former testaments, wills and legacies, bequests and executors by me in any ways before this time named willed and bequeathed ratifying and confirming this and no other to be my last will and testament, in witness whereof I have hereunto set my hand and seal the day and year abovewritten

Signed, sealed, published, pronounced and declared by the said Phinehas Sprague as his last will and testament in presence of us the subscribers viz. Jonathan Green

He gave her two cows, the liberty of using a horse to be provided so long as she remains his widow, the keeping of two winter and summer, the improvement of his dwelling house that he bought of Daniel Tuttle so long as she remains his widow, the house to be kept in repair by his executors, twelve bushels of Indian corn, four bushels of Rye, two bushels of malt, seventy pounds of pork, ninety pounds of good beef, eight pounds of wool, twenty of flax, two barrels of cyder, and apples for her use, six cords of wood and four pounds in silver money yearly and every year so long as she remains his widow, etc. To his daughters, Martha Green, Elizabeth Pratt, Mary Pratt, Sarah Stower and Lydia Williams he gave each one seventh part of his estate excepting what is herein ordered to be paid. To his grandchildren, the children of his daughter Lois Green decd one seventh on like conditions. To his grandchildren, the children of his daughter Rachel Hawks decd one seventh. His negroes Ceasar and Peg to be decently supported during their natural lives by his executors. The children of his daughter Rachel Hawks to have their support before they come of age. Proved 19 Apr., 1783. (Suffolk Probate, 82: 307.)

Inventory of the estate of Capt. Samuel Sprague, late of Chelsea decd taken 26 Mar., 1784. Items, his dwelling house in Chelsea bought of Col. Azor Orn with 32 acres adjoining, a house and 32 acres bought of Tuttle in Chelsea, 26 acres of woodland in the north east corner of Malden, three other woodlots in Malden and two woodlots in Lynn — total value £768:15:6; large stock of cattle; printed books, gold sleeve buttons; silver tea spoons, total estate £1081:4:10. (Ibid. 83:246.)

29 Capt. Samuel⁵ Sprague (Samuel, Lt. Samuel, Lt. Ralph, Edward) was born at Malden, 2 Feb., 1688/9; died at Stoneham, 7 May, 1753, in his 65th year. He married (1) at Malden, 20 Mar., 1716/17. Joanna Lynde, daughter of John and Elizabeth (Green) Lynde of Malden. She was born at Malden, 22 Feb., 1696/7; died at Stoneham, 17 June, 1739, aged 43 y. 3 m. He married (2) Mary —, who survived him. She may have married at Stoneham, 23 Nov., 1762, Dea. James Mayes of Boston.

Children, born at Malden:

ii. Samuel, b. 2 Jan., 1719/20.

i. Joanna, 6 b. 31 Dec., 1717; d. unm. after 10 June, 1754.

Benjamin Sprague of Malden made his will, 15 Dec., 1780, and it was lodged in the Probate office, 28 Mar., 1791. He mentions therein his nine children now living, viz. Benjamin, Joseph, Stephen, Asa, William, Phebe, Elizabeth, Mary and Hannah. His wife Phebe to have his estate "for the great care she has taken of me under my long confinement." Witnesses: Stephen Sweetser, Nathan Lynde and Rebecca Barington. Probate 5 Apr., 1791, sets forth that Stephen Sweetser has since deceased. Widow Phebe Sprague executrix. William Sprague served the citation 5 Mar., 1791. Bond £10,000 with Ezra Sargent, Esq., and Nathan Lynde, gentleman, all of Malden sureties. Inventory mentions 45 acres £225 and part of a dwelling £45; total £310: 7: 8. (Middlesex Probate, 21,043.)

Benjamin Sprague (1717-1791) was chosen surveyor of Malden, 6 Mar., 1748/9, 5 Mar., 1753; constable, 5 Mar., 1749/50, 20 Mar., 1760; haward (hay ward), 7 Mar., 1757, 3 Mar., 1760, and 2 Mar., 1761; selectman and assessor, 6 Mar., 1758. His tax for 1759 was £2: 7. Nothing more appears on the town records till, 5 Apr., 1784, when the town "voted to forgive parte of the rates of Benjamin Sprague." This was undoubtedly during his "long confinement."

Benjamin Sprague served as a sentinel in Capt. Caleb Brooks's Troop of Horse, from 22 Sept., to 27 Sept., 1746. His residence is given as Charlestown. At that time his house was within the present limits of Everett about forty rods east of Charlestown line. (Mass. Archives, 92: 37.)

Benjamin Sprague of Malden served as a private in Capt. Benjamin Hasting's Co. of Col. Asa Whitcomb's Regt. at Prospect Hill by a return dated, 6 Oct., 1775. (Mass. Soldiers and Sailors in the Revolutionary War, 14: 746.)

Benjamin Sprague, Jr., of Malden, served as a private in Capt. Benjamin Blaney's Co. of Militia, which marched to Watertown on the alarm of 19 Apr., 1775, for one day. He also served in Capt. Benjamin Hastings's Co. of Col. Asa Whitcomb's Regt. from 26 Apr., to 1 Aug., 1775, — a period of three months, thirteen days. (Mass. Soldiers and Sailors in the Revolutionary War, 14: 749.)

He and his wife Phebe were admitted to full communion in the Second Parish of Malden, 20 Sept., 1747. Twelve of their children were there baptized. On 13 May, 1757, he and his wife with others desired to be dismissed to the First Church of Malden but their request was not granted. They resided in that part of Malden which is now Everett.

33 EDWARD⁶ SPRAGUE (Stower,⁵ John,⁴ Capt. John,³ Lt. Ralph,² Edward¹) was born at Malden, 29 July, 1719. The Ralph Sprague Genealogy confuses him with Edward Sprague (37) the son of William Sprague of Malden. He was not the Edward Sprague who married at Malden, 4 July, 1744, Lydia Howard, and 23 Nov., 1749, Dorothy Skinner. What became of this Edward Sprague is not apparent from Malden records.

34 Samuel⁶ Sprague (John,⁵ Jonathan,⁴ Capt. John,³ Lt. Ralph,² Edward¹) was born at Charlestown, 6 Apr., 1721. He married (1) at Charlestown, 5 Apr., 1744, Margaret Newell, daughter of Joseph and Ann (Phillips) Newell. She was born at Charlestown, 16 Sept., 1722; died there 26 Mar., 1759. He married (2) at Charlestown, 28 May, 1760, Sarah Eaton of Boston. He was a founder by trade. Admitted to the First Church of Charlestown, 5 Apr., 1741, and wife Margaret, 14 Oct., 1744. He was living at Charlestown in 1773. Sarah Sprague, widow of Samuel, is perhaps the one who died in Boston, in Mar., 1786, aged 56. (Mass. Magazine.)

Samuel Sprague of Charlestown appears as a private in Capt. John Codman's Co. 22 Sept., and 23 Sept., 1746 — two days. (Mass. Archives, 92: 60.)

Child by first wife, born at Charlestown:

i. Margaret, b. 3 Dec., 1744; m. Col. David Wood, Jr., of Charlestown.

Children by second wife, born at Charlestown:

- ii. Samuel, bp. 26 Feb., 1764.
- iii. Sarah, bp. 7 July, 1765.
- iv. Mary, bp. 28 June, 1767.
- v. Jenny Day, bp. 26 Dec., 1773.

John, Lt. Ralph, Edward was born at Charlestown and baptized there, 6 Jan., 1728/9; died there, 5 June, 1759. He married in Charlestown, 27 Dec., 1750, Rebecca Gill, daughter of Capt. John and Elizabeth (Abbot) Gill of Charlestown. She was born there, 10 June, 1730; she was taxed in Charlestown, 1764. His heirs claimed for loss in the destruction of Charlestown, 17 June, 1775.

Jonathan Sprague of Charlestown served as a private in Capt. John Codman's Co. 22 Sept. and 23 Sept., 1746—two days. (Mass. Archives, 92: 61.)

Children, born at Charlestown:

- i. David, b. near 1752.
- ii. Elizabeth, bp. 27 July, 1755.
- iii. Michael, bp. 8 May, 1757.
- iv. Moses, bp. 11 Mar., 1759.

Jonathan Sprague of Charlestown, founder, made his will, 22 May, 1759, and it was probated, 19 June, 1759. Therein he mentions his wife Rebecca and his four children David, Elizabeth, Michael and Moses. His wife Rebecca and her brother Moses Gill of Boston, brazier, to be executors. Witnesses: Mich¹¹ Brigden, Timothy Brigden and Seth Sweetser. His inventory mentions two Bibles and other books, 120 s.; pew in the Meeting house £110; bond of Phineas Sprague £202; dwelling house, barn and land adjoyning, £950; land near Moulton's Point, £450; total £3170: 18. (Middlesex Probate, 21,071.)

36 Samuel⁶ Sprague (Bunker,⁵ Jonathan,⁴ Capt. John,³ Lt. Ralph,² Edward¹) was born at Medford, 2 Sept., 1724; died at Malden, 17 Sept., 1797, aged 73. He married at Malden, 24 Jan., 1749/50, Elizabeth Wade, daughter of Capt. Samuel and Lydia (Newhall) Wade of Malden. She was born at Medford, 18 May, 1729; died at Malden, 13 Sept., 1802.

Children, born at Malden:

- i. Bunker, b. 30 Oct., 1750; changed his name to Ebenezer Harnden, 26 May, 1773. (Mass. Acts and Resolves, 6 app. 1.)
 - ii. Elizabeth, b. 26 Jan., 1752; d. 27 May, 1752.
 - iii. Samuel, b. 11 May, 1753.
 - iv. Martha, b. 30 Oct., 1755; m. 28 Nov., 1775, Moses Hall of Malden. Eleven children.
 - v. Elizabeth, b. 9 Feb., 1757.
 - vi. John, b. 7 June, 1758.
 - vii. Simon, b. 2 Feb., 1762.

Samuel Sprague (1724-1797) was chosen fence viewer of Malden, 5 Mar., 1749/50, 4 Mar., 1754, 1 Mar., 1762, 24 Feb., 1767; constable and hogreeve, 4 Mar., 1750/1; fence viewer and constable, 2 Mar., 1751/2; tythingman, 3 Mar., 1755; tythingman and hayward, 1 Mar., 1756; fence viewer and surveyor of wheat, 7 Mar., 1763; hayward, 5 Mar., 1764; committee, 4 Mar., 1765; selectman, 5 Jan., 1773. He was elected a committee of Correspondence "to communicate and correspond with the committee of ye town of Boston and any other towns on ye subject of our present difficulties," by the Town of Malden, 5

Jan., 1773. He was again on a committee of Correspondence, 25 Aug., 1774, 4 Mar., 1776, 5 Aug., 1779; and a committee to draw up instructions for the representative, 20 Sept., 1774; likewise a committee to reckon with the town treasurer of Malden, 6 Mar., 1775.

Samuel Sprague and Samuel Sprague, Jr., were a committee to make a part of the Town's ammunition into cartridges, 25 May, 1775.

On 4 Mar., 1776, Samuel Sprague was chosen a committee to estimate the damages "sundry persons of the Town have sustained from the Continental soldiers stationed in the same"; a committee on Accounts, 20 Sept., 1779, and again, 6 Mar., 1780. He was chosen, 5 Mar., 1781, a committee to take under consideration the Repeal of the Tender Act, and 6 July, 1781, to reckon with the committee that hired the six months' men. He was a committee to present a memorial to the General Court, 14 Jan., 1782, and to consult with the proprietors of the school house by the North Meeting house in Malden, 26 June, 1783, and to procure proprietors to build a new school house near the said North Meeting house.

The abovesaid Samuel Sprague was a very active citizen of old Malden from 1749 to 1783. He was chosen to town office the last time, 26 June, 1783. He could not have been Capt. Samuel Sprague who lived near the Chelsea town line as that man died 15 Apr., 1783.

Samuel Sprague appears as a sentinel in Capt. Caleb Brooks's Troop of Horse, from 22 Sept. to 27 Sept., 1746—a period of six days. (Mass. Archives, 92: 37.)

Samuel Sprague and Ebenezer Harnden, Jr. (son of said Samuel) of Malden for £290:17:2 mortgage to Benjamin Lincoln of Boston, the easterly half of a dwelling house with the land adjoining in Malden, 30 Aug., 1785. Elizabeth wife of Samuel Sprague and Mary the wife of Ebenezer Harnden, Jr., sign the deed with their husbands. (Middlesex Deeds, 89: 298.)

Elizabeth Sprague, widow, and Ebenezer Harnden, yeoman, both of Malden, for $566 sell Samuel Wheeler of the same town, cordwainer, the easterly end of a dwelling and several lots in Malden, 24 Apr., 1799. Mary Harnden, wife of Ebenezer, signs with him. Witnesses: Polly Harnden and Ebenezer Harnden, Jr. (Middlesex Deeds, 134: 80.)

This confirms the fact that their eldest son, Bunker Sprague, changed his name to Ebenezer Harnden, Jr., 26 May, 1773, and was associated with his parents so long as they lived. He probably cared for his mother in her widowhood.

Samuel Sprague was chosen a member of the committee to reconcile those who are disaffected with the union of First and Second Parishes of Malden, 14 Jan., 1793.

Samuel Sprague and his wife Elizabeth were members in full communion of the First Church of Malden, in 1772. He was chosen a delegate to the North Church of Salem, 11 Jan., 1773. He appears as a member of the council, 31 Aug., 1791, and was chosen a member of the committee to call Rev. Aaron Green as colleague pastor, 27 Aug., 1795. He was also selected to wait on the selectmen of Malden and request a town meeting to assist in providing for the council and in attending ye solemnities of the ordination of Mr. Green. (Congregational Church Records.)

Capt. John, Lt. Ralph, Edward was born at Malden, 24 Jan., 1719/20; died there shortly before 19 Aug., 1775. He married (1) at Malden, 4 July, 1744, Lydia Howard, daughter of Jonathan and Mercy (——) Howard of Malden. She was born there, 21 Apr., 1722. He married (2) at Medford, 23 Nov., 1749, Dorothy (Wade) Skinner, widow of Abraham Skinner who died before 5 Apr., 1742, and probably a daughter of Capt. Samuel and Lydia (Newhall) Wade, born at Medford, 22 Feb., 1710/11. Her daughter by her first husband, Dorothy Skinner, was baptized at Medford, 21 Mar., 1742, being in her 3d year and died at Malden, unmarried, 25 May, 1773.

Edward Sprague was a cordwainer. At the town meeting in Malden, 2 Mar., 1746/7, he was chosen hogreeve, and 18 May, 1761; his tax was forgiven him, 14 May, 1747; he was elected surveyor, 4 Mar., 1750/1, 4 Mar., 1754, 5 Mar., 1764, 7 Mar., 1768, and 7 Mar., 1774; selectman and assessor, 6 Mar., 1758; warden, 2 Mar., 1761; tythingman, 1 Mar., 1762, 5 Mar., 1770; fenceviewer, 3 Mar., 1766; surveyor, sealer of leather and hogreeve, 4 Mar., 1771; hayward, 2 Mar., 1772, and warden and surveyor, 6 Mar., 1775.

Child by first wife, born at Malden:

i. Mercy, b. 17 Apr., 1745; m. 2 Oct., 1761, Joseph Burditt of Malden.

Child by second wife, born at Malden:

ii. John, b. 20 Aug., 1750; d. 17 Sept., 1753.

In the settlement of Jonathan Howard's estate there is filed the following paper:

Malden, Dec. 5, 1765. This may certify that I know and acknowledge that Lydia Howard, daughter of Mr. Jonathan Howard, late of Malden, dec'd did about the time she was married to me receive of her sd Father to the value of £26:13:4 in house goods in advance of her portion in her sd Fathers estate and as part thereof.

pr me Edward Sprague.

(Middlesex Probate, 12,156.)

Among the heirs was Ezra Sargeant guardian to Joseph Burditt grandchild of Jonathan Howard dec'd, 26 Apr., 1785. The Judge ordered the administrator to pay to James Sweetser great grandchild of the deceased by his daughter Lydia dec'd, £10:7:

6, on 5 Oct., 1785. (Ibid.)

Administration on the estate of Edward Sprague, late of Malden, cordwainer, dec'd was granted to Joseph Burditt, cordwainer, with James Kettell, innholder, both of Malden, and William Burditt of Medford, housewright, sureties in £300, 19 Aug., 1775. His inventory was taken, 28 Aug., 1775, by Ebenezer Harnden, Thomas Hills and James Kettell. It mentions his "wigg," dwelling house, barn and land adjoining £80, land on the other side of the road £8; one acre over the brook, £12; salt marsh, woodland and fresh meadow; total £191: 10: 7.

On 24 Dec., 1783, his heirs were: Lydia Sweetser, wife of James Sweetser, a granddaughter of the deceased and Anna

Howard, a sister-in-law of the deceased.

Commissioners appraized and distributed the real estate, 3 May, 1784, describing his dwelling and six acres 40 rods whereon the buildings stand, bounded southerly on the road leading to Medford (Pleasant street) easterly on a Lane leading to Stoneham (Washington street), northerly on Nathan Sprague's land and westerly on Capt. Ebenezer Harnden's land. They then set off three pieces to Joseph Burditt, grandson of the deceased, valued at £127:13:9 and to Lydia Sweetser granddaughter of the deceased the homestead and three other pieces of equal value. Final settlement, 6 May, 1784, sets forth that Joseph Burditt and Lydia Sweetser are grandchildren of Edward Sprague by his daughter Burditt who died before her father. (Middlesex Probate, 21,050.)

Phineas Sprague (1725-1805) inherited the old Sprague homestead on West Foster street in what is now Melrose. He was chosen a constable, 3 Mar., 1755.

The town clerk of Malden under date, 2 May, 1785, spread on the records: "A petition from Phinehas Sprague, Phinehas Sprague, Jr., Unite Cox, Ezra Howard and William Upham as followeth:

"Mr. Moderator, please to inform the town that there is a very bad piece of way between the House of Phinehas Sprague and the Cuntry road and see if the town will give us the subscribers liberty to worke out our highway rates in said way for time to come or at all such times as the surveyors shall think needfull. Malden May 2, 1785. Voted, that the petitioners have liberty of working out their rates in the road abovementioned for three years."

Phineas Sprague of Malden, called at his first enlistment Jr., served as a private in Capt. Benjamin Blaney's Co. of Militia which marched to Watertown, on the alarm of 19 Apr., 1775, by order of Col. Gardner. This service was for one day only. (Mass. Soldiers and Sailors in the Revolutionary War, 14: 760.)

He again served as a private in Capt. Benjamin Blaney's Co. from Malden and marched to Point Shirley, 13 June, 1776, by order of Gen. Benjamin Lincoln. This service was for three days. (Ibid. 14:760.)

Phineas Sprague of Malden served as Sergeant of Capt. Stephen Dana's Co. of Col. Josiah Whitney's Regiment which marched to Rhode Island,

3 May, 1777, and served two months, seven days in the vicinity of South Kingston, R. I. (Ibid. 760.)

He was an ardent patriot and was present at the battle of Bunker Hill. S. Osgood Wright in his Historical Discourse delivered in Malden on Thanksgiving Day, 1 Dec., 1831, said of him:

"He was fifty years of age at the breaking out of the war; but was one of the men connected with Capt. [Naler] Hatch's company, mentioned as starting for Concord in the night, after having lain at Beacham's Point during the day. Mr. Sprague [or his father] was very deaf; but his heart was as impervious to fear as his ears were to sound. And when the rest of his party was flying from the view of the enemy, he was seen upon a piece of rising ground swinging his hat and shouting victory." (Bi-Centennial Book of Malden, 1850, p. 177.)

He kept a diary in which he recorded many of the remarkable events of his time. From it his description of the Dark Day, 19 May, 1780, is reproduced in Goss's History of Melrose, 85. From it also is learned of the loss of his son William Sprague who entered the naval service during the Revolutionary War and was never heard from again.

He purchased from Thomas Nickels of Reading a negro woman named Pidge with a negro boy for £33: 6s. 8d. on 25 Apr., 1753, as is learned from the deed of purchase.

During his lifetime he owned several negroes and the late Artemas Barrett of Melrose told an interesting story relating to him in 1876. seems that he was able to make the credulous "darkies" believe that he could find out by arithmetic any mischief that they might do. One day a neighbor complained that he had reason to believe that Mr. Sprague's negro had stolen a cart Mr. Sprague called the negro up and told him he suspected he had been doing wrong and that unless he owned up, he should figure it out. There was no confession, and, so Mr. Sprague took a piece of chalk and a board and sat down to cipher. In a few moments he musingly said: "Links three inches long; links three inches long; what does that mean?" Then turning to his colored servant he said: "Pomp, you have been stealing sausages." Astonished at such arithmetic, Pomp replied: "No, Massa, me no steal sausage, me steal cart chain."

The following story appeared in the Melrose Journal in 1875: Phineas Sprague (1725-1805) grandfather of Capt. Phineas Sprague (1777-1869) of Melrose made a great effort to cross the Mystic River during the progress of the battle of Bunker Hill, but was prevented by an English vessel in the river. At low water there was a foot-way to the channel and a boat to cross with. Being very courageous he tried to cross but was shot at from the vessel. Several times he made the attempt and several times they shot nine-pound balls at him which missing the mark lodged in the bank of the river. He afterwards dug one of the balls out said he wanted to keep it to remember the devils by. That ball was in possession of the writer of the story.

Phinehas Sprague of Malden, yeoman, for $285 sells Cotton Sprague of Malden, yeoman, five pieces of land, all in Malden, "formerly belonging to my grandfather Mr. Phinehas Sprague of Malden who died in the year 1736 and by his last will given to his two sons Phinehas Sprague my father and Samuel Sprague my father's brother; that in the year 1761 I bought Mr. Samuel Sprague's right in said estate for which I have his deed and the half of said estate was given to me in my father's will."

The first piece is pasture being that part that lies before my dwelling house called the plain containing ten acres, bounded northerly beginning by a willow tree near the highway, then northeasterly partly on the highway and partly on land of Joseph Howard till it comes to Spot Pond brook, southerly on said Spot Pond brook to a cedar with stones round it, the corner of Jonathan Sprague's land.

The second piece is one acre lying near the back side of my house [the site of 123 West Foster street, Melrose] bounded easterly on the land of Joseph Howard, northerly on Jonathan Sprague's land and the edge of the rocks, westerly near Jonathan Sprague's land, allowing him a way one rod in width from the bars where the cattle go up the rocks to the bars at his cowyard, southerly on the wall to Joseph Howard's land, 10 Mar., 1802. (Middlesex Deeds, 165: 467.)

Joseph Fowle appears in a list of men belongto Maj. Joseph Richardson's Co., said list being dated at Woburn, 24 Sept., 1755, engaged for the expedition against Crown Point. (Mass. Archives, 93: 202.) He again appears in Col. Eleazer Tyng's Regt. in His Majesty's service, age 29, residence Woburn, enlisted 2 Apr., 1759, for the expedition to Lake George. He was reported to have had his own arms, and took the oath. He also enlisted in Capt. Joseph Newhall's Co. of Col. Jonathan Bagley's Regt. and was in service at Louisburg from 1 Jan., to 30 Mar., 1760, when he was discharged. (Ibid. 97: 162 and 98: 482.)

Inventory of the estate of Joseph Fowle late of Woburn, dec'd apprized 29 Sept., 1760. Sarah Fowle administratrix to the estate of her late husband Joseph Fowle, late of Woburn. She mentions "a journey and expenses to Boston to get the wages due to the deceased for going into His Majesties service 4s. For bringing up and clothing her two youngest children till 7 years old, £9:14:6. The inventory mentions books 3s.; bullet mold, sword and powder horns, 2/6; a Province Note £6; exhibited 6 Oct., 1760." (Middlesex Probate, 8,333.)

Sarah Fowle of Woburn, widow, was appointed guardian unto Samuel, Susannah and Joseph, all under 14, children of Samuel* Fowle, late of Woburn, dec'd, 12 June, 1760. Samuel Fowle, cordwainer, of Woburn was surety. (Ibid. 8,357.)

Administration on the estate of Samuel Fowle, late of Woburn, dec'd, was granted to his widow Sarah Fowle with Samuel Fowle, cordwainer, and Benjamin Richardson, yeoman, all of Woburn sureties, 12 June, 1760.

^{*} These children were Joseph Fowle's and not Samuel Fowle's.

It is apparent that the administration paper contains the name of Samuel Fowle for Joseph Fowle.

Children, born at Woburn to Joseph and Sarah Fowle:

i. Samuel, b. 31 Aug., 1753.

ii. Susannah, b. 23 Jan., 1756; m. at Malden, 2 Jan., 1781, Dr. John Sprague.

iii. Joseph, b. 9 Mar., 1758.

I Phinehas Sprague of the Town of Malden in the county of Middlesex in the Commonwealth of Massachusetts yeoman being in a good measure of health of body and of a sound and disposing mind and memory thanks be given to God therefor calling to mind the mortality of my body and knowing that it is appointed for all men once to die do make and ordain this my last will and testament that is to say principally and first of all I give and recommend my soul into the hands of God that gave it hoping through the merits death and passion of my Saviour Jesus Christ to have free pardon and forgiveness for all my sins and to inherit everlasting life and my body I commit to the earth to be decently buried at the discretion of my executors hereafter named not doubting but at the resurrection of the just I shall receive it again renewed and amended by the mighty power of God and as touching such worldly estate as it hath pleased almighty God to bestow upon me and bless me with in this life I do give demise and dispose of the same in the following manner and form that is to say First I will and order that all my just debts funeral and probate charges shall be paid and discharged in a convenent time after my decease by my executors here after named out of that part of my estate that I herein give to them one half by one of them and the other half by the other of them and I do ordain that within one year next after my decease that there shall be a decent and proper pair of grave stones prepaired and set up at my grave not less than them that now stand at my Fathers grave at the equal cost of my executors and I do will and likewise appoint constitute make and ordain my two sons namely Jonathan Sprague and Cotton Sprague my only sole executors of this my last will and testament.

Item. I give to my beloved wife Sarah Sprague all the goods household stuff that belonged to her before she was married to me that may be found in my house at the time of my decease. I also give to my wife the liberty to take and use so much of my household stuff as she shall need for her own use so long as she remains my wido but she shall not dispose of it nor lend it She shall not take my gun nor my stillyards nor my blue chest that stands in my lower room nor anything that is in said chest and I do order sons shall find my wife two good cowes one to be kept by Jonathan Sprague and the other by Cotton Sprague so long as she remains my wido that the said cows shall keep as well as they keep there own cows winter and summer and drove to pasture and returned with them I give to my wife the east lower room in my dwelling house and the east back kitchen and the back seller and the east end of my back leanto chamber and liberty to keep her sauce in the great seller in the winter. I also give to my wife the improvement of one half of my garden at the east end of my house and behind my house and liberty to go [to] the pump for water at all times and liberty to go into my orchard and take as many apples as she shall need for her own use. I also give to my wife five cord of good firewood yearly to be brought to her door as she need it and cut sutable for her fire the one half to be brought to her by Jonathan Sprague and the other half by Cotton Sprague. I give to my wife one hundred pound weight of good pork and forty pound of good beef yearly and every year so long as she remains my wido I give to my wife six bushels of Indian meal and two bushels of rye meal two barrels of cider four bushel of potatoes half bushel of turnips and four pound of sheeps wool and ten pound of good flax all these things I have given to my wife are to be paid to her yearly so long as she remains my wido and no longer except her own household stuff all these things I order to be paid to her yearly or as often as she needs them the one half by Jonathan Sprague and the other half by Cotton Sprague and in case my said wife should be sick and not able to take care of herself I do order my sons to provide her some person to be with her and take care of her who shall be boarded and paid the equal cost of my executors and further I give to my wife ten dollars a year to be paid to her quarterly in money every year during her natural life one half by Jonathan Sprague and the other half by Cotton Sprague I give to my wifes grandson John Sprague fifty dollars to be paid to him in one year after my wifes decease the one half to be paid to him by Jonathan Sprague and the other half by Cotton Sprague.

Notwithstanding what is afore written that in case my wife should be dissatisfied with what I have herein given to her and refuses to except thereof in lieu of her thirds in my real estate and has her thirds in my real estate set off to her then my will is that she shall not have any part in my personal nor moveable estate nor house hold stuff and I do hereby order that my said son Jonathan Sprague and Cotton Sprague shall be discharged and clear from paying or doing or performing any part of the afore mentioned dowries and services of all sorts and money for my wife in case she has her thirds set out of my real estate and furthermore my will is that in case my wife has her thirds set out of my real estate that my sons Jonathan Sprague and Cotton Sprague shall be discharged and cleard from paying the fifty dollars that I have given herein to my wifes grandson John Sprague and I do order that if my wife dies my wido that she shall be decently buried at the equal cost of my executors.

Item. I give to my eldest son Phinehas Sprague or to his heirs the sum of four hundred dollars one hundred dollars to be paid to him in one year after my decease and another hundred dollars to be paid to him in one year next after my wife and my decease and another hundred dollars to be paid to him in four year next after my wife and my decease the one half of each payment is to be paid by Jonathan Sprague and the other half by Cotton Sprague. The reason for my giving him no more is because I have given him so much before.

Item. I give to my beloved son Cotton Sprague and to his heirs and assigns and to be at their own dispose forever my dwelling house and my barn and stable with that piece of land that these buildings stand upon called my house lot excepting that part of my house and garden and other liberties that I have herein given to my wife these are excepted so long as she improves them and no longer and after my wifes decease I give to my son Cotton Sprague and to his heirs and assigns forever all that part of my house and garden that I have herein given to my wife Now that piece of land abovementioned called my house lot that I have herein given to my son Cotton Sprague is by estimation about half an acre be the same more or less is butted and bounded as follows easterly on the land of Joseph Howard westerly and southwesterly on the highway till it comes to a Willow tree at Jonathan Spragues land westerly on Jonathan Spragues land till it comes to Jonathan Spragues lane then northerly on Cotton Spragues land till it comes to Joseph Howards land again. I also give to my son Cotton Sprague and to his heirs and assigns and to be to their own dispose forever the one half of all the rest of my land that I die seized of and have in possession at the time of my decease both in Malden and Stoneham and half my right in a lot of marsh in Chelsea called Hoks Point. I also give to my son Cotton Sprague the one half of all my personal estate and out doore moveables that I have in possession at the time of my decease.

Item. I give to my beloved son Jonathan Sprague and to his heirs and assigns and to be at their own dispose forever the one half of all my land that I die seized of and have in possession at the time of my decease excepting my house lot and garden both in Malden and Stoneham and one half of my right in a lot of marsh in Chelsea called Hoks Point I give to my son Jonathan Sprague the one half of all my personal estate and out door moveables that I have in possession at the time of my decease and whereas I have sold to my son Jonathan Sprague some years ago an old house and barn and some land for which he promised to pay me or to my heirs a sum of money Now I do clear the said Jonathan Sprague from paying or allowing any thing for the said house barn and land and I do order my son Cotton Sprague to pay to his brother Jonathan Sprague one hundred and fifty dollars - fifty dollars of said money to be paid to him in five year next after my decease and fifty dollars more in eight years after my wife and my decease and the other fifty in ten years after my wife and my decease. The reason for my ordering Cotton Sprague to pay so much to his brother Jonathan Sprague is because the house I have given to Cotton Sprague is so much better than his Brothers.

Item. I give to my daughter Hannah Cox or to her heirs the sum of one hundred and forty dollars to be paid to her in five years next after my wife and my decease seventy dollars to be paid by Jonathan Sprague and the other seventy dollars by Cotton Sprague. The reason for my giving her no more is because I have given her so much before.

Item. I give to my daughter Mary Lynde or to her heirs the sum of one hundred forty dollars to be paid to her in six years after the decease of my wife and myself seventy dollars to be paid to her by Jonathan Sprague and the other seventy by Cotton Sprague. The reason for my giving her no more is because I have given her so much before.

Item. I give to the children and heirs of the late Doctor John Sprague deceased one hundred and twenty dollars to be paid to them as soon as the youngest child arrives at the age of twenty one years old. The reason for my giving them no more is because I have given so much to their father in his life time, the one half to be paid by Jonathan Sprague and the other half by Cotton Sprague.

Item. I give to my son Phinehas Sprague all my clothes and wearing apparel that shall be in my house at the time of my decease and also one half of my books that I shall leave at that time.

Item. I give to my son Jonathan Sprague one half the money that I shall have by me or due to me at that time and also my great stillyards and great hatchel.

Item. I give to my son Cotton Sprague the one half of all my money that I shall have by me or due to me at the time of my decease and also one half of my books and my blue chest and my gun and after my wife's decease my clock and the two Planes that hang up in my lower room.

Item. I give to my daughters Hannah Cox and Mary Lynde after the decease of my wife all the rest of my household stuff and goods that shall be in my house and shall equally be divided by them excepting those things that formerly belonged to my wife.

Furthermore my will is that in case either Jonathan Sprague or Cotton Sprague shall fail payment of what I have herein ordered that their land shall be responsible for the payment thereof and I do hereby utterly disallow revoke and disannul all and every other former testaments wills executors by me before this time named and do confirm this to be my last will and testament.

In witness whereof I have set my hand and seal the day and vear herein afore written.

Signed sealed published and declared by the said Phinehas Sprague as his last will and testament In presence of us the subscribers 48 Bunker, Sprague alias Ebenezer Harnden (Samuel, Bunker, Jonathan, Capt. John, Lt. Ralph, Edward) was born at Malden, 30 Oct., 1750; changed his name to Ebenezer Harnden in 1773; died at Malden, 11 Apr., 1830, aged 80 years. He married at Malden, 8 Sept., 1777, Polly Hills of Malden. She was daughter of Thomas and Mary (Shute) Hills, born at Malden, 31 Dec., 1754; died there, 5 Dec., 1813, aged 59.

Children, born at Malden:

i. Mary⁸ Harnden, b. 14 June, 1778; m. 21 June, 1801, Joseph Green of Deerfield, N. H.

ii. Elizabeth Harnden, b. 4 July, 1780; m. 5 May, 1805, Edward Newhall of Malden.

iii. Ebenezer Harnden, b. 15 Nov., 1782; m. 3 Oct., 1806, Betsey Parker of Malden.

iv. Lydia Harnden, b. 9 Aug., 1788; d. — Sept., 1791.

v. John Harnden, b. 25 Aug., 1792.

vi. Lydia Harnden, b. 14 May, 1794; m. 28 May, 1815, Lemuel Cox of Malden.

vii. Hannah Hills Harnden, b. 9 Nov., 1800; m. 9 Nov., 1820, Lieut. Ebenezer Tufts.

Bunker Sprague alias Ebenezer Harnden (1750-1830) changed his name by act of the General Court, 26 May, 1773, to Ebenezer Harnden. In his petition for this change he states that it will be advantageous to him to change his name. At that time there was living in Malden Capt. Ebenezer Harnden (1705-1786) who was a man of prominence but apparently without children. On 8 Apr., 1769, Ebenezer Harnden of Malden, gentleman, sells to Ezekiel Jenkins, Jr., a piece of land in Malden and Bunker Sprague was one of the At this time Bunker Sprague was closely associated with Capt. Ebenezer Harnden. He undoubtedly cared for Capt. Harnden in his On 1 May, 1781, Ebenezer Harnden of Malden, gentleman, sells all of his homestead in Malden being 24 acres to Ebenezer Harnden, Jr., of the same town, saddle-tree-maker. (Middlesex Deeds, 83: 341.) That homestead was in and about the western division station of the Boston & Maine R. R. The old house stood where the railroad crosses Pleasant street. It was purchased of John Harnden and Hannah H. Tufts, son and daughter of Ebenezer Harnden, Jr., shortly before, 8 Sept., 1844. It was then described as "on the road leading to the village," by Samuel Cox, last maker, who was trustee for Hannah H. Tufts. According to the terms of the will of Ebenezer Harnden made, 18 Mar., 1828, his daughter was to have the westerly half of his dwelling house and his son John Harnden the remainder. Here the families lived until the Boston & Maine R. R. was constructed. As the roadbed had to be extended directly through the house it was demolished and John Harnden removed to what is now Florence street. The Harnden farm was soon cut up into house lots and now contains valuable city property. Harnden road perpetuates the name over a portion of Capt. Ebenezer Harnden's The name was perpetuated by Bunker Sprague who changed his name to inherit the Harnden property.

49 Phineas, Sprague (Sergt. Phineas, Phineas, Phineas, Phineas, Phineas, Acapt. John, Lt. Ralph, Edward was born at Malden, Guly, 1751; died there, Apr., 1833. He married at Malden, 19 Apr., 1774, Jemima Burditt, daughter of John and Jemima (Green) Burditt of Malden. She was born there, 11 Dec., 1751.

In Cotton Sprague's tomb erected in 1830 on the site of the Melrose High School and removed to Wyoming Cemetery in 1895 were found seven unidentified bodies including Cotton Sprague who died 6 May, 1840. The plates found in the tomb show that two of Phineas Sprague's sons were buried in that tomb. It is probable that Cotton Sprague's brother Phineas and his wife Jemima were buried in that tomb between 1830 and 1850. No record of the death of Phineas Sprague's wife Jemima has been found.

Dr. John Sprague of Malden served as Surgeon's Mate to Dr. Walter Hastings of Chelmsford in Col. Ebenezer Bridge's Regt. from 1 May to 1 Aug., 1775—a period of three months, eight days. This was the Middlesex County Regt. of Minutemen in service at the battle of Bunker Hill. Again he was Surgeon's Mate in Col. Edmund Phinney's Regt. from 1 Jan., 1776, to 8 Dec., 1776, when he was reported sick in the garrison at Fort George. Again he served as Surgeon on the schooner Active, commanded by Capt. Andrew Gardner for one month, 6 Oct., 1778. He again served as Surgeon on the State sloop Winthrop, commanded by Capt. George Little, from 4 May to 25 Nov., 1782 — a period of six months twenty-one days, and from 26 Nov., 1782, to 17 Mar., 1783—three months and twenty days to the end. (Mass. Soldiers and Sailors in the Revolutionary War, 14: 755.)

Dr. Sprague was taken prisoner while surgeon on board the schooner Active, one of the ill-fated fleet of Commodore John Manley in 1778. He was exchanged and returned to Malden before July, 1779. He then taught two terms of school in his own section of the town—the north end, now Melrose.

Again he served as surgeon on board the armed vessel Thomas and again was made a prisoner of war. He was carried to Kinsale on the coast of

(Originals in Malden Public Library.)

Dr. Sprague held various offices of trust in old Malden befitting to the profession of a physician. At the annual town meeting, 6 Mar., 1786, he was chosen for the grand jury for the year. special meeting, 10 Apr., 1786, he was chosen a member of the committee to consult with other towns about the advantage of a bridge over Penny Ferry, and on 1 May, 1786, he was chosen on the committee to instruct the representative.

On 3 May, 1790, Dr. Sprague was chosen a member of the committee to regulate the schools The committee recommended that in Malden. the schools be kept in three different places, a little westward of Mr. John Gould's, at the South Meeting house (now Everett) and at the north part of the town at the school house "nigh" the widow Sarah Eaton's (now Melrose).

Dr. Sprague was chosen a member of a committee to examine the town property in the hands of Micah Wait and deposit it in the town treasury, 14 Jan., 1793. He was chosen collector of taxes, 9 Mar., 1795, and a member of the committee to procure a schoolmaster, 8 June, 1795. He was appointed a member of the committee to report to a Council of Churches for the ordination of Rev. Aaron Green on 2 Sept., 1795. Mr. Green was ordained over the united parishes of Malden, 30 Sept., 1795.

The General Court passed a law providing that alewives should be allowed to pass around Mr. Samuel Tuft's mill-dam in Three-Mile Brook and This law caused a division up to Ell Pond. among the inhabitants of Malden, and Dr. Sprague was elected a member of the committee to secure the repeal of said law, 28 Dec., 1795. Again Dr. Sprague was chosen collector of taxes, 14 Mar., 1796, and at a special town meeting, 2 May, 1796, he was chosen a member of a committee to prevent the town from being at the expense of building the Malden bridge. On 7 Nov., 1796, he was elected a member of the committee to procure the minister's wood. At the annual meeting, 6 Mar., 1797, he was chosen a member of the school committee, collector of taxes and a committee to reckon with Rev. Eliakim Willis and Rev. Aaron Green. In Apr., 1797, Dr. Sprague was elected on a committee to petition the General Court to oppose the expense of supporting the new road in the southerly part of the town. At a special meeting, 23 Sept., 1797, he was elected a member of the committee on school houses and at the same time a committee to raise money for the encouragement of singing. was Dr. Sprague identified with the best things of his native town in the reconstructive period following the Revolutionary War.

He with others sent a petition to Rev. Peter Thacher, minister of the First Parish of Malden, asking him to introduce into the Malden church Dr. Watt's Psalms, 17 Mar., 1781. This petition is now in the Malden Public Library.

He addressed a request to the First Church of Malden, 17 Apr., 1784. Rev. Aaron Green and others joined in this petition. It was in accordance with the spirit of the period of reconstruction following the American Revolution. lated to the early form of church worship in New England. Down to the close of the Revolution, it was customary for the deacon to read a psalm, one line at a time, and the congregation to chant or shout back the line. In Malden many of the leading church members desired a change as the following paper signed by Rev. Aaron Green, Dr. John Sprague, et al., shows:

We the subscribers conceiving that the public worship of God in singing would be carried on with greater decency, propriety and edification, if the leading the psalm line by line was omitted do, therefore, request and desire that said practice may be laid aside for the future. To the First Church of Christ in Malden, April 17, 1784.

Signed Aaron Green, John Sprague, et al.

Dr. Sprague was somewhat eccentric, considerable of a wag but skillful as a physician and much esteemed by all. He had an extensive and lucrative practice which excited the envy of his professional associates.

Dr. Jeremiah Goss of Provincetown on Cape Cod came to Malden. He there united his fortunes with Mary Atkins Hatch—a young Malden woman. Rev. Aaron Green performed the marriage ceremony on 1 May, 1798. It is said that Dr. Goss publicly declared, about this time, that he would get Dr. Sprague's business from him and drive him out of town. Dr. Goss stayed a while but not getting any practice was himself obliged to leave town.

The day following his departure Dr. Sprague wrote several verses and posted them in several public places in Malden. Traveling in those days was by horseback with a pillion behind to carry a second person. One of the verses of Dr. Sprague ran in this wise:

"Doctor Goss mounted his hoss
And took his wife behind him,
He has gone to Cape Cod so far from God,
It would puzzle the devil to find him."

The inventory of Dr. Sprague's estate is interesting. It shows that he traveled on horseback as late as 1802. Evidently he possessed neither carriage nor shay as Rev. Joseph Emerson and Rev. Peter Thacher, his ministers, did while living in old Malden, but Dr. Sprague possessed "spurs" which were essential in the century long before the invention of horse cars, steam trains, automobiles and aeroplanes had filled men's minds with easy and rapid locomotion.

At the close of the Revolutionary War, Dr. Sprague located in the centre of old Malden, occupying the farm and house originally owned by Joseph Hills who came from Maldon in the county of Essex, England, and gave to Mystic Syde, the name of his native parish.

In front of the First Baptist Church in Converse Square stands a granite boulder, upon which is the following inscription:

IN MEMORY OF
DR. JOHN SPRAGUE
WHO DEPARTED THIS LIFE
OCT. 21, 1803
Æ 50

The honest man, the skilful physician the social friend, the useful citizen here yields to death. The animating hope of a glorious resurrection brightened the close of his life.

An angel's arm can't snatch man from the grave Legions of angels can't confine him there.

Dr. Sprague's Will, 1803.

In the name of God amen, I John Sprague of the Town of Malden in the County of Middlesex and Commonwealth of Massachusetts considering the uncertainty of this mortal life and being of sound mind and memory do make and publish this my last will and testament in manner and form following.

Imprimis. I will, appoint, constitute, and ordain Bernard Green Esqr. of Malden aforesaid my only and sole executor of this my last will and testament.

And I will and order that all my just debts be paid and discharged in a convenient time after my decease by my said executor, out of my real and personal estate, and by those parts and portions of the same, which he shall deem most expedient.

Item. I will, give, and bequeath unto my beloved wife Elisabeth Sprague the whole improvement, use, and profit, of all my real and personal estate, that I shall die seized and possessed of, after my just debts are paid as above directed, to be by her freely possessed and enjoyed during her natural life. It is however to be understood as my will, that my said wife afford a decent and comfortable support to my minor children during their minority out of the profits priviledges bequeathed to her in this article, and without any expense for them accruing to my estate.

Item. At the decease of my said wife Elizabeth Sprague, I give to my beloved children, namely, to John Sprague, Elizabeth Sprague, Isaac Smith Sprague, Peter Thacher Sprague, Frederick Augustus Sprague and Susanna Fowl Sprague their heirs and assigns forever, all my estate real and personal, that I may die seized and possessed of, after my just debts are paid as above directed, together with the expenses arising from the decent interment of my said wife, to be divided between and among them equally and alike, to be by them freely possessed and enjoyed from and after the decease of my said wife Elisabeth Sprague, and to be at their disposal forever.

But notwithstanding what is above ordered and directed, If it should be thought advisable by my said executors, and most for the interest and benefit of my above named wife and children, and by her free consent, and by the free consent of my children, who may be of age, and by the free consent of the guardians of those, who may be minors, to sell all or any part of my real estate, and place the remainder of the money after my just debts are paid, where my said wife can have the regular interest of the same during her life and at her decease, the principal may be divided among my within named children equally and alike, I hereby declare it to be my will that said estate be sold, and on these conditions I hereby empower my said executor to sell the same, in that way and manner which he may judge best.

And I hereby revoke all former wills by me made.

In witness whereof I have hereunto set my hand and seal this first day of September, in the year of our Lord, one thousand eight hundred and three.

John Sprague.

Signed, sealed, published and declared by the within named John Sprague to be his last will and testament in the presence of us, who have hereunto subscribed our names as witnesses in the presence of the testator

Jesse Holden Ezra Holden Aaron Green

Proved 28 Oct., 1803, by Jesse Holden and Aaron Green as the last will of John Sprague of Malden, physician.

Inventory of the estate of Dr. John Sprague, late of Malden, dec'd, taken 3 Jan., 1804, mentions between 4 and 5 acres including the buildings $3000; one half of a pew $63; pewter $4; 9 vols. books $8; saddle $6; saddle bags $3.50; spurs $1; watch $18; spectacles $0.33; medicine and instruments $10; total estate $4144.49.

The account mentions, 16 July, 1804, two acres sold from the homestead to Benjamin Faulkner $455. Also 24 Aug., 1804, two and a half acres sold to John Sprague, Jr. $285; half a pew in the Brick Meeting house sold to Joshua Lade $64. (Middlesex Probate, 21,063.)

51 WILLIAM⁷ SPRAGUE (Sergt. Phineas, Phineas, Phineas, Phineas, Phineas, Capt. John, Lt. Ralph, Edward) was born at Malden, 1 June, 1756; died in Jan., 1780, in his 23d year. At the age of 22 he shipped on board the brig Massachusetts bound for France. He was one of a hundred men and the next night after they sailed a violent storm of snow came on and nothing was ever heard from them, "though it is about three years since he bade us farewell and took his leave of us." (Memorandum of Phineas Sprague.)

William Sprague of Malden served as a private in Capt. Benjamin Blaney's Co. of Militia which marched to Watertown on the alarm of 19 Apr., 1775, by order of Col. Gardner. That service was for one day. He also served in Capt. Naler Hatch's Co. of Lieut. Col. William Bond's 37th Regt. The company's return was dated at Malden, 6 Oct., 1775. Again he served in Capt. Benjamin Blaney's Co. from Malden, marching to Point Shirley, 13 June, 1776, by order of Gen. Benjamin Lincoln. He next enlisted in Capt.

John Walton's Co. of Col. John Brooks's Regt., 27 Sept., to 16 Nov., 1776,—a period of two months, one day, including eleven days' travel home, 228 miles from North Castle. He also served in Capt. Stephen Dana's Co. of Col. Josiah Whitney's Regt. in service in Rhode Island, from 3 May, 1777, for two months, seven days. He served in the vicinity of South Kingston, R. I. (Mass. Soldiers and Sailors in the Revolutionary War, 14: 764.)

Their daughter Mary d. unm., 6 Aug., 1862, a. 35 y., 7 m., 17 d. All are buried in Cotton Sprague's tomb, erected on the site of Melrose High School, removed in 1895 to Wyoming Cemetery, Melrose. (Cotton Sprague's Bible.)

Cotton Sprague inherited the Pond Field farm. His house stood on the site of the Liberty Bigelow house on West Foster street, Melrose. He occupied many positions of trust in Malden. He was chosen hogreeve, 14 Jan., 1793; a member of the committee to look into the affairs of a road leading by Mr. Beacham's house, 20 Oct., 1800; surveyor of highways, 2 Mar., 1801, 1 Mar., 1802, 7 Mar., 1803, and 5 Mar., 1804. On 1 Apr., 1805, he was chosen constable, and again 7 Apr., 1807; the same year fish commissioner and field driver; field driver, 7 Mar., 1808, and 5 Mar., 1810; fence viewer, 4 Mar., 1809. At the annual town meeting in Malden, 4 Mar., 1811, Cotton Sprague was chosen surveyor of highways, field driver, hogreeve and a member of the school committee. On 1 Mar., 1813, he was again made fence viewer, surveyor of highways and 31 May, 1813, a member of a committee. At the annual town meeting, 7 Mar., 1814, he was elected a selectman of Malden; 6 Mar., 1815, fence viewer and surveyor of highways; 4 Mar., 1816, surveyor of highways, fence viewer and a member of the school committee; 3 Mar., 1817, 7 Mar., 1818, and 1 Mar., 1819, surveyor of highways and a member of a He also was chosen surveyor of committee. highways, 3 Apr., 1820, 2 Apr., 1821, and 1 Apr., 1822; surveyor of highways and fish committee to the same offices, with that of fire warden, he was reelected, 3 Mar., 1823. At a special town meeting, 1 May, 1823, he was elected a representative to the General Court from Malden. He was reelected, 19 Apr., 1824, 22 Apr., 1825, and 1 May, 1826. For 1824 he held the offices of surveyor of highways, fence viewer, fire warden and fish committee, being reelected to the same offices, 7 Mar., 1825.

At a special town meeting, 10 Sept., 1825, Cotton Sprague was made a committee to examine the title of George and Thomas Odiorne to the waters of Spot Pond relative to their rights to stop shad and alewives from passing up Spot Pond Brook from below William Barrett's lower red mill.

The General Court passed a law, 7 Mar., 1801, permitting alewives to pass up the Malden river to Ell Pond by the dam of Samuel Tufts for a certain number of years. For more than a quarter of a century, 1800 to 1825, this caused much trouble between the inhabitants of Malden. It was a contest between the farmers and the manufacturers.

Cotton Sprague was reelected surveyor of high-ways and fire warden, 6 Mar., 1826, and fence viewer and fire warden, 5 Mar., 1827, and fire warden, 3 Mar., 1828. His last election was as field driver, 6 Apr., 1835.

On 14 Apr., 1826, the town of Malden authorized the Selectmen to "lay out a road from near the North District School House on land of the heirs of Ezra Howard, dec'd, and the land of Joseph Howard [now in Melrose] to the road leading to Stoneham near the House of Mr. Cotton Sprague."

54 William Sprague (Nathan, Capt. Samuel, Samuel, Lt. Samuel, Lt. Ralph, Edward was born at Malden, 26 Aug., 1766; died there, 2 Apr., 1792. He married (1) Sally —, who died at Malden, 10 Apr., 1788. He married (2) at Malden, 20 Sept., 1789, Susanna Merritt, daughter of Samuel and Sarah (Hawkes) Merritt of Malden. She was born at Malden, 12 Mar., 1769. She married (2) at Malden, 2 Oct., 1796, John Nichols Dyer of Malden. He was son of Joseph and Elizabeth (Nichols) Dyer, born at Malden, 3 Oct., 1778. Their child Samuel Merritt Dyer was born at Malden, 1797.

Child by first wife, born at Malden:

i. William,8 d. 17 Aug., 1789.

Children by second wife, born at Malden:

- ii. Susanna, b. 24 Mar., 1790.
- iii. Sarah, b. 15 Aug., 1792.

Susanna Sprague of Malden requested, 1 Sept., 1792, the appointment of Benjamin Brown, Esq., of Reading, as administrator of the estate of her late husband William Sprague, mariner, dec'd. He gave a bond in £10,000 with Thaddeus Dean and Thomas Dean, both of Bedford, yeoman, sureties. Among the claims against the estate was a bond of £500 in favour of Nathan Sprague and his wife for support during their natural lives. There was set off to the widow Susannah Sprague one third of a dwelling, barn, ten acres fronting the house, two acres north of the house and seven acres of woodland in Stoneham, 3 June, 1794. The estate was insolvent and Nathan Sprague had £69: 6:8 distributed to him, 8 Apr., 1795.

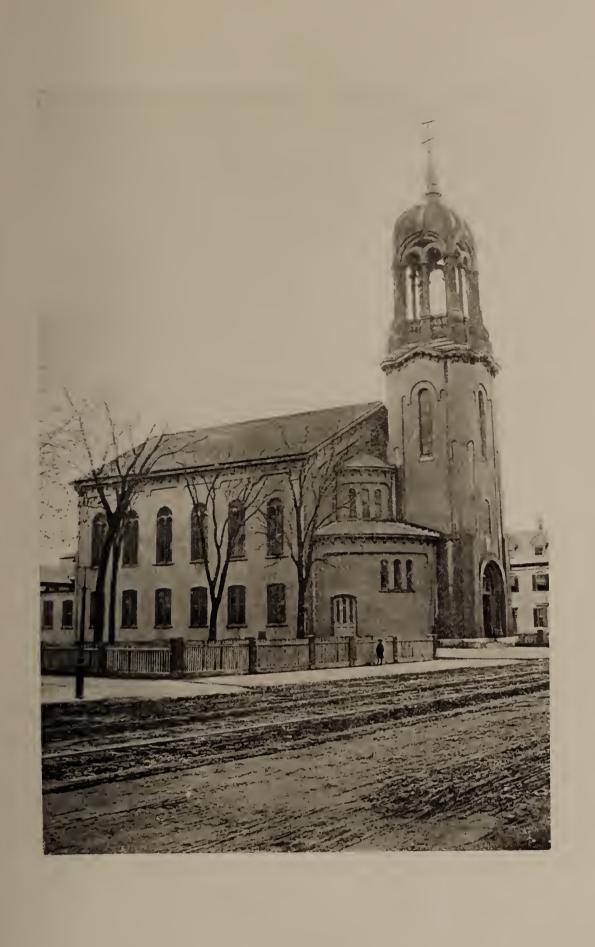

William Sprague of Malden, mariner, for £13 mortgages the Nathan Sprague property, described on pp. 213-14, to Joseph Bartlett of Woburn, gentleman, 18 Mar., 1790. Wife did not sign. (Middlesex Deeds, 102:135.)

55 Stephen⁸ Sprague (Capt. Stephen, Benjamin, Stower, John, Capt. John, Lt. Ralph, Edward) was born at Malden, 15 Feb., 1793. He married at Charlestown, 28 Nov., 1816, Elizabeth Sargent, daughter of Samuel Scarborough and Agnes (Oakes) Sargent of Charlestown. She was born there, 14 Jan., 1795; died in Boston, 29 Jan., 1839, a. 44 years; buried in Malden. They lived in Boston; had three sons and one daughter. At the time of their marriage he is described as "of Medford."

Children:

- i. John Barrett,9 b. at Malden, 13 June, 1819.

He married (intention at Malden, 22 July, 1804) at Leominster, 7 Aug., 1804, Sally Fuller of Leominster. She was daughter of Edward and Sally (Colburn) Fuller and born at Leominster, 21 June, 1782. She died at Malden, 11 Aug., 1847, aged 65 y. 1 m. 22 d.

Capt. Phineas Sprague was elected a member of the school committee of Malden, 3 Mar., 1817, and a juror, 6 Apr., 1835. He was a candidate for representative from Malden, 8 Nov., 1847, but was not elected. He built the house now standing on Main street, opposite Ell Pond, in 1812 and there resided from 1812 to 1869. He manufactured shoes and carried them to Boston until the last year of his life.

Children, born at Malden:

i. Myra (Elmira), b. 23 Apr., 1805; m. 4 Sept., 1825, George Emerson of Malden (now Melrose). Five children.

62 ii. Henry, b. 14 Jan., 1807.

Phineas Sprague (1777-1869) of Malden was a delegate to the Constitutional Convention of Massachusetts in 1820. In that convention he spoke on the Declaration of Rights as follows: "It is tyranny in the highest degree to compel a man to worship in a manner contrary to the dictates of his conscience. Religion is an affair between God and our own souls." He concluded with eight lines from the poet, the purport of which was that it is vain to attempt to bind by human laws the soul which is accountable to God alone. (Massachusetts Journal of Debates and Proceedings in the Convention of Delegates, 1820, pp. 6, 174.)

"He was a worthy citizen, highly esteemed and respected by all who knew him." (Goss's History of Melrose, 84.)

He had much to do with the separation of the First Church and First Parish of Malden. On "3 Feb., 1805, The Pastor stayed the brethren of the Church after divine service and informed them that it was the desire of Mr. Phineas Sprague junior to join in full communion, but he embracing the universal and Unitarian Doctrines, the pastor wished to know the minds of the brethren about receiving him; after some conversation with him and with each other:

"Voted to adjourn till next Wednesday evening then to meet at the parsonage house, more fully to consider the matter.

"Mar. 14, 1805, The Church met at the parsonage house according to adjournment and after addressing the Throne of grace by the pastor, resumed the consideration of Mr. Sprague's religious sentiments, and after long consultation:

"Voted, to adjourn to the approaching fast day. Apr. 4, 1805, The Church met according to adjournment and after further consultation respecting Mr. Phineas Sprague's being admitted a member:

"Voted, to defer the matter for three months, that is, to the lecture day, previous to the communion in July next. N.B. The only objection to Mr. Sprague's being admitted is his having embraced the Chancean Universalist and Arian Sentiments.

"June 2, 1805, The Pastor stayed the Chh. after public worship and communicated a letter from Mr. Phineas Sprague Jun in which he wishes us not to continue our meeting adjourned according to vote passed April 4 on his account, but the Church:

"Voted, that the meeting still be adjourned as above specified.

"July 6, 1805, Met according to adjournment, after some debate respecting Mr. Sprague's religious sentiments on account of which some of the brethren appeared to be much against his being admitted:

"Voted that the meeting be dissolved."

On this matter the records are silent for twenty years when the following entry was made:

"Phineas Sprague admitted Jan. 1, 1826."

Among the list of members of the church, 20 Apr., 1828, was Phineas Sprague. On 29 July, 1828, he was one of the remonstrants against the installation of Rev. Sylvanus Cobb. (Congregational Church Records of Malden.)

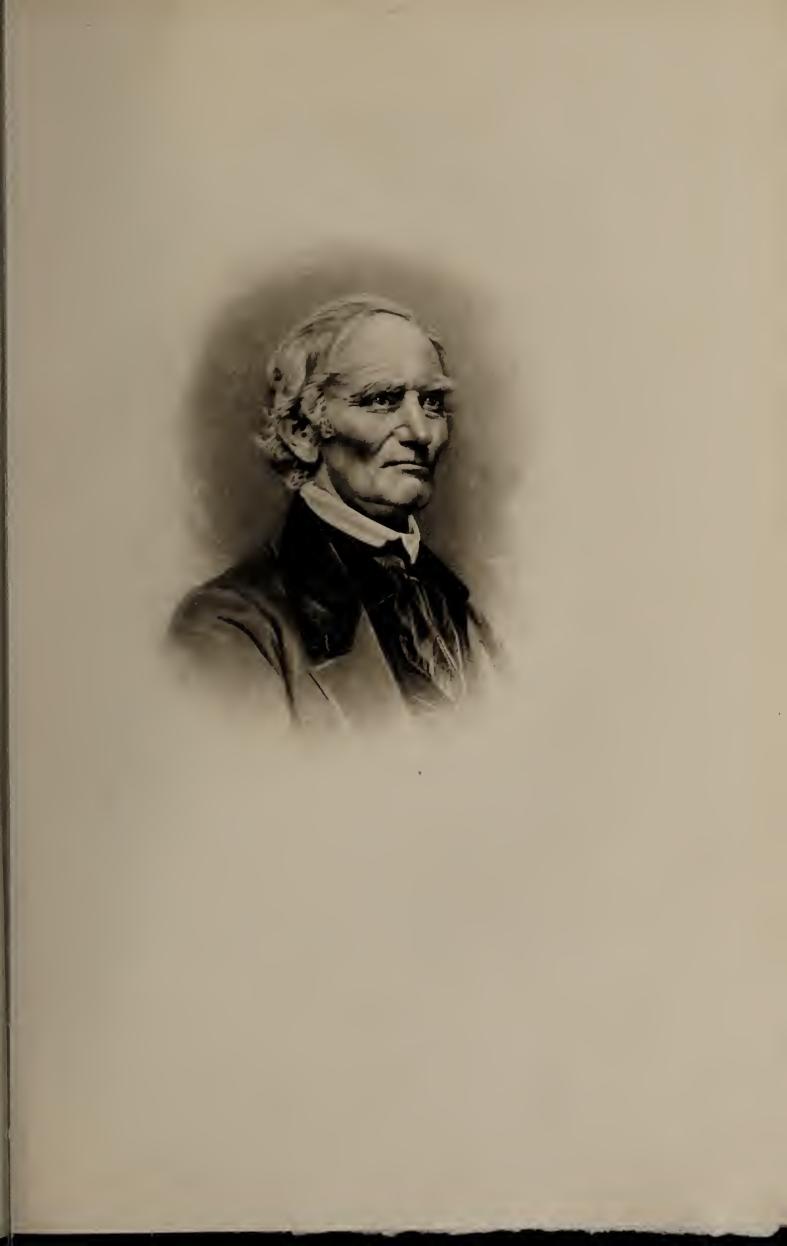

Phineas Sprague was a member of the committee to wait on Rev. Aaron Green concerning his application for dismissal, 19 June, 1827. He withdrew from the First Parish, 19 Mar., 1832. (First Parish [Universalist] Records.)

In 1813 the war with England was the occasion of excessive political controversies. Malden was strongly Republican. Rev. Aaron Green, then minister of the First Church of Malden, effected an exchange with Rev. David Osgood of Medford, who was noted for his Federalistic principles. His sermon came strongly in collision with the views and feelings of a majority of his Malden hearers, especially those who resided in the North End (now Melrose).

JOHN SPRAGUE OF MALDEN 1781-1852

A short time after Mr. Osgood delivered his sermon a number of persons assembled at Phineas Sprague's store, near Ell Pond, and after some discussion proposed that they secure a Methodist minister. Jesse Upham said "They preach cheap and they are good preachers." At a subsequent meeting held in the North End School house it was decided to secure a Methodist minister.

Jesse Upham and Cotton Sprague were chosen a committee to procure a minister and Timothy Merritt, then a member of the Massachusetts Legislature from Maine (then a part of the Commonwealth) was obtained. He was followed by others and Methodism thereby became entrenched in North Malden.

On 12 May, 1815, James Howard, himself a descendant of Lt. Ralph Sprague and of Capt. John Sprague, and his wife Polly Cox, daughter of Hannah Sprague, likewise a descendant of the aforesaid Spragues and of three Phineas Spragues of Malden, were converted to the new religion, both on the same day. In 1816 this couple moved from North Malden to Malden Centre and became pioneer Methodists. In 1820 Mr. Howard was appointed a class leader at the Centre which was the origin of the Centre Methodist Church (in 1922 the largest Methodist Church in New England). Among the descendants of the aforesaid Hannah Sprague, wife of Unite Cox, mention may be made of Samuel Cox, the last manufacturer, Hon. Alfred E. Cox, sometime a member of the Governor's Council and Hon. George Howard Fall, formerly mayor, all of Malden.

Both Capt. Phineas Sprague and his uncle Cotton Sprague had much to do with entrenching Methodism in Malden soil, as both also were, in 1828, active in establishing the First Parish Universalist in the centre of the ancient town. Both were leaders in liberalizing religious concepts and interpretations.

The fine old mansion which Capt. Phineas Sprague erected in 1812 is still standing opposite Ell Pond on the east side of Main street at its junction with Lebanon street in Melrose.

Administration on the estate of Phineas Sprague who died at Melrose, 9 Feb., 1869, was granted to Henry Sprague of Saugus. He left no widow but a daughter Elmira Emerson, wife of George Emerson of Melrose; a son Henry Sprague of Saugus; a daughter Sarah A. Lynde, wife of Amos P. Lynde of Melrose; Abbyline Upham, wife of Freeman Upham of Melrose and Elizabeth Woodward, wife of Thomas B. Woodward of Melrose—all children of dec'd, 20 Feb., 1869. Inventory mentions house and lot $2,500; shoemaker's shop $20; barn $50; total $3,905.71. (Middlesex Probate, 42,135.)

John Sprague (1781-1852) received a common school education in his native town in the years of reconstruction following the American Revolution. On 24 Aug., 1804, he purchased of his father's heirs two and one-half acres on Salem This was before his marriage. In 1808 he and Ezra Holden purchased a house on the east corner of Sprague and Salem streets which was built by Capt. Joseph Dyer between 1796 and 1800. Subsequently he purchased Mr. Holden's interest and the house was the Sprague homestead from 1808 to 1875, when it was removed to the head of Sprague street where it now stands (1922). It was constructed of a portion of the lumber from the Second Parish Church which stood in what is now Everett, 1744-1792.

Commencing life as a shoemaker in a small shop that stood on Salem street—then called "Shoe-maker's Row," he earned money enough to establish himself as a trader on Main street, near where the Baptist Church now stands. Here he was successful and as he made money he invested it in Malden real estate, acquiring considerable wealth for his time.

He was one of the original members of the First Baptist Church of Malden. The church was organized 27 Dec., 1803. Two years later he was married to Sally Hill by Rev. Henry Pottle, first minister of the aforesaid church.

As the years went on difficulties arose between Mr. Sprague and a subsequent minister, he entertaining Arminian principles while the minister preached Calvinistic doctrines.

On 18 Nov., 1810, Rev. Jason Livermore, a Revolutionary soldier who became a Baptist clergyman, preached his first sermon in the Baptist Meeting House in Malden (which then stood in what is now the southeast corner of the Salem street Cemetery). He remained several years during which period great division existed in the Baptist Church in Malden.

Mr. Sprague was excluded from membership, 26 Nov., 1811, for entertaining what some called heresy. After a few weeks he was restored to membership.

He then wrote and published a literary production by which he will be remembered for generations to come. His work was entitled: "The

On 30 Apr., 1812, the members of the Baptist Church "voted to withdraw the hand of fellowship from John Sprague for his disorderly walk and for publishing a Book called the history of wars and fightings without shedding of Blood, in the Baptist church in Malden." (The Malden Mirrow, 10 Nov., 1883.)

Such of the poetry as refers to his differences with the church and its officers is given below, somewhat re-arranged.

POEM BY JOHN SPRAGUE.

As in my shop one day I wrought,
My mind was full, and thus I thought—
A little book I'll now compose,
Of one part verse, the other prose:

That all who want, or wish, to see, May find out what the troubles be; And see if I have done as bad As what you'll find the elder had.

A meeting now was called, they say, To hunt up such as go astray; Hireling shepherds, what's the matter? How you make the sheep to scatter.

Another meeting now had they, To hear, report, and turn away All such as do not like the creed, And turn about and wear a weed. And you shall see it was so dark, It puzzled elder, deacon, clerk.

The elder said it meant one thing; The deacon said another; The clerk he found it was not sound, And wished it for to smother.

The elder called a meeting next; It seems the man was much perplext. If you'd been there, O how unstable! 'Twould make you think of building Babel.

'Twould make you read the Acts all o'er To find that part that Paul called more: For the more-part knew not whether For what, or why, they'd come together.

Once at a meeting how he spake And said, our platform's now at stake; For five or six who are deluded Do often meet with the excluded.

And we a meeting now must call, And those weak brothers overhaul; And when to them we now shall go, We'll tell them what a dreadful woe

We have pronounced upon them all, Who do attempt on God to call, In any manner, place, or way, Which elders, deacons, do not say.

The elder once to meeting went, And down he sat; but not content, His skill in scripture now must show, Something like this he spake, you know:

The scripture saith, one cubit may Be added every half a day; I'll tell you how this thing is done, If of it you will not make fun. If you will pray, exhort and sing, You'll be as tall as any king; You'll grow so fast, you soon will see You'll be as tall as a pine tree.

Then one cubit to your stature add, And pray with me now don't be mad; I really think the scriptures say, One cubit add you truly may.

A member then arose and spake, And said, good sir, 'tis a mistake; Mistaken, sir, I think you be, For I such scripture never see.

If I this hireling do discard, Why will you call me a blackguard? If I this elder will not hear, Why will you say, I ought to fear?

If he a hireling surely be, I'll tell you how this thing you'll see; In a few months, I think, at least, He'll mount that dapple-gray, the beast.

I think a wolf he will call me, And on that beast away will flee; For thus, you know the scripture spoke, And surely scripture can't be broke.

And if he go to west or east, Upon that little horse the beast, Then say that once I have guess'd right, And on his way pray speed his flight.

Yes, give him money, pay him all! That on us he may never call; O may the Lord his heart now fill With love; and take away the chill.

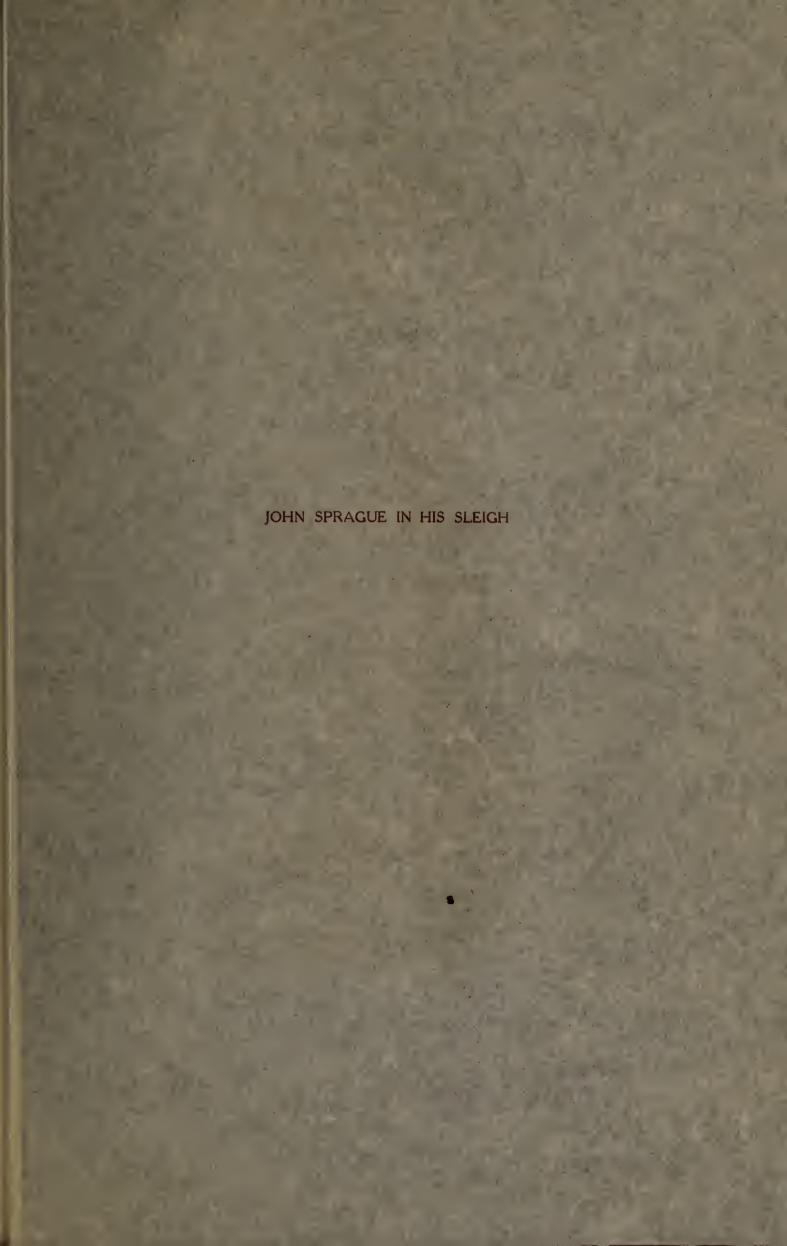

My heart's desire is, and I'll pray
The elder and the deacons may Have all their wickedness forgiven,
And cease to sin, and seek for heaven.

And when their lives they do look over, And see they've sinned against Johovah, O may they on their knees fall down, Confess to God, lest he should frown.

Now may the Lord, who dwells on high, Forgive their sins, and pass them by, That through the Saviour's love and merit, They may eternal life inherit.

In 1813 Mr. Sprague as auctioneer used the following poetical advertisement:

Taken on execution, to be sold, Pieces of furniture I call household; The names of which I'll try to tell Of articles I have to sell: I've one great chair, another small, A middling-sized one, — three in all; I've pictures, too, of various size, A rolling pin for crust of pies; A chest of drawers both great and small. Two pair of pincers and an awl; Old iron, too,—say thirty weight, One hammer and one wooden plate; Kegs I have seven, and one canteen, A part of an old fire-screen; A carpet for your parlor floor, And window-frames, say three or four. A pillow and a feather bed, One teapot, too, without a lid; I've bottles case, and bottles junk, Two pair of tongs, and one old trunk; I've joints of funnel, six or eight,— Six earthen, and three pewter plate; Two bedsteads, and a table split, A warming-pan and bayonet; One wooden horse, and skimmer brass. One tin to cover up your sauce:

"HOLLIGE") ROLLIGE TO LESS

I've scales and steelyards, iron pot, And crockery ware, a handsome lot: A basket, and a coverlid, And for a cane I have a head. I've ox-bows, trammels, and old jugs, And pitchers, but I have no mugs: And cider barrels, five, I know, Two beams for scales, and one great hoe. I have umbrellas, two or three, And cannisters to hold your tea; One shovel, too, that's made of wood, An oil-cask, that I think is good. I've books of various names and size, Some speak of truth, and some of lies; Old singing books a half a score, And Watt's Psalms, and many more.

Conditions are — the cash paid down, Of bills now current in the town.

JOHN SPRAGUE, Auctioneer.

Mr. Sprague is mentioned in the accounts of the building of the Centre Methodist Church. He was paid for refreshments at the raising of the meeting house, 14 Jan., 1826. He was a contributor towards the building, 11 Jan., 1826. He was one of the purchasers of pews in first Centre Methodist Church, 29 Apr., 1826. For pew No. 25 he paid $51.50, and for pew No. 47 he paid $13.00.

Several of the leaders of the First Parish were also contributors to the building of the Centre Methodist Meeting House which was erected on Main street, opposite Concord street, before 22 Apr., 1826. (Gilbert Haven's Account Book, 1825-1826.)

In 1823 he became a member of the Bunker Hill Monument Association and contributed to the erection of that early historic memorial located on the ground on which his honored father served on 17 June, 1775, with Prescott and Warren. His certificate of membership in the Association is still treasured as an heirloom.

He was first elected to town office in Malden in 1814. At the adjourned town meeting 1 Apr., 1814, he was chosen measurer of wood. On 6 Mar., 1815, he was elected a selectman and collector of taxes. He was chosen hogreeve, 5 Mar., 1821, and a selectman, 3 Mar., 1823. 5 Apr., 1824, he was chosen collector of taxes. At a special town meeting, 3 Nov., 1828, he was chosen a member of the committee on the New bridge between Malden (now Everett) and Chelsea. On 4 May, 1829, he was chosen a member of the committee on the demands against the Town relative to the damage from tide water between Lewis's Bridge and Malden Bank, so called. He was elected to the office of tythingman, 5 Mar., 1832. Each year tythingmen were chosen until 4 Mar., 1844, when Malden voted to dispense with the choice of tythingmen.

Mr. Sprague was chosen a member of the committee to consider the claims of Thomas Pratt, 2 Mar., 1835; collector of taxes and town treasurer, 24 Mar., 1842, and served continuously until 1848—a period of six years.

On 5 Feb., 1844, he was chosen a member of the committee on behalf of the town to obtain the best location of the Rail Road now going through the town of Malden. This was then called the Maine Rail Road, now the Boston & Maine.

Mr. Sprague took an active part in the organization of the First Parish Universalist Society of He was one of the signers of the call for the first meeting, 9 July, 1824. He signed another call for a meeting to be held in the Brick Meeting House, as it was then called, 22 Dec., He was elected a member of the prudential committee of the First Parish, 29 Apr., 1829, and served on this committee from 1829-1834. was elected a trustee of the Parish in 1835 and purchased pew No. 18 in the Brick Church on 14 July, 1836, for $118.50. Under the ministry of Rev. Sylvanus Cobb, he was a member of the committee on membership in the First Parish, 20 Oct., 1828. (Records of the First Parish of Malden, 1824-1852.)

Energy, independence of opinion and judgment, liberality of convictions, and a strong sense of humor, were dominant characteristics of John Sprague. Discarding the Calvinistic views of the early years of the nineteenth century, he joined with others in establishing the First Parish Universalist Church which had been occupied by Rev. Aaron Green, Rev. Joseph Emerson, Rev. Peter Thacher, Rev. Eliakim Willis and Rev. Adoniram Judson.

Here by the clay pits, on land given by William and Dorothy Sprague was built the Third Meeting House in Malden in 1730, and on the same site was built the Old Brick Church in 1802, and here Mr. Sprague, his sons and grandsons worshiped from 1826 to 1909.

In a letter which he wrote to his son Charles H. Sprague dated 21 May, 1849, he referred briefly to the Two Hundredth Anniversary in Malden as follows:

"Great preparations for the 23d. Seats for 2000 persons in Bell pasture — a frame to be covered with sail cloth to protect from the storm that seems approaching. The address and poem to be delivered at Bell Rock. Tickets of admission 75 cts. each at the stores — 1700 sold."

As the years went on he occupied a large place in the business, social and civic life of the growing town. In his death Malden lost a faithful and trusted citizen and the First Parish a devoted member.

The last stanza of his poem "On the Love of Christ in the Soul" is well worth reproducing:

My Saviour there I sure shall see, And praise Him through eternity: I'll bow myself at Jesus' feet, I love Him, for His love is sweet.

Peter Thacher Sprague of Malden for $300 sells John Sprague of the same town, trader, land and a dwelling house and barn in Malden located "at the crotch of the road leading from Malden Meeting House to Lynn and Reading," 14 Apr., 1814. (Middlesex Deeds, 209: 166.)

Peter T. Sprague of Deerfield, for $300 sells to John Sprague of Malden, trader, "all rights in the estate of the late John Sprague of Malden, physician, dec'd, 6 May, 1816. (Ibid. 216: 411.)

John Sprague of Malden, gentleman, made his will, 26 Feb., 1852, and it was probated, 15 Nov., 1852. To his wife Sally Sprague he gave the use of his real estate situated on the corner of Salem and Sprague streets in Malden, his household furniture and $150 per annum, during her natural life. To his daughter Susan F. Hyde two hundred dollars. To his daughter Abigail N. Sprague three hundred dollars. At the decease of his wife his household furniture he devised to his four children, Phineas Sprague, Charles H. Sprague, Susan F. Hyde and Abigail N. Sprague equally. At the decease of his wife he gave his daughters Susan F. Hyde and Abigail N. Sprague each five hundred dollars, and sixty dollars per annum for life. To his sons Phineas Sprague and Charles H. Sprague he gave the remainder of his real estate being the same bequeathed to his wife during her life, in equal parts and the residue of his property, they to be executors.

Phineas Sprague, trader, Charles H. Sprague, computer, both of Malden as principals gave bond with Sally Sprague, widow, Henry H. Hyde, trader, and Abigail N. Sprague, single woman, all of Malden sureties, 16 Nov., 1852. Witnesses: Franklin Pierce, F. J. Sprague.

The account of Phineas Sprague and Charles H. Sprague was returned, 3 Dec., 1874. It cites that Sally Sprague deceased in Sept., 1867, and that Susan F. Hyde deceased in June, 1872. The account was signed by Phineas Sprague, Charles H. Sprague, Abigail N. Emerson and Henry H. Hyde. (Middlesex Probate, 34,739.)

58 PETER THACHER⁸ SPRAGUE (Dr. John, Sergt. Phineas, Phineas, Phineas, Zapt. John, Lt. Ralph, Edward) was born at Malden, 30 June, 1792; died at Greenfield, 13 Jan., 1879. He married at Malden, 30 Apr., 1828, Maria Theresa

Hussey, daughter of Joseph Hussey. She was born in Boston, 29 July, 1800, and died at Greenfield, 15 Nov., 1878.

- vi. Caroline Louise, b. 20 Jan., 1842; m. Eben B. Parsons.

Peter Thacher Sprague (1792-1879) wrote an interesting letter to Artemas Barrett who died at Melrose, 12 Jan., 1897. It was a reply to a letter that Mr. Barrett sent him. Mr. Sprague's reply bore a superscription covering the whole of one side of the envelope, as follows:

"To the Postmaster. Now this letter I wish to have Go down (before it stops) unto my native town Where once I counted my good friends by dozens Besides some thirty yea some forty cousins And now then I'll direct you further still Its five or six miles north of Bunker Hill If yet you cannot see, Sir, where this goes Send to Artemas Barrett of Melrose."

On the other side of the envelope was written:

"You see that I am far from being green
Though of this fact the public's not aware Full many a flower's born to blush unseen
And waste its sweetness on the desert air."

Here he well illustrates a peculiar literary talent which existed in other members of his father's family.

Dear Brother:

It is with pleasure that I now take pen in hand to write to you and inform that I am in the land of the living and at present enjoying good health and am in hopes that these few lines will find you & your family enjoying the same blessing.

I have long been wanting to return to Malden and see my friends once more but the great distance we are apart and the hurry of business has been such that it has been impossible for me to return but should the great Canal through New York be finished next year or as soon as it is finished you may expect to see me in old Malden if my life is spared.

I live in a fine Country. We have good land, good water and a good climate. Isaac is in this county. He has been here about four years and has been deranged nearly all the time. Henry Wade is here a Preacher.

I wish that you would write to me as soon as you can. Remember me to my sister Susan and brother Peter. Tell them I long to see them and want to have them write to me as soon as they can. I wish you would mention in your letter where they are and how they are doing. Remember me to all inquiring friends. I have much more to write but as it has got to be very late in the evening now I must finish.

My address, Colonel, Richfield township, Medina County, State of Ohio.

This is from your sincere friend and brother.

Frederic A. Sprague.

P.S. I have long been wanting to get some grape seed, some of the white sweet kind such as they have in the Gardens in Boston. There is none in this country and if when they are ripe you will take the trouble to get some of the seed and send them in a letter to me you will very much oblige and I will endeavor to satisfy you for your trouble.

F. A. S.

Richfield, Dec. 1st, 1825.

Dear Brother

I received yours of Aug. 24th, 1824, in a few weeks after. I am glad to hear that your family enjoys good health but am very sorry to hear that you do not enjoy good health yourself. I should have wrote to you some time since but as I mentioned to you when I wrote to you last that I thought I should come to Boston when the Canal was finished through New York and that has been my calculation till of late which has been the cause of my not writing before but since that time there has been an act passed by this state to build a canal from Lake Erie to the Ohio River about 60 miles. They are now at work and will have finished next summer. It passes within a short distance of my house. When this is finished I can go to old Boston all the way by water.

The season here has been very remarkable. We did not get any frost here till nearly the first of Nov. Since that time it has been very warm and dry. The weather now appears like May.

Our crops came in this fall remarkably well. 60 miles south of me corn can be bought for five cents per bushel any quantity and wheat for 25 cents pr. bushel. Above 10,000 hogs have passed by my house from the south within a few days for the lake where they will be put up for the New York and Montreal markets. I raised about one thousand bushels of wheat this year. I am married and have three fine Ohio boys and am doing middling well. I make a comfortable living.

I received a letter from Susan the same day that I received yours. When I received them I was about 10 miles from home at a Brigade Muster. My pay master handed it to me just as I was going on parade. I have since that received a letter from Peter. I was very glad to hear from them and to hear they were well. I hope if my life is spared that I shall before long see you all again. I long to see you all.

I have wrote this in a great hurry as there is a gentleman now in town, going to start in a few hours for Boston, I shall see him before he goes. He is a going to stay in Boston about one year and I expect he will put up at Brighams, No. 42 Hanover street. I shall see him before he starts and perhaps send another line by him. His name is Brown, Esq. His father lives about 10 miles from me.

When John Harnden left the lines for home, I gave him a power of attorney to settle my affairs in Malden and if there was any my due to collect the same. As I have not heard from him this ten years nearly, I think there must be some my due. I think I shall send by Mr. Brown to settle with him. Should he undertake it I wish you would lend him any assistance that is in your power. In haste

I remain your friend and brother

Frederic A. Sprague

Richfield, Dec. 2, 1825.

Dear Brother:

I send this by Solomon Brown, Esq. I expect he will go to Malden and settle with John Harnden as I gave him a power of attorney to settle my affairs with Uncle Phineas and to sell a piece of land which I understood Grandfather Sprague left me. I have never received any returns from him. I expect he will call on you. I wish you'would give him all the information you can on the subject. In haste

I remain your friend and brother

Frederic A. Sprague.

To John Sprague Malden

> Richfield, Medina County, Ohio. March 18th 1838.

Dear Brother:

It is a number of years since I have had a line from you and am very anxious to hear from you and hope that when you receive this you will not neglect to write to me soon. I do hope that I shall hear that you and your family are well. Myself and family are well as usual. My health is not very good, nor has not been for a number of years, but I am able to attend to my business.

I raised on my farm last year about fifteen hundred bushels of grain mostly wheat, salted a number of tons of pork and sawed in my mills about 500,000 feet of lumber.

We have six children living, five boys and one girl: Frederic A., Romeo, Joseph, John, Susannah J., Peter. We have lost two children Isaac and Susannah. My oldest boy is 16 years old, my youngest 2.

I have considerable property here and I am considerably in debt but if the times should improve I shall get along without any difficulty. Money here is very scarce at present.

I want you to write to me what the prospect is that cattle will be worth with you in June or July — say four years old — three years old, five, six and seven years old cattle. Write to me if you can get any man or men to take 100 head or more.

If I should drive them to you in June or July, the cattle will be good store cattle, would be probably too fat for work. I should like to put up a large quantity of pork, lard and beef next fall for the eastern market. If you can make contracts with any persons for it at a fair price. I only wish you to enquire to see what can be done and perhaps you may be able to help me and I may be to help you. I would buy the pork and put it up and deliver it in Cleaveland or Boston for so much a barrel. Or I will buy it for them and put it up in barrels and deliver where they shall direct, they paying me for my trouble so much pr. barrel, as we should agree. I can get the best men in this country to secure the performance on my part.

I wish you to make all the enquiries in Boston and about in the adjourning towns and when you write inform me of the result. We have had a very cold February and the weather still continues cold.

I received a letter from Peter about 1st of Jany—all well. I want you to tell Susannah that I have not forgotten her and that I hope to see her once more before we quit these mortal shores. I wish she would write to me and inform me what business her husband follows. Perhaps I could get a good situation for him here, if he should be willing to come. We have some advantages here over the eastern Citys.

Wood costs nothing here only to cut it. Provisions are low; flour five or six dollars a barrel; pork fresh from four to six dollars per hundred. The distance grows short from here to Boston since we have so many steam boats on the lake and the Erie Canal. I hope I shall see you and some or all of your family here next summer. There is a good stand for a store here and if you have a son you want to set up in business I think he might do well here.

Farewell for the present but I hope we shall see each other this side the grave, but if not I hope we shall be so prepared and so live that at last we shall be found on the right hand of God.

Frederic A. Sprague.

I should like to know if 2000 dollars could be loaned in your part of the country at a fair interest, secured by unincumbered real estate to double the amount & bond. If I should drive cattle to the East, I should want more money than I can raise in this country. The banks here will not discount one cent.

F. A. Sprague.

Richfield, Summit County, Ohio. Jany 20th 1841.

Dear Brother: -

I now take pen in hand to inform you that I and my family are all well. I have just got through with my official duties as appraizer of Real Estate for the State of Ohio, in which I have been engaged about eight months. I have always been talking of going to old Malden to see my friends, but have never got started. I often think of you and Peter and Susannah and still am in hopes that I shall see you all once more before I quit this mortal shore, but how soon, God only knows. I do hope that you will be able to come and see me.

We have eight children living, seven boys and one girl. We have lost two, a boy and girl. We still live on the old place. The name of the county, you will notice, is changed from Medina to Summit. I was very much pleased with your sending me a few newspapers. I hope you will continue to send me more. I have sent you some papers and I intend to send you more.

Every thing that the farmers raise here is low and money scarce. Wheat is selling here for fifty six cents pr. bushel. Beef two dollars pr cwt. and other things in proportion.

The election is over and Harrison is elected but he was not my choice. I hope however that the change will be for the best.

We have had about ten days of good sleighing here this winter. It is not common for us to have more than two or three weeks sleighing here in the course of the winter and several winters since I have been here there has not been snow enough to go to the county seat (12 miles) with a sleigh.

I hope you will write to me soon. I want to hear from you. Remember me to Peter and Susannah. Tell them I want to hear from them and that I hope they will write me and if possible come and see me.

No more at present except that I still remain your

Affectionate Brother

Frederic A. Sprague.

Eagle, Milwaukee County, Wiskonsin Territory, Dec. 4, 1842.

Dear Brother:

Yours of Nov. 6, 1841, was received in a few days after it was wrote and ought to have been answered long before this. I have been agoing to answer it almost every week since but have never got about it till now.

The morning I received your letter my dwelling house with most of its contents were destroyed by fire which was a very serious loss to me. The house was 30 by 36, two stories high, built of stone and finished the best of any house in the county. It cost me about 3,000 dollars. I was very much in debt at that time, owing about 10,000 dollars. I had a great deal of property in my hands which was bought in the hight of the land speculation, had built mills and made large improvements. At that time people began to want their pay. Property had fallen in value more than one half and still agoing down.

I found that if I did not settle soon that I should have nothing left so I went to work, sold all my lands at a loss of about 6,000 dollars, paid every man every cent I owed and with the balance started for a new home. It seemed to me that there never was a man had more trouble than I, but it will all work together for good for God reigns and as Job says "though he slay me yet will I trust in him."

About the first of May I and my oldest son, with a first rate pair of horses and buggy started for the far West to find a better home. We traveled about 1500 miles by land and after exploring a large tract of country finally [settled] on Eagle prairie. We then returned to Richfield where after a few days preparation we started with five horses, two two horse wagons and a buggy for this place where we arrived on the 11th day of July. I bought 200 acres for five dollars per acre. There was sixty acres under improvement and 20 into crops. I had 50 bushels of wheat, 200 bushels of oats besides corn, &c. This was one quarter of the crop. I went to work and broke up and put 30 acres into wheat by the first of Sept which looks well.

I have built me a good frame house 18 x 24, one and one half stories high, four rooms on the floor and finished it off inside and out, have dug and stoned me a well, 20 feet deep and ploughed 30 acres for spring crops and are now drawing 10,000 rails to finish fencing my farm—all of this besides teaming for other people to the amount of about fifty dollars has been done by me and my boys since the 11 day of July.

I have not paid for my farm yet but if I receive my money due me in Ohio I shall pay for my farm and put 100 acres into wheat next year and 60 acres into other crops. My farm is well watered and has about 160 acres that there is not a bush or stump nor stone on, level and smooth and every foot is as rich as the richest garden there is in Massachusetts. It is very healthy here. There has not been a case of fever of any kind on this prairie since its first settlement. There has been no sickness here since I came here and the inhabitants indeed seem to know nothing about sickness.

The prairie on which I live is a complete flower garden every week and almost every day from the first of March to the first of October. There is a new kind of flower coming forth; sometimes the prairie is a beautiful blue, sometimes pink, sometimes yellow and sometimes white with flowers almost all of which are new to me. There is a plenty of government land to be sold here for one dollar and twenty-five cents per acre, but will all soon be in secured hands. Never was there a country settling faster than this. From 200 to 300 emigrants arrive daily at Milwaukee, most of which settle in this part of the country, some from most every State and most every part of the world. 500 Norwegians from Norway have arrived since I came here and settled within 15 miles of me, and large numbers from Nova Scotia; 500 families are expected here in the Spring from England. Gold and silver are as plenty here as I ever saw bank bills in Ohio.

I think you would do well to come here. I have to go six miles to get my shoes mended. Cow-hide boots are 4 dollars a pair. For 800 dollars you can get you a farm a mile square, the best land you ever saw which you have nothing to do but fence and plough and sow. Four dollars per acre will fence and plough fit for sowing. The first crop will pay for ploughing and fencing and for the land and all expenses. I am about 30 miles southwest from Milwaukee. Good land can be bought now within 5 miles of here at government prices but good chances will soon be over. If you come you had better come soon. Take the railroad to Buffalo and from Buffalo you will come here by steam in 3 or 4 days.

We have 9 children 7 boys and two girls living. We have lost one boy and one girl in Ohio.

In your last letter you did not write anything about Susan. I am very anxious to hear from her. I have wrote two or three letters to her since I received any from her, I am afraid she has forgot me. If you see her tell her. I want to see her and she must write to me. Tell her where to direct her letters. I was glad to hear brother John was well but very sorry to hear that his wife was unwell.

I hope the next time I hear from her to hear of her recovery, was glad to hear that you and your family were well. You will direct your letters to Eagle, Milwaukee County, Wiskoncin Territory (to be left at Mukwonago, post office). I hope when you get this letter that you will not be so long answering it as I have been answering yours.

We have a plenty of fish within ¾ of a mile. I and one of my boys caught 60 pounds in less than two hours, weighing from five to eleven pounds apiece. Our boys have killed a plenty of deer, partridges, prairie hens, wild geese, wild ducks and sand hill cranes — a kind of bird from five to six feet high and caught 12 of the largest coons I ever saw, some of them weighing about 30 pounds. I have a great deal more to write but have only room to say that I still remain your affectionate brother

Frederic A. Sprague

To Peter T. Sprague Greenfield, Mass.

- P. S. You wrote me in your letter you was for old Tip. You said you thought there ought to be a change. We have had the change, please write me how you like it. I was for Martin Van Buren. I was always a democrat and expect to die a democrat. They used to say Go it Tip and come it Tyler. Tip has gone and Tyler wont come.

Later in life he was identified with transportation with the Boston & Maine Railroad and finally with the Kennebec Steamship Company with which he was connected for twenty-seven years. He was one of the earliest members of Mount Vernon Lodge A. F. and A. M. of Malden and a Past Grand of Middlesex Lodge No. 17, I.O.O. F. He served the town of Malden as selectman 1860-1862 and 1872-1873. In the days of the Civil War he was a member of the committee on Military Funds, 1861 and 1862. He also served as constable 1865-1869. As a trustee of the Malden Cemeteries he served from 1863 to 1879 inclusive.

64 Phineas, Sprague (John, Dr. John, Sergt. Phineas, Phineas, Phineas, Acapt. John, Lt. Ralph, Edward was born at Malden, 23 Jan., 1823; died there, 14 Sept., 1887. He married at Spencer, 9 May, 1850, Frances Jane Grout, daughter of Jeremiah and Hannah (Nye) Grout of Spencer. She was born at Spencer, 15 Feb., 1827; died at Malden, 21 July, 1898, aged 71.

iii. Ella Bush, b. 28 June, 1854; d. 10 Sept., 1855, a. 1 y., 2 m.

Phineas Sprague (1823-1887) was long a prominent man in Malden. He served as clerk of the First Parish, 1848 to 1856,—a period of nine consecutive years and his beautiful handwriting stands on the Parish records as a witness of his fidelity and loyality to the Parish.

At the age of sixteen he entered the employ of James C. Richardson as a clerk in a dry-goods store. In 1845 he bought out the dry-goods store of Mrs. Estes, located in what is now Central Square, Malden. Here he continued until the New Town House was built in 1857. He then moved into the Town House where he kept for a period of years the largest dry-goods store in the Town of Malden.

During his life Mr. Sprague filled several important offices in the town. In 1852 he was elected Town Treasurer and held this office for many years. He represented the town in the General Court in 1858 and 1859. For fifteen years he was a member of the Board of Assessors, most the time being its chairman. He was a Selectman in 1870 and held the office of Water Registrar from 1874 to 1887. He was a member of Mt. Vernon Lodge, A. F. & A. M., and of the Royal Arch Chapter of the Tabernacle and a charter member of the old Middlesex Lodge, No. 17, I. O. O. F. His monument stands in Salem street Cemetery near where he long lived a useful life.

He made his will, 9 July, 1874, in which he mentions his sister Abigail N. Emerson, Charles H. Sprague and John Sprague. His widow Frances J. Sprague assented to the petition of the executors, 1 Nov., 1887. (Middlesex Probate, 22,905.)

CHARLES HILL SPRAGUE OF MALDEN 1827-1904

MSDERM BY LUCY OF LOCAL VIEW OF AND CENT

65 Charles Hill⁹ Sprague (John, Dr. John, Sergt. Phineas, Phineas, Phineas, Phineas, Acapt. John, Lt. Ralph, Edward) was born at Malden, 29 Apr., 1827; died there, 29 June, 1904. He married at Malden, 2 Nov., 1858, Emeline Martha Winship, daughter of Stephen and Elizabeth Williams (Pollard) Winship of Boston and Malden. She was born in Boston, 23 Aug., 1835; died at her summer home, Cape Elizabeth, Me., 13 June, 1921.

Children, born at Malden:

69 i. Phineas Warren, 10 b. 4 Aug., 1860.

ii. Elizabeth Winship, b. 7 July, 1867; d. 10 Jan., 1874, a. 6 y., 6 m., 2 d.

Charles Hill Sprague (1827-1904) was born in the old Sprague homestead which stood on the corner of Salem and Sprague streets in Malden. The Central Fire Station now occupies the site of his birthplace. The old homestead was removed in 1875 to its present site near the head of Sprague street.

His early training was received in the public schools of Malden in the Central District, at the Wesleyan Academy in Wilbraham and a Scientific School in Springfield. (There was no High School in Malden in his boyhood days.)

At the age of twenty-one he entered the scientific department of Harvard University (later named by the Corporation the Lawrence Scientific School in honor of its leading benefactor, Abbott Lawrence) and completed the full course of study required at that time. The Corporation did not vote to confer the degree of Bachelor of Science until 1851 and those who completed the course earlier, including Mr. Sprague, are not listed in the Quinquennial Catalogue of the University among the graduates.

The separation of the scientific department from the College of Liberal Arts was projected by the President, Edward Everett, in his inaugural address, 30 Apr., 1846, but it was five years later before the department was fully established in accordance with the wishes of the donor as the Lawrence Scientific School of Harvard University.

Mr. Sprague was one of the first of his immediate branch of the family to obtain a liberal educa-The next year after completing the course at Harvard, in his twenty-fourth year, he was appointed a member of the editorial staff of the American Ephemeris and Nautical Almanac, to make astronomical calculations concerning the moon's rays and the fixed stars. His appointment was made through the Naval Department in Washington. He was a computer for the government from 1850 to 1864 and was intimately associated with many eminent men of that period. Benjamin Pierce, Ernest Schubert, Joseph Winlock, John D. Runkle, Nathan Loomis, Benjamin Apthorp Gould and Maria Mitchell were associate members of the editorial staff of the Ephemeris and Almanac with Mr. Sprague in 1852. Some of his original mathematical computations are still preserved and his interest in practical astronomy remained through his whole life. For fifty years,

1853 to 1904, he was an esteemed member of the American Scientific Association.

In 1864 he accepted a position with the Lake Superior Copper Mining Co. and remained with it until 1869. He then became North American Agent for the Chesapeake & Ohio R. R. Co. for a number of years and spent twelve years in travel both in America and in Europe. In politics Mr. Sprague was a Republican. He represented his ward in the Common Council of the first City Government, organized in Malden in 1882, and served again in 1883. A mason of the Thirtysecond degree, he was at the time of his death one of the oldest members of Mount Vernon Lodge of Malden. He was a member of the First Parish Church and of the Men's Club connected He was also a member of the Old therewith. Planters' Society of Massachusetts.

About 1875 Mr. Sprague became interested in the coal business. Founding the firm of Charles H. Sprague he developed a very large and successful business in Boston. He later extended his interests to shipping in connection with the transportation of coal, and as his son reached maturity, in 1882 took him into partnership under the name of Charles H. Sprague & Son, the firm being located over 40 years at 70 Kilby Street, In this business Mr. Sprague, by reason of his many friends and his skill as a merchant, accumulated a considerable fortune. The business is at the present time carried on by his son, Phineas W., and a more extended account of it will be found under the biography below.

Mr. Sprague was a man who formed strong friendships. He often said, "Life is a gift from God, to be used in a manly or womanly way," and because of his belief in such ethics, he had a host of friends. His death was deeply and sincerely deplored by all, especially the wholesale coal merchants of Boston, who under the name of the Coal Club of Boston and vicinity issued the following:

"Resolved:

That by the death of Charles H. Sprague, the Coal Club of Boston and Vicinity has met a great loss, and the members individually will miss his cheerful and generous friendship.

He was a straight forward successful business man, long associated with the coal trade and large manufacturers of New England.

His intimate friends and neighbors in the City of Malden feel a deep sense of personal loss in the strong friendship which has been broken and mourn with us.

His was an honest, upright and faithful life, well lived.

Eugene Nelson, Elmore E. Locke, C. Morris Tredick, Committee."

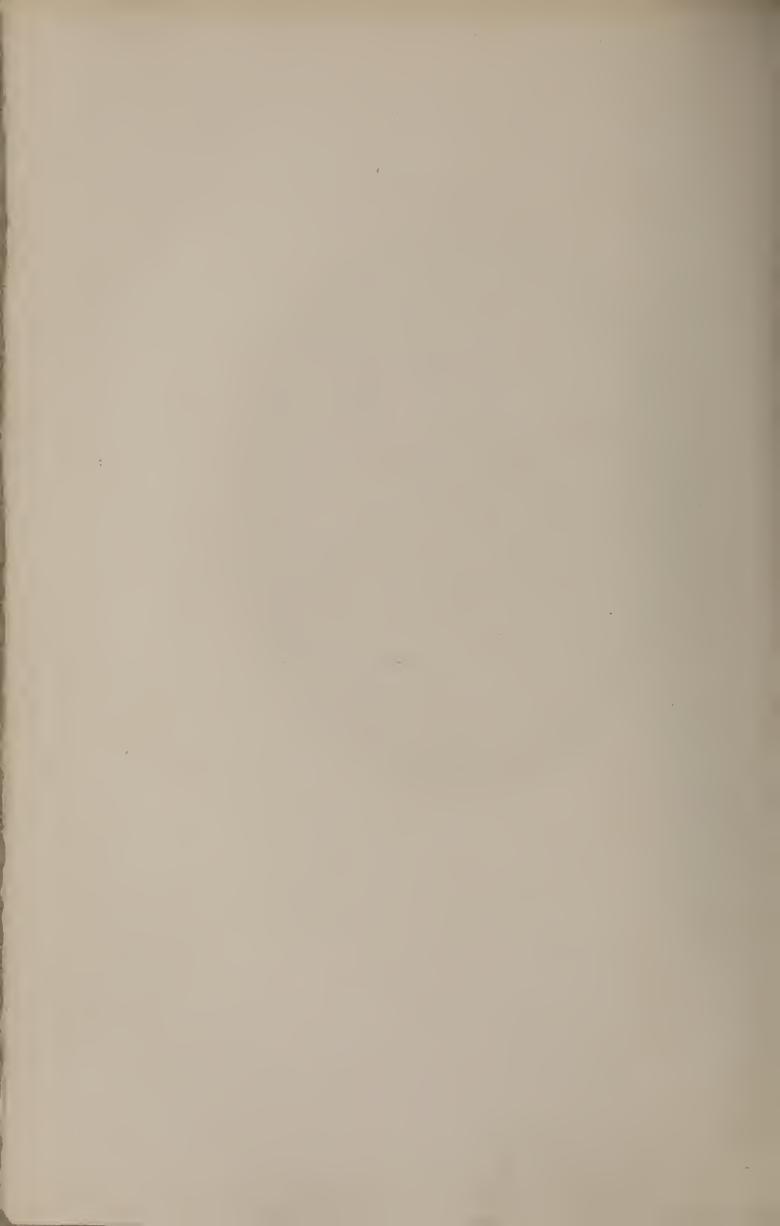

On the occasion of the one hundredth anniversary of the birth of John Sprague, the father of Charles Hill Sprague, in 1881, Mr. and Mrs. Sprague gathered a family party of old and young at their home. Each aged person was asked to relate some reminiscence of the life of the hero of the hour, and as many incidents of his wit and humor were recalled the halls of the Sprague homestead rang with laughter. Other stories brought silence as they related to incidents which were precious to memory. Each grandchild was given a picture of the patriarch, seated in his large sleigh. The old sleigh is still in possession of a grandson and has been seen in recent years on a bright winter day on the boulevard.

The memorial cards distributed on the occasion of this anniversary represented immortality—the butterfly; and in the morning of the festivities a beautiful butterfly, with gorgeous blue, was found between the double windows that protected the assembly room from the wintry blasts. A venerable aunt was made happy in considering the incident an omen of good will and of the presence in the spirit of the patriarch John Sprague.

CHARLES HILL SPRAGUE'S LETTER TO HIS FATHER.

Wilbraham, Feb. 17th, 1846.

Dear Father:

Perhaps you had better read this over to yourself before you let the folks see it, if you let them see it at all, as it is concerning the business that I am to follow through life. The reasons for my writing the above are these — Whatever my occupation may be it is soon enough for others, than you and myself, to know my intentions when these intentions are put in force, for it can do them no good to know them before. And then again I am one of that class of individuals who, when they undertake anything, no matter what, and fail in that undertaking, don't like to have our fellow mortals know it. Whatever business I may search for I shall endeavor not to let every one know what it is until I find it. I wrote in my last letter to Abby that I was homesick. I have been in a hornet's nest for some time thinking about what I am to do, and to have a talk with you was why I wished to come home some Saturday. I received your letter of the 13th on Friday and found on reading it that it would be necessary for me to write or give up the thought at the outset, of being anything but a common laborer.

All have to fight their way through life; the battle goes hard or easy, according to the armor with which the warriors are possessed; he that is provided with a good shield, and a trusty weapon, with which to clear a path for himself, will pass along easily, but he that has nothing with which to defend himself, but his naked arms, will have to struggle desperately all the while or sink. I have this battle to fight; now the question is, - Shall I be one to pass along through life independently (I mean by that easily so as to enjoy it) to knuckle, twist and slip through, or struggle and live like a dog? Not the last certainly; I trust that I have already provided myself with such armor as will enable me to stand the shocks, and pass through life in some respectable shape. But with one thing more which will serve as a shield and a sword I can cut my way through easily. That desirable can be obtained nowhere but at the "Scientific School at Cambridge." There I have got over the biggest stump, and now I reckon you begin to get the idea. But why not to the point there can be no harm in my expressing my wishes. When I was over to Cambridge last Fall, Joseph and I got to talking about the "Scientific School." I learned as near as I could, what the character of it was, and from that time have had a desire to enter it, to study Engineering; as I think I like Mathematics, and can, in the course of half an hour, get out as many propositions in Geometry as the generality of boys. This "Scientific School" possesses advantages over all others from various considerations. Not in all, but in many Colleges, they have what they call a "scientific course" of study which can be taken if the scholars desire, and which embraces all the studies of the Institution except Latin and Greek. But the one at Cambridge is a separate organization entirely and is founded with such a fund that they can pursue scientific studies much farther than at any College. If I should enter there next Fall I would graduate when Joseph does and have more of the Scientific studies than he, and be better off, in my way of thinking; for all that I shall be minus on will be musty old Latin and Greek, and what are they good for; nothing! The studies which are to be pursued in the Scientific School are calculated for immediate service, and from which one can get a good living at any time. The fact is, I can gain more information that will be of real service in 3 years there than can be acquired in moping over my old Latin and Greek to all eternity. Now I can come home and go into a store or go to sticking type and get just enough to feed and clothe myself. But some dozen years must elapse before I could get enough even to commence business and I don't like the idea of being imprisoned in the confines of an old store 20 of the best years of my life and then after having laid up a few hundred dollars, die. In some dozen years as I said I could gather together a thousand dollars, perhaps; well, if I had that thousand dollars now, in 3 years I could get a business that in 4 would bring me in from 3 to 4 to 5 dollars a day. I must draw this to a close for it is most noon and this must go today or you will not receive it on Saturday. I would like to write more, but if there is any hope we can talk it over when I come home. All I hope is I may be able to go. If there is any way in the world, on any conditions whatever, let me know. As I said before you will get this on Saturday probably. I should like an answer as soon as convenient, on Sunday if you can because I want to know if I am coming next term for one or two reasons, one is - if I am not coming back I ought to know it 2 or 3 weeks before I leave so that I can make all necessary arrangements and be looking to the future; another reason my chum must get another chum, if I don't come; there is a fellow who wants to come in with him, but he don't want him if he can have me, but if not me he would rather him than any other So if I come home without the intention of coming back and do come back I will lose my chum and room both, but if I know that I am to return I shall lose neither chum nor room. Chum wants to know now whether I am to return or not for the fellow who wishes to room with him if there is any doubt in the matter, and then if I don't return, Chum will lose him as well as myself and have to take any one that comes along. I said something about not showing this to the folks. It won't make any difference that I know of if you do so you can let them see it if you like. Excuse the writing as it was done in a hurry.

Yours truly, Charles.

P. S. Perhaps you may wish to know more about the school than what I have written, the expense and many other things. If so I will endeavor to write more fully next time.

Cousin Charlie

I suppose by this time you are expecting a letter from me: so here it is. I saw the President, some days since and asked about the Engineering department — when it would go into operation, what would be the qualifications necessary to enter, and last, but not least, the expense. In answer to the first enquiry the President said, that the Corporation had not yet decided whom to invite to take charge of that department, but they were in hopes to get it in operation some time next spring. In regard to the other questions he stated that he could give me no more information than is found in the Catalogues, but, I think he said, they would be made known as early as possible. I believe you have got a catalogue, and of course that will tell you all I know about it. I suppose, they will require a good knowledge of common mathematics, such as Arithmetic, Algebra and, Geometry. I would advise (!) you to become familiar with these, particularly Geometry, for the principles of Engineering, if I am correct, are taken principally, if not wholly from Geometry. I cannot write more now as I am somewhat hurried and lazy. More anon. Please write. I send you the latest edition of P. T. Sprague's advertisements: it is 'some' tall I think: what do you say?

Emeline Martha Winship (1835–1921), wife of Charles Hill Sprague, was born in Boston at what was 52 Belknap street. Her early education was obtained in the city schools of Boston. In 1846, with her father's family, she removed to the town of Berlin in Worcester County. Soon she entered that famous old time institution known as the Berlin Academy or Academical Boarding School and came under the instruction of Josiah Bride and his able assistant. The patrons came from nearly every State in the Union and were young people from families of culture who "came with a desire to learn." Her advantages in this famous old institution long since supplanted by a modern High School were great. In 1857 her father removed from Berlin to Malden and she soon became identified with the institutions of the town of her adoption.

Her father Stephen Winship served in Capt. Samuel Howe's Co. of Lt. Col. Amos Binney's Regiment at Boston from 12 Sept. to 10 Oct., 1814, and at the close of the Second War with Great Britain established himself in business in Boston. He was located at 65 Faneuil Hall Market from 1825 to 1846. His family were members of the Second Universalist Church of Boston. On 12 Aug., 1864, Mrs. Sprague united with the First Parish of Malden and her mother Mrs. Elizabeth Winship was admitted by letter from Dr. Alonzo A. Miner, then minister of the Second Universalist Church of Boston. From that time to the end of her life Mrs. Sprague was deeply devoted to the First Parish of Malden. On 10

Nov., 1894, she and her husband became incorporators of the Parish.

Mrs. Sprague was active in many charitable organizations. A member of the committee to select a site for the Soldiers' Home in Massachusetts and was actively interested in it for many years; also on a committee in aid of a fund for building the Home for Intemperate Women in Boston, served on the building committee of the Malden Hospital and on a similar committee for the New Century Building of Boston.

She held membership in the New England Woman's Club, Julia Ward Howe, president, in the Charity Club, the Wednesday Morning Club, the Business League, the Old and New of Malden, the Industrial Aid Society of Malden, the Bostonian Society, the Civil Service Reform Auxiliary of Boston, the Malden Historical Society and a founder of the Deliverance Munroe Chapter, Daughters of the Revolution of Malden, which Chapter was named in honor of her paternal grandmother Deliverance (Munroe) Winship of Lexington, who was a niece of Capt. John Parker, commander of the minute-men of Lexington on the memorable 19th of April, 1775.

Her addresses which she delivered before many clubs contain beautiful expressions of her reverence for the heritage that is ours. She did much to cultivate the spirit which prompted the citizens to acquire and preserve the historic Bell

Rock Park of Malden.

Mrs. Sprague delivered several addresses on her visit to Europe, speaking on her visit to London in 1892 and a Memory of the Nile. She represented Malden in the Mother's Congress held in Washington, D. C., 25 Apr. to 2 May, 1911. The Spirit of the Congress of Mothers was a favorite theme; she also contributed valuable Reminiscences of the First Parish Sunday School from the time of Rev. John G. Adams to the time of Hon. Marcellus Coggan.

In 1909 the new First Parish Church was erected at the junction of Elm and Pleasant streets in Malden, and Mrs. Sprague gave a beautiful window in memory of her mother Elizabeth Williams (Pollard) Winship (1793-1877) and of her late husband's mother Sally (Hill) Sprague (1784-1867). The window was placed in the south transept of the church, near the altar.
